Ron Vastokas launched his campaign in Madoc, Thursday with a spree of sign postings. Consistent with his "grass roots" approach he has opened offices in Napanee, Sharbot Lake, Northbrook and Madoc (across from the IGA).

OMB approved bylaws

The chairman of the Ontario Municipal Board hearing held in Madoc, D.S. Colbourne (vice-chairman of the OMB), gave verbal approval to the zoning by-laws of the Village Tuesday. There were two areas where objections were referred back to the council for further consideration.

One was an area zoned environmentally protected because it was within the flood plain of Deer Creek. Home owners were able to have their lots rezoned residential because that was the existing use at the time of the third reading of the by-law December 5, 1977. However, vacant lots were not approved for rezoning. This would prohibit the building of houses on these lots. The matter was referred to council.

The planning department, the council and the Moira River Conservation Authority will look at the area to see whether there was an error in the mapping of the Official Plan. A map indicating the one in one hundred year flood plain will be used to more accurately establish the flood and ground line. Then, perhaps the Official Plan which designates the land will be amended and the zoning by-law which regulates the land use will fall into line.

The second matter which was referred back to council involved a lot owned by Tom Deline Jr. on Elgin Street. Mr. Deline was requesting a rezoning of the lot from single dwelling residential to commercial so that he could park vehicles there. His request was opposed by the property owners on either side of the lot, Robert O'Riordan and Lindsay Empey.

The basis for Mr. Deline's argument was that the former owner of the lot Edward Armstrong had made use of the lot for parking prior to the zoning by-law being passed thus it should be re-zoned commercial as the Village council had decided to zone according to existing use.

The OMB representative ruled that the Village had correctly zoned the lot single dwelling residential thus denying Mr. Deline's objection.

Mr. Deline said after the hearing that he did not think the OMB decision accorded with the intent of the Official Plan which supported the concept of a strong commercial core in the downtown area of Madoc. He also said that he felt the objections by the two neighboring parties had been a personal attack from the beginning.

As Reeve, Mr. Deline expressed his pleasure with the ruling of the OMB in its acceptance of the Village's zoning by-law.

Madoc now joins the other five urban areas in the Hastings planning area which have passed zoning by-laws. Of the 17 rural areas 11 have passed by-laws, two have received final approval.

Holiday on ice planned

ON March 29 at a meeting of the Madoc and District Figure Skating Club it was unanimously decided to present a Carnival entitled "Holidays on ice". The show will take place on Sunday, April 22.

With the much appreciated help of the Bancroft Skating Club, the Madoc skaters hope to demonstrate their newly acquired skills to proud parents.

Parents and skaters, along with free women from the Bancroft Club, are very busy with planning costumes, music, promotion, etc. The children, some as young as three years, are very excitedly awaiting their chance to show off the

Madoc Co-op still the envy of the rest

The official opening of the new $180,000 Madoc Co-Operative store and warehouse took place Thursday afternoon. As manager Earl Helps stated: "I've been looking for this for three or four years." Many representatives from the UCO were on hand to congratulate Mr. Helps and his board of directors and staff and to wish them every success in the future.

Jim Miller who has been on the board of directors for 12 years presented a brief speech on the history of the Madoc Co-Op from its inception to its present state.

"The first meeting was held in the Township Hall at Eldorado on October 22, 1947. At this meeting a committee was appointed to apply for a charter, the name was to be the Madoc Co-Operative Association.

In January 1948 nine directors were appointed. Harold Comerford was president, Earl Sager secretary.

In the spring they purchased the Roy Taylor Talc Mill and started to fix it over into a feed mill. At this time the Whytocks were willing to sell their mill, an agreement was drawn up and a down payment was made. But the Whytocks backed out of the deal which caused a lot of troubles for the directors.

July 2, 1948 they hired Gordon Strator as manager. On September 29 they bought their first share from the United Co-Operative of Ontario.

Nineteen forty-nine and 1950 brought hard times to the Co-Op owing to cut-rate prices from feed companies supplying the Whytocks.

On February 1, 1950 Stator resigned and R. Albert Woods took over as manager. In April of that year, the Co-Op lost our first director, Jim Nickle.

From 1950 to 1955 it was a long, hard struggle to survive.

At the annual meeting in 1955, Art Musgrove told the members not to do business with their competitors. The bank manager said, 'success does not happen, but has to be worked for'.

A report for the directors in 1961 indicated that the Co-Op had gained five new members and lost 11, one of them being Harold Comerford, the first President, who had worked so hard to get the Co-Op started. In December of the same year, the Co-Op purchased the Whytock Mill from R.A. Woods.

At the Annual Meeting in 1962 Ralph Banberry told the members that they were, 'the custodians of the fields and the caretakers of the flocks that were built up by our forefathers, and they must meet that challenge to succeed.'

In 1963 the U.C.O. was trying to close out the distribution centre at Peterborough and move it to Guelph and Kemptville which would have made a long haul for pre-mixes. The President, Manager and other local Co-Ops went to Peterborough and stalled this for awhile, but it is still there.

Madoc paid off the last of its membership loans in 1963 and were paying U.C.O. for feed in advance.

In 1964 the Madoc Co-Op went into the oil business. At the Annual Meeting, Percy Gardiner said the success of the Madoc Co-Op was due to the good management, the staff, the board of directors and the loyal members.

Herb Stillman told the 1966 Annual Meeting that the Madoc Co-Op was the envy of the other Co-Ops because of its success.

In 1964 Dr. Albert Woods resigned. Milton McTaggart was hired as manager but this only lasted a short time. Albert Woods returned for a while, then Wayne Reid was hired.

The change to bulk handling of feed came in 1969. From '69 to '71 the Co-Op operated at a loss. In March 1971 Earl

Letters to the editor

to the Editor:

Most people in Canada still believe that those voted into power should work on behalf of those who voted. That is how a democracy is supposed to work, but does it?

Often it has been stated e.g. that the N.D.P. is dictated by organized labor and therefore if the N.D.P. would come into power its representatives would have to cater to organized labor.

Organized labor has only two major goals, to have as many members as possible employed at as high a salary as possible. All its members have to strive towards these goals. The members make sure that their leaders do a good bargaining job on their behalf or else. Any hanky-panky of a union member with management is punished. That is how it should be! The loyalty of the union towards its members should be equalled reciprocally by the members towards the union.

It happens to know that amongst teachers, who have maybe the strongest union in Ontario, solidarity is very strong. To gain strength towards their collective goals teachers more and more are becoming involved in politics. When one looks at the number of teachers with appointments in municipal politics and compares this with 10 years ago one notices a tremendous increase. And why not? Teachers are above average in intellect and education, they are trained to be less biased and prejudiced and often have a greater social awareness and consciousness.

There should be, however, one limitation. Since the Teachers Federation very strongly strives towards the above mentioned goals, i.e. to have as many teachers employed as possible at as high a salary as possible, no teacher should be allowed to be a Trustee of the Board of Education. I do not care whether this teacher is employed by a separate school board, Loyalist College or directly by our Hastings County Board of Education. This should also be true for spouses of employed teachers. After all Ms. Editor, we know that 80 per cent of the total budget or about $36,000,000 (thirty six million) dollars is paid out in salaries towards organized employees.

Ah...somebody said in defense of those teachers on the board, but they are not allowed to vote or to partake in salary negotiations. This of course has the following logical consequences: and the teachers, with great glee are well aware of them:

1) those teachers not allowed to vote are fewer votes against.

2) the more teachers on the board, the fewer votes against.

3) e.g. if all board members were teachers nobody would vote against the employment of more teachers at higher salaries.

Morally Ms. Editor, there is a conflict of interest. Teachers want more schools, more teachers employed, more special programs, more money to pay for all this. They should be removed from the Board of Education immediately. The taxpayers are no longer willing to cough up all this money and play Santa Claus for one of the highest paid groups in the county.

Island sold

Stoney Island was sold to the United Church "Camp Quin Mo Lac" last week to be used for their camp, Bill Hawthorne announced Friday.

Mr. Hawthorne purchased the Island in 1946 from a Mrs. Sanderfere in Oakville. This seven acre Island has been used by thousands for stop-over and over-night camping since Mr. Hawthorne first purchased it. Thousands of children will have a chance to use this Island when they visit Camp Quin Mo Lac this summer.

Mr. Hawthorne has kept this Island for over 35 years and is very pleased to learn that it will be kept in its natural state.

The first Fiddling Jamboree and Step Dancing Contest held at the Madoc Hotel on Saturday was a smashing success. Over 21 entries were recorded in the two competitions. The day was fun for both the large audience as well as the contestants.

The winner in the local fiddle class was Bill Young from Madoc. Second was Rose Levick from Tweed and tied for third was Ed Taylor from Madoc and Leon Clement from Tweed.

The winner in the out-of-town class was Brian Sheedy from Toronto.

The big show-down came at 5:30 p.m. to find out who was the best fiddler in the house that day. Bill Young won this trophy too.

The five semi-finalists in the step dancing contest were Susan West of Madoc, Ed O'Coin, Tweed, Arnold Wannamaker, Gilmour, Linda Cormier, Madoc and Rose Levick, Tweed. The trophy winner was Arnold Wannamaker and the runner-up was Linda Cormier.

The day was enhanced by the back-up music supplied by John Murphy, Norm Thompson, Steve West, and Jim Young.

The day was officially opened by "The Lone Ranger" at 2:00 p.m. He was fully dressed including the spurs, mask and six-guns. He sang his legend to thundering applause from the audience and received an "encore". After the competition was completed a jam session was held. Some of the fiddlers that arrived too late for registration which included Ray Irwin got into the festivities and kept the part rolling until 9 p.m. Knee-clapping music of all kinds was played.

The Lone Ranger set the mood for the contest.

New riding big, sparsely populated

People in Hastings-Frontenac are dealing with a brand new, and in many ways, strange riding. It is one of the country's largest, with an area of 48,000, yet it is very sparsely populated and has no urban centres. Its largest municipality, at 5,000 people, is Napanee and there are only four other villages of any size - Amherstview, Bancroft, Madoc and Marmora - within its bounds.

In all probability this will make the election campaign in this riding very different from most of the others in southern Ontario. Candidates' spending is governed by voter population—they can spend only so much per capita and so the relatively small voters' roll of 45,000 will keep budgets down to begin with. Add to this the fact that a large part of each campaign budget is going to be spent in just moving around the riding and it becomes more likely that we'll have a significantly lower-key campaign than even those in the ridings around us. A larger proportion of money spent will be going into unseen basics, such as telephone bills and transportation, rather than highly visible promotions.

Another important factor in the flavour of the local campaign is the media. Operating within its bounds the riding boasts a total of one radio station, a cable television station and six community newspapers, all weeklies. This means that, unlike larger centres, how the candidate come across in the media is not of great importance. Although television, radio and daily newspapers from Belleville, Kingston, Peterborough, Ottawa and Toronto reach into the riding, none, with the possible exception of Kingston which has its own elections to worry about, is close enough to the riding to give it much attention.

The office of the returning officer is located in one corner of the riding, in Marmora. Returning officer, Lillian O'Connor, explained that, although the policy of the government is to locate the riding offices centrally, in large ridings with unequally distributed population such as ours, this policy is often waived: "We thought it was better to have the riding office where the returning officer could easily reach it rather than in the middle of the riding where it is difficult for everyone to get to". The geographic centre of the riding is difficult to pinpoint, but is probably somewhere north of highway 7 in Lennox and Addington County, a very sparsely populated area.

Mrs. O'Connor and her staff have been busy this past week with the mammoth job of getting the enumerators lined up and equipped to begin voter enumeration this week. Because the election was called on a Monday rather than a Thursday or Friday, the election offices were left with less time to get this part of their work organized. This meant, among other things, that the enumerators' kits had to be distributed by car throughout the riding, rather than by the mails as is the normal procedure.

Mrs. O'Connor says that to date, the office has handled very few inquiries. Three candidates have picked up their nomination papers—Liberal nominee, Ron Vastokas of Madoc, Conservative, William Vankoughnet of Napanee, and Independent, Ross Baker of Arden. An NDP candidate, Kevin Arsenaault of Napanee, has been nominated, but he has not yet picked up his papers from the office. Papers must be filed with the returning officer by April 30.

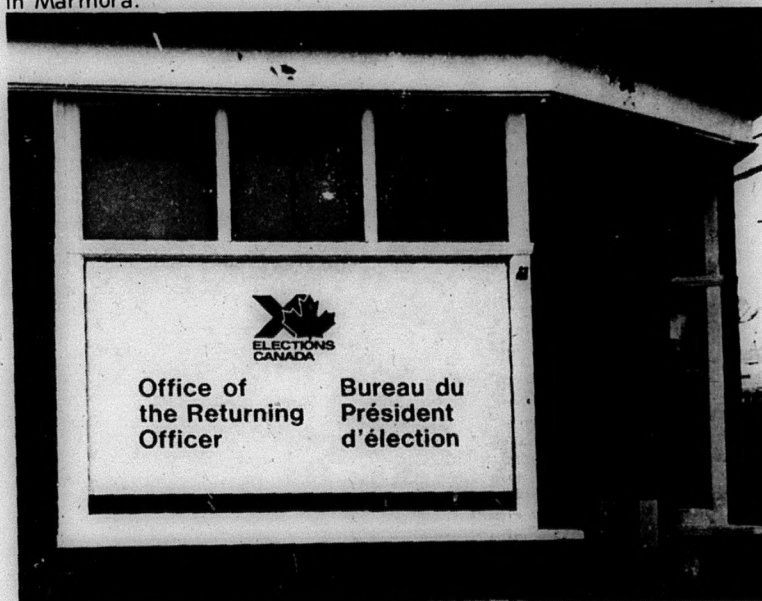

Baker wants "official" status

Hastings-Frontenac Independent candidate, Ross Baker, running in his third federal election, has already run into trouble over his status. Mr. Baker, a consistent campaigner for the rights of independents, is striving to have himself officially declared an independent candidate by the returning officer in order to allow him to receive tax refundable cash donations. Cash donations to registered parties are 75 per cent refundable. Mr. Baker contends in a recent press release that "the government is funding the big political parties in a campaign against the little guy".

Mr. Baker sees the thrust of his campaign as "eliminating some of the injustices and inequalities placed on the little guy, small business and restricted growth areas".

Lillian O'Connor is returning officer for the new riding of Hastings-Frontenac. The riding office is at the corner of McGill and Madoc Streets in Marmora.

Vastokas thinks Liberals winners

Ron Vastokas of Queensboro is carrying the Liberal standard in this election and his message since he first won a contentious nomination race last April in Madoc is that, for the first time in ninety years, this area has a good chance of being won by the Liberals.

Vastokas, a professor at Trent University, is emphasizing an optimistic campaign based on giving the people the feeling that the liberals in Hastings-Frontenac are "winners" and not just perennial underdogs.

Candidates have been running for a year

It has been nearly a year now since this campaign had its first false start with the nomination of the Tory and Liberal candidates, and these candidates in particular have become almost familiar figures to us over a year of off and on campaigning.

This issue we're presenting a short sketch of these candidates; next week we hope to have information on the NDP's official candidate, Kevin Arseneault and any other entrants in the race.

Bill Vankoughnet

William J. (Bill) Vankoughnet, 36, of Napanee, won the Progressive conservative candidate in the Federal riding of Hastings-Frontenac in a nine-horse race last March.

The Lennox and Addington County native comes from six generations (1784) in this area. He is a graduate in Municipal Administration from Loyalist College, Belleville, and Queen's University.

Until the election was called, Mr. Vankoughnet, was employed by the provincial Assessment office. Active in community organizations and municipal committees, Mr. Vankoughnet has worked in several provincial and federal elections as a Progressive Conservative.

He served on the town of Napanee's recreation committee and the industrial committee, Bath village's Local Architectural Conservation Advisory committee and as vice-president of Lennox and Addington County Historical Society. He was appointed by Lennox and Addington County council to the County Museum committee.

Mr. Vankoughnet is a member of the Bay of Quinte United Empire Loyalist association, the Monarchist League of Canada, a Jaycee International Senator, a Mason and an Anglican. He also holds membership in the Institute of Municipal Assessors of Ontario, Association of Municipal Clerks and Treasurers of Ontario and the Society for the Study of Architecture in Canada.

An active campaign worker for the P-C party, Bill was a Young Progressive Conservative delegate at the 1971 Ontario leadership convention and a delegate to the federal leadership convention at Ottawa in 1976.

Since he won the nominations, Vastokas has been highly visible throughout the riding raising a number of issues, particularly in the energy field.

Vastokas first became engaged in area politics during the nuclear controversy in the Madoc area in 1977. He emerged then as the leading voice of those who wished to block AECL's attempt to put a nuclear dump in without first going to the people and asking them what they wanted. That skirmish between CORP (Citizens Opposed to Radioactive Pollution) and the AECL led to the agency's eventual decision that the dump would go in a non-populated area. Studies are still underway and no site has been chosen for any disposal site yet.

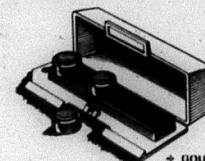

Since his nomination, Vastokas has campaigned for a renewable energy deal for Eastern Ontario, first leading the pressure for a methanol (converting wood to liquid fuel) plant, then helping to form CHORD (Centre Hastings Organization for Resource Development) to try and bring a wood-fired generating plant to the area. Both campaigns ran afoul of provincial politicians and the wood-fired plant failed to find sufficient support at the county level, although it gained much support in the Centre Hastings area.

Vastokas has also worked to help lift cheddar cheese quotas on local cheese factories and get federal help for economic-small business and tourism-development in the area. Part of Vastokas' present thrust is to get a DREE designation for the riding so that it can be eligible for small manufacturing grants from the federal government.

Mr. Vastokas was born in Lithuania and came to Canada via Germany and England. He attended the University of Toronto and Columbia University before joining Trent in 1965 as an anthropologist. His specialty is culture, communication and community development and he is now head of the Anthropology Department. He has been a member of the Ontario Archaeological and Historic Sites Board, and is a director of the Ontario Heritage Foundation.

Mr. Vastokas lives with his wife Joan, an art historian who also teaches at Trent, on a 250 acre farm near Queensboro, northeast of Madoc. He is a director of the Elzevir-Grimsthorpe Liberal Association.

Letters

Rollins attacks CHORD

Editor's note:

The following is an excerpt from a letter from Clarke Rollins MPP. Mr. Rollins stated that he had not been requested to get involved with the pilot wood-burning project. He said, "In my opinion and I stated so in County Council, that it (the pilot project) was nothing but a political smoke screen."

(The following information was given to Mr. Rollins by Philip E. Anslow, regional forester, Ministry of Natural Resources, Kemptonville and included in her letter:

"I do not recommend that a wood-fired public electricity generation plant be set up in the Madoc area at this time, for the reasons as follows:

1. Morris Wayman Ltd., the consultants which prepared the report entitled "Wood-Fired Electricity Generation in Eastern Ontario" for the Porter Commission on Electric Power Planning, recommended that the furnish for a plant such as this be obtained from fast-growing plantations of hybrid poplar. According to Wayman, these plantations would be established on presently unused agricultural lands, and would produce approximately 7 tons of wood (dry basis) per acre per year, over a 10-year period. Yields such as these far exceed the approximate 1.2 to 1 cord per acre per year yields of the hardwood forest in the Madoc and Tweed areas. In addition, these plantations of fast growing hybrid poplars would be located close to the generating plant, thus reducing harvesting costs considerably. As a matter of fact Dr. Wayman suggests that only 5 per cent of the furnish for such a plant be obtained from present woodlands.

As you know there is very little good agricultural land lying unused in close proximity to Madoc, on which to grow these hybrids. To rely entirely on existing woodlands with their lower yields would not only shove wood procurement costs up, but would also necessitate harvesting much larger areas to get the equivalent yields which could be obtained from fastgrowing hybrid poplars, growing on under-utilized agricultural land, in close proximity to the generation plant.

2. One of the main reasons I feel Dr. Wayman suggests that only 5 per cent of the furnish of an electricity generation plant be obtained from existing woodlands, is because of value added, which is very small when wood is harvested for electricity generation, compared to its use for either pulpwood or sawlogs. According to "The Forest Industry in the Economy of Ontario" report of 1973, Ontario has the highest value added of any province in Canada, and in 1973 for each cunit of wood harvested and manufactured in the province $192 worth of benefits were added. This translates into one job in Ontario being provided for every 81 cunits of wood harvested. As an example, Ontario value added in the forest industry is more than double that of British Columbia according to the 1973 economy survey. Therefore, my recommendation for the use of any additional wood harvested from the mature hardwood forests in the Madoc area is for short log material, because there is an ever-increasing demand for the product, the value added is high, and the necessary per acre yields need only be moderate. As a matter of fact, at the present time, both the Ministries of Industry and Tourism and Natural Resources are actively promoting this type of forest use. Also if electricity is to be produced by wood-fired generators, would it not be done best by the forest industry itself, in conjunction with its regular harvest?

This is particularly important, since the forest industry is the largest user of hydro in the province, and if there is any saving (I do not know this) would this not make the industry more competitive in international markets, and in turn generate more value

Hobson member of champion Selects

The Canadian Selects, a team of men averaging over 40 came back gold medal winners from the international hockey tournament held two weeks ago in Japan. Dave Hobson of Madoc was among the players on the team. There were 22 teams involved, two from Finland, 10 from Canada and 12 from Japan.

"We were under rated," said Mr. Hobson. "There were some fine players on the team. We won with very little difficulty."

The Selects were in the D series. There were five divisions with four teams each, the two extras played exhibition games.

"The Japanese were excellent skaters, they knew how to play well but they didn't have hockey sense because it is not part of their culture," he said.

Hockey was started in Japan by a group of doctors. It is a rich man's sport even now. Ice time costs $135 an hour, skates are more than $300 and sticks are between $20 and $25.

"Because we were a lot stronger the Japanese teams became frustrated, they were trying so hard to win, and they received a lot of penalties. We received only one and that was for a slap shot which was illegal," Mr. Hobson said.

There were quite a number of dignitaries at the opening ceremony along with officials from the big companies which sponsored the Japanese Teams. Industries support sports in a big way there.

The calibre of their national hockey league is about that of Canadian Junior "A", according to Mr. Hobson. These professional teams are also supported by large corporations. Several Canadians provide most of the defense on some teams. They are paid $50,000 for their services.

The best of these professional teams make up the Japanese national team in world competition.

"The nicest thing about the trip was that most of the Canadians met and made friends with Japanese players. They took us around the town and were generous almost to the point of embarrassment. The cost of repaying their hospitality when they return to Canada will be phenomenal," said Mr. Hobson.

It was nothing for the Japanese to spend $200 to $300 in an evening treating their guests, he said.

The average Japanese wage is equivalent to $18,000 in Canadian money. Even so, that does not go far in the most expensive country to live in in the world.

Steak (Kobe beef, a special type) costs $56 a pound; a loaf of bread is more than $2.50; rice is 76 cents a pound and imported hamburger is $10 a pound. A house in the suburbs averages $560,000. Eight million people a day ride the public transit at an average cost of a dollar a ride.

Mr. Hobson was a tremendous hit with his exchange gift. He had a sample of Eldorado Cheese for each member of the first three teams the Selects played, compliments of the companies. It was so popular that Mr. Hobson said it would be worthwhile for Canadian companies, like Eldorado, to look into exporting to the large (150 million people) Japanese market.

However, Japan seems to have barricaded itself behind high tariff walls. Unlike the Canadian scene, Japanese farmers tell the government what prices they want for their produce and the government taxes imports to protect them in their demands. This seems to be good on the surface but Mr. Hobson believes the economic system will destroy the country.

"They have built in inefficiencies," he said. "There is only a 2.5 per cent unemployment figure but that is because of their whole approach to work. It is more important to have people employed than to be efficient," he explained.

As an example he said that one of the Japanese players employed 158 people. He made only $60,000 a year much less than someone employing that many people

Largest art department in county still expanding

Centre Hastings Secondary School has the largest Art Department in Hastings County and contrary to the general trend it is still expanding. Brenda Hudson the head of the department came to the school eight years ago when there was only a handful of students. Now she has been joined in the department by two other members Tuulikki Bence-Bruckler and Garnet Holmes and next year the enrolment in art classes will be close to half the school population.

Mrs. Hudson began developing the art program in the junior grades each year expanding towards the total picture now available in all levels.

Brenda Hudson gave some advice to one of her grade nine art classes. Students are given wide exposure to various art forms.

The staff, she said, offers a wide diversity of experiences. Mrs. Bence-Bruckler is from Finland, Mr. Holmes is a local boy and Mrs. Hudson is from Great Britain.

Diversity is not only apparent in the approaches of staff members but it is applied in the philosophy of department.

"Our philosophy is to give the student the maximum amount of experience in the art field", Mrs. Hudson explained. "We don't jury the students work at first. We all feel it is important to build up their confidence in the first year."

One reason Mrs. Hudson feels that diversity in the art program is so important is because there isn't any opportunity for exposure to art in this area, other than in the classroom. For this reason every opportunity is taken to introduce the students to various art forms.

"We may lose out in specialization with this method but we are exposing very many students to art this way," she pointed out.

Exposing the community to the students and vice versa is another unique aspect of the classes at CHSS. Mrs. Hudson has an interest in local architecture so, when the weather permits, takes the students to draw buildings around the town.

They also do murals for the enjoyment of others. One is in the Hastings County Board of Education office in Belleville. Others are in the Kiwanis Centre, Madoc and the staff room at the school. Students also do some sign painting.

"It gives them positive reinforcement to see their work on the highway or in a building," she said. "They love doing murals because they can work together in groups."

The scene in the Board office is a forest scene. Mrs. Hudson said the students like outdoor scenes, scenes pertaining to the environment around them.

"It is refreshing to see. If the school was in a city I think the work would be quite different," she said.

As well as art work the art students do the decorating for school dances and other functions. The key for Mrs. Hudson seems to be providing a wider focus, not strictly limiting art to seat work.

One craft is usually taught in addition to art work. This year the students are getting involved in fabric printing and other forms of printmaking.

In the senior years students work more on individual projects and the craft work is expanded. They are required to bring in one assignment per week which they must do on their own time.

"Quite a percentage continue on to take fine arts courses in Colleges or Universities," said Mrs. Hudson. "This year perhaps four or five will be going to the Ontario Art College in Toronto."

But the real proof of the pudding if exposure is your objective comes in the numbers of students and judging from the number that keep coming back for more it seems obvious that the art department is reaching its objective.

would expect to make in Canada.

The virtue of the country is its people, Mr. Hobson said. Because of their religion (80 per cent are Buddhists) they have a tremendous reverence for each other. There was no graffiti there and virtually no theft. To bring shame on one's family would be too great a disgrace.

The congestion of the country would be a difficult thing for a Canadian to overcome, Mr. Hobson felt. Eighty per cent of the land is mountainous so all other available land must be used. Since there are a thousand earth-quakes a year skyrisers have been (until very recent technology) impossible, so people live in small houses or apartments with very little room by Canadian standards.

Women are generally not considered to have equal status with men. Most of the men go out at night to socialize without their wives.

However, one Canadian did manage to meet a Japanese girl early in the week's activities, dated her every night and asked her to marry him before his departure. He was very excited about his future when he left for home, his new found love was to give him her reply by telephone upon his return to Vancouver.

added dollars for Ontario? I feel these things should be investigated, prior to embarking on a wood-fired public electricity program, which in effect would be in direct competition to the Forest industry for its wood supply.

3. Fuelwood production on crown lands in Ontario has risen dramatically over the past four years. According to Ontario statistics, in 1975 only 8,789 cords of fuelwood were harvested. In 1978 this volume had risen to 57,107 cords, an increase of over 500 per cent during this four-year period. I have every reason to believe that the increase for the present 1978-79 year will be even larger. Past experience indicates to me that fuelwood harvested on private lands is always higher than that harvested on crown. When you consider that one cord of air dried maple has an equivalent heating value of between 120 and 150 gallons of number 2 domestic fuel oil, you can easily understand why more and more fuelwood will be produced as a home heating supplement, particularly as the price of other fuels, notably oil continues to rise. If large volumes of wood are cut for electricity generation, this will reduce the amount available for individuals to heat their homes. Also it will shove the fuelwood price up for low income persons, who are already hard-pressed because of rising costs, for most other things. In addition I do not think the forests of the Tweed District can provide the requirements for the forest industry to satisfy the increased demands expected for domestic fuelwood consumption, and at the same time provide furnish for a public electricity generation facility.

4. If a wood-fired electricity generation plant is set up in the Madoc area even on a pilot basis, one of two things will happen: if it is successful, it will undoubtedly expand;

if it is not a success, it will be closed down and many millions of dollars will have been spent.

In the first case if it is successful, then increased harvesting of existing woodlands, farther and farther away from the plant will occur. New and less labor-intensive logging methods will be introduced, which will harvest whole trees (branches and all) and transport chips processed in chip harvesters the longer and longer distances to the plant. This will not bring the employment and other benefits anticipated, because as an example, one large pulp company in Ontario now harvests approximately 200,000 cords using the total tree chip harvesting system and only nine men, including truck drivers, are employed in order to do it. Also extremely large areas of the forest in the vicinity of Madoc are located on very thin soils, interspersed with rock. These soils support low cordage per acre, are very difficult and expensive to regenerate after cutting, and are costly to harvest due to the low cordage and rocky terrain. If these areas are clear cut in any amount, and I am sure they will be, then due to both the difficulty and high cost necessary to regenerate them, it will be many, many years before the trees harvested can be replaced. This will have an injurious effect on the tourist industry in the area, both from a loss of wildlife habitat and the resultant poorer aesthetics.

CHORD'S response

To the Editor:

We, the CHORD committee, would like to respond to Mr. Rollins' letter which was directed at the Madoc area and appeared in the Bancroft, Tweed and Belleville newspapers. (March, 1979)

Mr. Rollins speaks of a "CHORD Proposal" which was presented to County Council. Mr. Deline, Reeve of Madoc Village, presented the village of Madoc's motion to County Council. He represented the village of Madoc and was acting entirely on his own. He could not possibly present a CHORD proposal to County Council since CHORD has not as yet made any proposal to anyone, this is what we are presently working on. Mr. Rollins has chosen to reject the project even before a proposal is drawn up. This is entirely his right as a Canadian citizen.

Mr. Rollins quotes Mr. Anslow, the Regional Forester at Kemptville, that "a wood fired public electricity program would be in direct competition to the forest industry for its wood supply." We believe, along with every major study in North America that the very opposite is true. A brief summary of our reasons are as follows:

1. Hastings County is "blessed" with a large supply of waste wood, thanks to over 100 years of poor forest management. After the original stands were stripped, forest operations have consisted mainly of "hygrading" picking over the forest taking out the best timber, and leaving the reject material. What we have now is a forest made up, to a large extent, of poor quality standing timber. This includes an abundance of semi or non-merchantable species such as iron wood, beech, poplar Shocking Situations!

Some people use electricity carelessly...taking risks that can take lives. But the real shocker is that the mistakes they make are so easy to avoid.

They mess with appliances while they're plugged in.

They run extension cords under rugs. The cords get frayed and worn.

They do their own wiring... and don't have it inspected.

They mix electricity and water.

You wouldn't take risks like these, would you?

and hemlock; poor quality stands of better species which are crowded, misshapen (wolf trees), diseased or dead, etc.

To have the sort of high producing, high quality forests which are the standard in Europe, and increasingly so in the southern U.S., this low quality rough and rotten wood must be removed to make room for higher quality timber. As there is little or no demand for this material at present, there is no economic way of removing this cull wood at present.

2. Any enterprise that can use wood chips with bark on them, whether it be for electricity production, steam production for a green house complex, methanol or ethanol for fueling vehicles, or wood gas for running diesel motors that could power saw mills, etc., provides an economic incentive to harvest this waste wood. In New Hampshire, where such a project exists, foresters have noted both an increase in quantity and quality of the commercial species of timber. Removing cull wood is simply good forest management. The point is: Do we pay or get paid to have waste wood removed?

3. Mr. Anslow made the inference at the Tweed meeting on Feb. 19/79, that if a wood fired plant of any size were built, our sugar bushes would be cut down to fuel the plant. Imagine yourself the owner of a mature maple bush, you have the choice between selling it to the veneer plant in Tweed for up to $300 per MBF (1000 board feet), or to a wood energy conversion plant for $15 per ton...that is at a 900 per cent loss.

Clearly economics is the main reason that chips harvested for a wood energy plant do not compete for wood intended for saw mills or veneer plants and only to a minor extent with pulp. The Domtar mill requires either reasonably straight minimum 4" diameter 8' long round wood or bark free chips. It cannot use mill wastes such as bark or saw dust, or slash (tops of trees) which consists of 30 to 40 per cent of the whole weight of the tree. All these sources are presently available for a wood energy project without harming existing industries. In Burlington, Vermont, a wood electric plant is located only 60 miles from a pulp mill six times as large as the Trenton plant. This mill does not consider the nearby wood electric plant a threat to its wood supply.

4. Local furniture and cabinet makers must often import their lumber from outside the country, often the U.S.A., because of the limited supply of good quality pine which is a reflection of our historically poor forest management. How many more wood industries would source here if we had higher quality lumber to offer?

5. Mr. Anslow has said we do not have the wood, yet every commercial saw mill operator and logger we have spoken to has regrettably affirmed the existence of a large quantity of useless standing timber. Mr. Anslow has no local data on whole tree biomass productivity and no idea how much cull wood is available at $10, $20 or $30 per ton and so on. There does not even exist recent accurate forest inventory data for the entire county.

In summary, potential of the forests in this county have not been fully realized. An independent consultant forester should be hired to gather all the facts on timber inventory.

No one, least of all ourselves, wish to see the forests denuded. What we would like to see is good forest management. Learning to know what should come out and what should be left. With few exceptions, clear cutting is mindless. The question we should ask ourselves is: Do we reject out of hand the possibility of having a dynamic healthy forest industry because we consider ourselves mindless land owners incapable of wisely managing our timber resources? We have within our reach the

Playing with fire

Energy costs are being reflected in the increasing number of homes reverting to partial use of wood burning stoves. Such stoves or fireplaces bring a touch of the past and a pleasant atmosphere to the home.

However, there are a few rules that it is well to observe if you have or intend to purchase such an item. The thing to remember as a Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations pamphlet says is that "you're playing with fire".

So, a few tips:

— Buy only units which have been certified for use with wood by the Canadian Standards Association or the Underwriters Laboratories of Canada. Combination wood/gas units are not approved.

— Stoves and grates should be in good condition - doors and dampers should fit tightly.

Have an expert check the flue pipe and chimney, combustible materials should be no closer than two inches from the chimney. Chimneys should extend at least two feet higher than any part of a sloped roof.

— Contact your insurance agent before adding any such unit - you may invalidate your insurance or need to update it.

— Install a smoke detector.

— Safe clearance are listed in the Ontario Building Code, National Building Code, and the Canadian Heating, Ventilating and Air Conditioning Codes. It is safest to connect the stove to its own chimney.

— Never use inflammable liquids such as gasoline, kerosene or charcoal lighter fluid to start your fire.

— Clean stovepipes and flues regularly. Failure to do this can cause chimney fires resulting from creosote build-up.

A stove or fireplace can complement any home and prove to be a valuable energy saving investment. Make sure that yours is an approved unit and is installed properly.

Copies of an excellent Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations pamphlet may be obtained free from Consumer Information Centre, Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations, 555 Yonge Street, Toronto, Ontario.

The Whytock Mill was changed over to a store and warehouse in 1973.

Business transactions totalled more than $1 million dollars in 1974.

More than $300,000 had been accumulated in certificates with $22,000 being paid back in 1976.

The total sales over the years has exceeded $10 million.

In 1978 the new store and warehouse was built at the Station property at a cost of $180,000 with extra stock of about $20,000.

Mr. Miller said that with the continued support of the membership it would not be long before that cost would be absorbed.

There was a large turn out for the unveiling by Mr. Millers of the plaque commemorating the erection of the building."

There are still some big ones! Paul Burris, while fishing at Moira Lake a week ago, hooked an 11 lb., 30 inch pickerel. The fish is being mounted at a local Taxidermist.

"Rapid Farming" for greater efficiency

This is an article written and distributed by a large tractor manufacturer and should be read in that light. Still it raises enough interesting points about new farming systems that we felt it would be of interest to our readers.

By W.P. Simpson, Product Management Group J I Case Company

For several decades the entire farm tractor industry has been moving in a well-defined product pattern. What has evolved from the drawing boards of the tractor designers during this time is a sleek and trim, high-powered thoroughbred vehicle that weighs less and is able to farm faster.

These new tractors are definitely more efficient, more manageable, more productive, and certainly more appropriate for the times.

In checking Figure No. 1, showing the industry averages for performance of tractors (Nebraska Test Data), you will notice a dramatic decline in both the ballasted and unballasted weight. Since the early 1960's average ratio of ballasted tractor weight to PTO/hp has decreased from 160 lbs. per PTO/hp to an average of 115 lbs. Many people have failed to recognize this significant trend and its multiple implications.

And, though several tractor manufacturers have alluded to the high horsepower-to-weight tractor in the past, the concept has not been aggressively promoted to the public.

Simply stated, this concept of higher horsepower-to-tractor weight means today's farmer can increase his production by using what we have termed The Rapid Farming System. If he purchases a tractor with 25 per cent more horsepower than the one he is using, he can cover 20 per cent more ground using the ground working tool he already owns. Here's an example of the difference in productivity if, for example, you traded in your 100 horsepower model and are now using one rated at 125 horsepower:

— A 100 hp tractor pulling your 20 ft. disk harrow at 4 mph effectively cover 8 acres per hour;

— A 125 horsepower tractor pulling the same 20 ft. disk harrow at 5 mph will effectively cover 10 acres per hour.

The alternative to going faster using the same implement is, of course, to use the extra horsepower to pull a new, wider implement. But it is a mistake to assume that, in all cases, 25 per cent more horsepower will necessarily let you increase the implement size by the same amount. Here's why:

— Drawbar horsepower is a function of speed as well as drawbar pounds pull. Therefore, you can transmit more drawbar horsepower at higher speeds. In checking the Drawbar Performance Chart, Figure No. 2, you will notice that the maximum drawbar horsepower is always achieved at the higher rate of travel speed (usually in the 5 mph to 6 mph range) and never at the highest drawbar pounds pull.

[Editor: Please insert Figure No. 2 here] Here's another plus factor for using the Rapid Farming System...reliability of tractors can be remarkably increased as you farm faster.

In a test conducted by the J I Case Company Engineering Department it was determined: "there is 9½ times more strain on a transmission when a tractor is operated under continuous load at 2 mph as compared to one being run at 6 mph."

It takes basically the same drawbar horsepower, but much less draft load, to pull a 20 ft. disk at 5 mph as it does to pull a 25 ft. disk at 4 mph. Therefore, even if you work the same number of acres, from a tractor reliability standpoint, it is to your advantage to farm faster with the smaller implement.

The Question of Traction

You will find that most problems of excessive wheel slippage occur when tractors are overloaded at the drawbar and required to go to lower travel speeds (4 mph or less). But, by farming at higher travel speeds with the proper sized implement, you lower draft forces and improve traction. So it is suggested you always match implements to the power of the tractor so that you can travel at 5 mph or faster. Ideally, the implement is then sized correctly to the tractor.

There are, of course, some field conditions that will necessitate a slower than 5 mph speed. For example, if you are Today's tractors are sleek and trim, boasting new highs in horsepower-to-weight ratios. Some farmers are using the disking diagonally to the corn row, you should shift down and go slower. Certainly, if you select an implement too large for this operation, you will again be over-loading and straining your tractor.

Additional Points to Remember

Here are some additional points worth remembering as you plan to get the most production out of your higher horsepower-to-weight tractors:

1. Less weight on a tractor means a reduction in rolling resistance and, consequently, less effort required to propel the tractor through the field. When you increase rolling resistance by over-weighting your tractor, it soaks up drawbar extra horsepower to pull larger implements. The author of the adjoining article suggests they ought to look at the horsepower at an alarming rate and wastes fuel.

2. Less total tractor weight reduces soil compaction and can result in greater yields and increased returns at harvest time.

3. Most 2 and 4-wheel drive tractors equipped with cabs and protective frames since October 26, 1976, have a pre-established maximum permissible working weight limitation posted inside the cab for roll-over protection. Farmers should never exceed these maximum recommendations when adding weights or ballast to their tractors.

"How Fast Do You Farm?"

When farmers are asked, "How fast do production gains they can realize by putting that horsepower to work in a Rapid Farming System.

you farm?"...the most common answer is, "As fast as I can!" Considering the pressures and time limitations farmers have to cope with in their farming operations, this is an obvious answer. But as we have attempted to point out in this article, if he is not working his modern high horsepower-to-weight tractor at the optimum speeds, he probably is losing valuable field time.

The high horsepower-to-weight tractors are here today in many and varied forms for farmers to utilize in their operations. And the future undoubtedly calls for even higher horsepower tractors — both 2-wheel and certainly 4-wheel drive tractors.

Right now, we're talking about 5 to 7 mph farming. Within the next decade we could possibly be basing our farming operations on 8 to 10 mph tractor working speeds.

Those future tractors will be specially engineered for increased operator comfort and will include sophisticated control systems that will compensate for the higher speeds.

A farmer who believes in the Rapid Farming System, and puts it to practice, will improve his productivity — lower his farming costs — and realize a greater return on his tractor and implement investments.

Farmers' costs to rise sharply

Recent statistics have indicated that farmers may expect to pay 10 to 35 per cent more for fertilizer, seed, machinery and farm labour, Ralph Barrie, First Vice-President, Ontario Federation of Agriculture (OFA), said today.

Speaking to the Annual Meeting of Prince Edward County Federation of Agriculture, where Governor-General Ed Schreyer was the honoured guest, Mr. Barrie added that there might also be a shortage in many products. "All of this could quickly erode any advantages made in agriculture in recent years, with our better production techniques and higher output."

The big problem could be in petroleum products, Mr. Barrie explained. Price increases, both in diesel and gas, are expected and there could be serious shortages: allocation has already been declared in some areas in the U.S.

Mr. Barrie said, estimates indicate increases in fertilizer costs could range from 15 to 20 per cent: in fact increases of

Ski cross country

Longer daylight hours, warmer daytime temperatures, sun tans, carnivals, and picnics all signify the arrival of spring touring.

While you usually don't have to contend with the cold extremes of mid-winter, there are a few factors to keep in mind when spring skiing. Spring touring usually means wet snow and wet feet. Rubberized boot covers are ideal for keeping out excessive moisture. Carry extra pairs of socks, both inner and outer layers, for a change on the trails to guarantee warm and dry feet for the duration of the tour.

Very warm spring temperatures may cause you to perspire more than usual. Carry sufficient liquids to keep up your body's water balance to avoid dehydration.

Temperatures at late afternoon and dusk can drop substantially. Ensure an adequate supply of warm clothing to match the mercury's fall. Bright sun reflecting off spring snow can cause snowblindness. Use sunglasses in brilliant sunshine. Carry suntan lotion for an ideal tan and for protection.

On spring mornings snow can be hard, icy and crusty. Bushwacking is easy as you can ski atop the snow cover. As the day warms you will sink through the thin crust.

Avoid crossing lakes, ponds, streams and rivers in very warm, wet conditions. Ice thickness and strength decreases rapidly during late-winter thaws.

Equipment storage

With the snow gone or almost disappeared, ensure that your clothing and equipment is well stored for use next season. Using a torch or spray wax-remover, and a rag, remove all waxes from wooden or synthetically based skis. Waxes left on over the summer will eat their way into base fibres.

Store skis in a moderately dry room. If possible, suspend the skis with bases facing the ceiling, to prevent camber changing. In order to prevent warping of wooden models or damage to synthetics, avoid piling anything on your skis. They may also be strapped vertically to smooth-surfaced walls.

Hang poles by their straps. Synthetic boots should be cleaned of dirt and wax. Pile linings should be dry before storage. Leather boots may be saddlesoaped or coated with some other protector before storing in plastic bags. Clothing should be washed or dry cleaned and stored in plastic bags.

Clean out wax boxes and tighten any container lids, especially klisters. Clean all waxing accessories: scraper, spreaders, irons, torches. Throw away the dirtiest waxing rags.

Keep all your nordic gear together so you'll know where it is come the first snows next season. If time permits, follow pre-season preparation requirements such as sharpening pole tips and pine tarring wooden bases. Then gather your summer sports equipment and stay in shape until next winter.

Dairy farmers receive 5.4 per cent increase to help meet costs

Ontario dairy farmers are to receive a price increase of 75 cents per hundred-weight, ($1.70 per hl) which is a 5.4 per cent increase, for the milk they produce for table use, effective May 1, 1979. This increase amounts to slightly less than 2c a quart.

In announcing the increase, the Chairman of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, Kenneth G. McKinnon, stated that the Board has been using an economic formula as a guide in setting the producer price for fluid milk for several years. "The most recent information," he said, "indicates that milk producers' costs have shot up quickly over the past few months."

He also noted that formula projections easily justify a higher increase at this time. "However," Mr. McKinnon said, "after consulting with industry and consumer representatives, our Board decided to implement a smaller price increase than was originally proposed." At the same time he issued a warning that a further price increase may be needed within a few months. "Because we are not moving the price up to the level indicated by the formula and, if costs continue to soar, we may be faced with another price adjustment sooner than would normally be expected," Mr. McKinnon stated.

As there is no government regulation controlling the consumer price for milk, the amount of the increase at retail outlets is dependent on the forces of competition. "For this reason," Mr. McKinnon concluded, "we do not know what the final consumer price will be."

The $1.70 per hectolitre increase raises the farm price for raw milk in Southern Ontario from $31.33 per hl to $33.03 per hl and in Northern Ontario from $32.62 per hl to $34.32 per hectolitre.

The church and rural change

The rural scene is altering rapidly. "The Church and Rural Change," a one-week course at the University of Guelph, will offer an objective assessment of those changes along with an opportunity to analyse and discuss some of the moral and ethical aspects of resource use.

Designed for lay leaders as well as clergy, the non-credit course focuses on new developments in land use planning and food production and examines many

An ounce of prevention, to use a cliché, is worth a pound of cure.

And how will we say that in metric? It sure won't sound the same).

(And how will we say that in metric? It sure won't sound the same).

That's why it is interesting to note that a group of people at the University of Guelph are working together to allay the fears of a few bleeding hearts in this country who believe intensive livestock production is cruel.

F.J. Hurnik, an animal scientist at the university, Hugh Lehman, a philosopher, and Jim Schroder, a veterinary professor, are organizing a conference at Guelph to exchange ideas on animal welfare.

"We hope to discuss the ethical issues concerning the use of animals in agriculture and scientific research and examine both the positive and negative effects of contemporary intensive animal production systems," says Prof. Hurnik.

Which, when the jargon is eliminated, is a meeting to talk about the ethics of high production.

It's a good idea. Too many people know so little about farming these days. They see a hen caged all its life and cry to animal welfare officers.

In truth, that pecking hen is probably getting a better balanced diet than the city-dweller's child. That child probably munches fad foods and feels a balanced diet consists of a chocolate bar in each hand.

The good professor notes that, if an animal is fully adapted to a confined system — which is done over generations through selective breeding in many cases — the amount of suffering due to physical restriction is reduced.

Because the uninitiated sees a crated sow, he thinks he would be unhappy in the same situation. "But we cannot strictly apply our judgments as human beings," says Prof. Hurnik.

The sow might prefer a larger pen but a farrowing crate prevents her from crushing newborn piglets. It's a value decision. The reduction in the mortality rate among piglets justifies the confinement of the sow.

Laying hens in cages, points out the professor, have unlimited access to a balanced diet. They are free from stress of fighting or competing for food. Diseases are rigidly controlled.

Any good farmer can tell you that a sick animal, whether it is a horse, a cow, a steer, a hen, a turkey or a hog, will not produce. It won't gain weight or lay as many eggs or produce as much milk. A suffering animal whether it is mental or physical suffering will seldom perform well.

Prof. Hurnik also points out that the moral principle of agricultural practices relies on a higher priority for humans than animals. Technology's job is to minimize discomfort and stress while maximizing production.

That makes sense to me.

Another group of scientists is also working with cows at the university by playing tapes of bawling calves when the cows come into the milking parlor. The cows have reacted like the good mothers they are: They give more milk to the anguished cries of the calves, cries which were fed through the milking parlors by loudspeakers.

Prof. Hurnik says the experiments prove cows are more sensitive than is widely believed.

But the bleeding hearts will jump on the good professor on the grounds the cows don't know any better.

What difference does it make, I say. Humans are coerced into buying more because canned music is piped through loudspeakers at supermarkets to lure us into buying things we don't need or even want. The syrupy violins as background music in the movie theatres tug at our heartstrings and we tell our friends and neighbors it was a great movie.

If we let humans get sucked into being suckers, why not cows? If cows produce more milk, maybe the price of milk will drop a few cents a quart instead of constantly increasing in price.

Milking cows for more milk is fair game if milking humans is considered cricket.

Venture capital puts students in own businesses

Ontario's Student Venture Capital program will provide $125,000 in interest-free loans during 1979 to encourage enterprising students to set up their own summer business.

Since 1974, Student Venture Capital has given full-time students (18 years and older) the opportunity to finance their education while acquiring business experience first hand. Projects may begin as early as April 1, 1979. Last year, a total of 97 projects were approved and $82,525 was loaned in amounts ranging from $200 to $1,000—the maximum amount available to each venture.

Sponsored by the Ministry of Colleges and Universities, in cooperation with various Chambers of Commerce in Ontario and the Royal Bank of Canada, Student Venture Capital is part of the Ontario Youth Secretariat's $19 million Experience '79 program to provide students with employment experience.

While most student ventures are profitable, successful projects tend to be labour intensive and are characterized by low capital outlay, a great deal of hard work and familiarity with the field of endeavour.

In 1978, a University of Toronto student capitalized upon his knowledge and skills by operating a water ski and kite school in the Muskoka resort area. He netted over $5,000, providing instruction in all levels of water and kite skiing.

Another university student became a contractor to a commercial painting firm and employed 13 students throughout the summer. His total net profit was estimated at $5,000; wages paid to employees exceeded $10,000.

Participating Chambers of Commerce share their business expertise and familiarity of the local business climate with the students. Local chamber members

Research project looks at migraines, weather

A research project to examine a link between migraine headaches and the weather has been announced by the Atmospheric Environment Service of Environment Canada.

Jointly undertaken with The Migraine Foundation, the study will attempt to cast some light on the widely held but so far unproven belief that certain kinds of weather can trigger or worsen an attack of the painful affliction which affects at least 20 per cent of the population.

Some 200 volunteers are involved, including 150 provided through the Migraine Foundation and 50 from the Atmospheric Environment Service in Downsview, Ontario. The volunteers will provide information about when and how severely they have suffered migraine attacks and where they were in Canada at the time. Comparison of the answers with weather records is expected to clarify whether there is a relationship and, if so, what kinds of weather are responsible.

The $6,000 study is headed by Atmospheric Environment Services climatologist, David Phillips.

Mr. Phillips pointed out that if the relationship is confirmed, considerable help may be available to sufferers. "Using the extensive climatological archives of the screen applications, suggest improvements and recommend approval of those projects

Atmospheric Environment Service, we think it will be possible not only to forewarn migraine victims of the onset of unfavorable weather but also to determine those parts of Canada where such weather occurs most often," he said. "And while that won't provide a cure, it will give sufferers enough information to take advance medication, or to avoid those areas of the country which aggravate their misery."

A preliminary report, covering the weather - migraine relationship from January to June, is scheduled for next September. At a later date, Mr. Phillips expects to produce a final report covering an entire year.

Commenting on the study, Rosemary Dudley, executive vice-president of The Migraine Foundation said: "I am extremely pleased that this long-needed work is being done. I am sure that the results will be of interest and, in all likelihood, of considerable help to migraine sufferers."

having the fundamental ingredients for success. Once the student's proposal is accepted, he or she must agree to follow certain standard business procedures, make regular reports and repay the loan by October 31, 1979.

The Royal Bank of Canada provides interest-free bridge loans to students who are eager to begin their enterprises before government financing is available. A Royal Bank financial liaison officer provides banking and financial advice.

Garbage used as fuel in Woodstock kilns

A demonstration project using garbage fuel in Woodstock cement kilns is fired up and ready to go.

The experimental burning of refuse-derived fuel is a $300,000 joint project of the Ministry of the Environment and Canada Cement LaFarge Ltd. Eight-hundred-pound bales of refuse-derived fuel (RDF) from the Ministry's Ontario Centre for Resource Recovery will be trucked to the Woodstock cement plant as a supplement for normal fuel.

"We are starting with ten per cent RDF which is primarily shredded paper, plastic film, wood, etc. But we hope to boost that to replace 50 per cent or more of the usual fuels used at the plant," Harry Parrott, Environment Minister said.

"Our intention is to demonstrate something that makes sense both environmentally and in terms of energy supply. We are providing a constructive use for garbage which would otherwise be a disposal problem and at the same time using it to replace non-renewable fuel resources — in this case, coal, petroleum coke and natural gas," Dr. Parrott said.

He said the experimental use of refuse-derived fuel could save as much as 22,000 tonnes of coal or 600,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas in a year.

"A major thrust in our waste management resource recovery program is the development of new uses and new markets for waste," he said. "Our $15 million experimental plant at the Ontario Centre for Resource Recovery is geared to produce a variety of raw materials from garbage for material and energy reclamation in co-operation with industry."

Dr. Parrott continued: "If this demonstration project shows that as much as 50 per cent of standard fuels can be replaced with RDF in cement plants, then that could establish a market for 400 tons of RDF a day at this plant alone. Producing that amount calls for processing 600 to 1,000 tons of garbage a day."

Bales of RDF trucked to the Woodstock plant are opened, shredded and conveyed to the kilns in a fuel-feed system parallel to the normal fuel supply.

Environment Ontario staff, working with a consulting firm, will monitor any changes in stack emissions from the cement plant as a result of the change in fuel, while company experts monitor the quality of the cement.

John Redfern, president and chief executive officer of Canada Cement LaFarge Ltd., welcomed the joint project.

He said, "Our stake in this undertaking is a fuel replacement as long as it will not affect the quality or price of our product. The public, through its government, would benefit from the sale of a waste product being converted to a possible asset. This would result in a reduction in the use of high-cost imported oil by the company. It's a case where everybody wins as long as the environment does not suffer."

He continued, "We are witnessing a joint industry/government project coming to fruition to everyone's benefit. The cooperation we have had from public officials could not have been better. We hope this type of combined effort can be adopted in all of our dealings with Queen's Park. After all, prosperity is in everyone's interest."

aspects of change in rural communities. "We hope not only to work with the clergy and lay leaders, but, through them, with the many people they daily come in contact with," says Professor N.R. Richards, Department of Land Resource Science, who is co-ordinating the course. "In this way leaders living in rural communities not only become better informed themselves, but are also a means of disseminating information on new agricultural developments to people in farming."

Since there is also a great need for the general consumer to be better advised about what is involved in the food production system, Professor Richards hopes that leaders from urban areas will also attend the course.

Each morning session of the course, which runs from May 7 to 12, features specialists lecturing and leading discussion on subjects such as "Our International Concerns" and "Stewardship of Resources." Afternoon sessions include field trips to major land use planning projects in the Guelph area and the Niagara peninsula, and visits to several representative farm enterprises. The course will conclude with a panel presentation and group forum.

University faculty from the Department of Horticultural Science, School of Agricultural Economics and Extension, The Department of Family Studies, and other departments will participate.

For further information contact the Office of Continuing Education, University of Guelph, 824-4120, Extension 3956.

Humane trapping device approved

A new trapping device considered to be significantly more humane than traps currently in use, was announced today by Natural Resources Minister James A.C. Auld.

An alternative to the leg-hold trap, the new foot-snare type, invented by Milan Novak, fur management supervisor of the Ministry of Natural Resources. It acts something like a lasso. Gently conforming to the shape of the animal's leg, the metal clasp holds it firmly without pain or injury.

Mr. Auld said his ministry has tested and rejected many different traps over the past six years.

"The new foot-snare trap is a significant improvement over the leg-hold kind and field tests carried out by my ministry have been extremely encouraging," the Minister said.

Increases in old age allowances announced

Increases in the Old Age Security pension, Guaranteed Income Supplement and Spouse's Allowance, effective in April 1979, have been announced. The increases in Old Age Security pension and Guaranteed Income Supplement payments represent the twenty-second quarterly escalation based on the cost of living, as provided for in the Old Age Security Act since October, 1973.

The new monthly total at the single rate for persons receiving both the basic Old Age Security pension and maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement will be $310.28. For a married couple, both pensioners, the combination of the basic pension and maximum supplement will provide a payment of $573.42 for the couple monthly. The basic Old Age Security pension will rise in April to $170.39 from the present $167.21.

The Guaranteed Income Supplement is paid to pensioners whose income, apart from the Old Age Security pension, is limited. The amount of the supplement varies in relation to the amount of income.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a single person, or a married person whose spouse is not a pensioner and is not receiving a Spouse's Allowance, will go up in April to $139.89 from its current $137.28. The maximum supplement for a married couple, both pensioners, will increase to $116.32 each from $114.15. Added to the basic pension, this will give each married pensioner $286.71 monthly, or a total of $573.42 for the couple.

The Spouse's Allowance is paid to persons between 60 and 65 years of age who are married to Old Age Security pensioners and meet residence requirements. Entitlement to a Spouse's Allowance, and amount paid, is based on yearly income.

The maximum Spouse's Allowance will increase to $286.71 from $281.36. The maximum Spouse's Allowance is made up of an amount equivalent to the basic Old Age Security pension and the maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement at the married rate.

Bilingual roadmaps available now

A bilingual edition of the Ontario Official Road Map has been released by the Ministries of Transportation and Communications and Industry and Tourism.

This new map is not an updated edition, but a French and English version of the present map. While the cover is in English, both French and English has been used in the panels, legend and text. And to accommodate the additional material, the map layout was redesigned.

Copies of the map can be obtained free of charge from the Ontario Government Bookstore, 880 Bay Street, Toronto; the Map Office, Ministry of Transportation and Communications, Downsview, and all Ministry offices throughout the province; the Ministry of Industry and Tourism, Parliament Buildings, Toronto; and Ontario Government Tourist Reception Centres.

We would like to say a special thanks to all those who donated food clothing, bedding, dishes & furniture; to those who took up collections, to the Cordova & Havelock Fire Depts.; to the Rebecca Lodge & the Springbrook Oddfellows for the beautiful blankets; to the Cordova UCW for the lovely quilt; to the Marmora & Havelock Lions Clubs, the Belmont Institute and the Cordova Free Methodist Church Group for their donations of money and the Marmora Red Cross for the clothing and bedding they provided. We would also like to express a very special thanks to Annette Stewart in Peterborough for all the furniture she gave us. It is impossible to list everyone who has helped us in some way or another. People were all so wonderful whether they knew us or not. Another very special thanks to the Cordova Recreation Assoc. for their gift of money and for the benefit dance they put on for us and to the Cedar Swamp Band for the music they supplied. The crowd and music were just great. We would also like to apologize to anyone who was at our dance and had their car windows smashed. We are truly sorry that this could happen to people who were being so thoughtful. Thank you doesn't seem to be enough to say at a time like this but since is the only thing we can say, we say THANK YOU to each and everyone from the bottom of our hearts. It was greatly appreciated. Gord, Beth, Victor, Andy, Allan & Melissa Reid. 5 THE Marmora Herald apologizes that this Card of Thanks didn't get in the paper last week. THE family of the late Thomas Belanger want to thank you all for cards of sympathy, mass cards. Thank you. Al & Syke Kloosterman. 5 AS Jackie Gleason would say "You are a good group". This is to say thank you to all the merchants in the Campbellford, Havelock, Hastings and Warkworth who displayed our signs and sold tickets for us. Special thank you to all who supplied us with the "gifts" that were handed out at the door and the "door prizes". There were 112 prizes drawn for. Special thank you as well to the stores who supplied the fashions and the models who displayed them. Many people have commented on them and were pleasantly surprised to find out what is available in the stores in Campbellford. It was most gratifying to see the auditorium at St. John's Church full, and having to put in more chairs and people sitting on the steps when we had no more chairs available. The final tally is not in yet, but we of the Campbellford Hospital Auxiliary feel that our "Annual Fashion Show" was a big success and would like to say thank you to all who supported us. 5 I WOULD like to thank my friends who remembered me by their prayers, cards, flowers & fruit baskets, while a patient in the Ottawa Civic Hospital. Repotting houseplants

Many indoor gardeners are reluctant to begin repotting houseplants for fear they will damage the plants. However, the job isn't as difficult as it sounds, says Bob Fleming, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist.

First check to see whether the plant needs repotting. Although one symptom that a plant is pot-bound is slow growth, the best way to find out is to take the plant out of the pot. "When the plant is slightly moist, gently turn the plant onto its side and tap the bottom of the pot," says Mr. Fleming. "This will loosen the plant so you can take it out of the pot to check the roots. If there is a solid mass of roots, it is time to repot."

If you intend to repot the plant in the same container, some light root pruning will be necessary. Be careful to remove only one-quarter to one-third of the roots. A plant that has obviously outgrown the container will require a pot one, or, at maximum, two sizes larger than its original pot. "If too large a pot is used, the unused soil will retain too much moisture, and result in soggy, airless soil."

Make sure that all pots are clean before repotting. Mr. Fleming recommends using hot water, a little disinfectant, and a scrub brush to clean pots. When repotting in containers under 15 cm in diameter, it is not necessary to place stones at the bottom of the pot for drainage, says Mr. Fleming. A good potting soil will not pack in such small volume. However, if you are using large pots more than 20 cm in diameter, a few broken pieces of pot, placed over the drain hole, will be beneficial.

To replant, put some soil in the bottom of the pot, and stand the root ball in the center. Fill the pot with potting soil, and pack moderately firmly around the plant. The soil level should be 1.5 cm below the rim of pots up to 15 cm in diameter. In pots 15 cm in diameter, or wider, the soil should be 2.5 cm from the rim. Late spring and early summer are the best times to repot houseplants. Repotting during these times will allow the roots to become established before winter.

Proposed recreation budget of $11,460 approved

The Madoc and district recreation committee spent a third meeting discussing its proposed budget for the next year. Representatives from the minor hockey league were on hand to present their revised budget and once again the committee has changed their budget which will now be presented to the three councils involved: Madoc, Madoc Township and Huntingdon Township for approval. The new proposed budget is for $11,460, $450 short of the figure arrived at the February meeting but $4,000 more than the budget proposed in March.

The additional $4,000 was requested by the minor hockey league. Sonny Osborne and Clint Davidson attended the meeting to represent minor hockey.

"There are more boys out for hockey each year," Mr. Osborne said. "Next year we may possibly have four OMHA teams in addition to the house league. This will cost twice as much."

Mr. Osborne said he cut off minor hockey six weeks early this year because the budget was to be cut from $3,600 to $2,100.

Mr. Davidson asked the chairman Ian Connerty how much the committee was prepared to pay, to which Mr. Connerty replied as much as the committee and councils are willing to approve.

Mr. Osborne said his program would cost $13,000 next year. He said the organization could raise between $4,600 and $5,000 on their own.

"We were always told to budget high in the past," he said.

Glenn Franks, representing Huntingdon Township said he would like the budget to go one step further and show the expected deficit broken down per child involved. This would give more weight to the argument for money when he went back to his council, he said.

He went on to say that perhaps some sports could be left to the individual municipalities and the total budget be kept as small as possible.

The matter of the $6,100 for the minor hockey budget was put into motion form by Mr. Connerty. At that time Sheila Berry asked whether the Figure Skating budget could also be raised since she had been denied any extra funds to cover increased ice rental fees. Mr. Connerty said the committee should stick to the same ground rules as it had set up, thereby leaving the figure skating budget as it stood.

Karen Jones, representing the Ringette Club asked if minor hockey raised the same proportion of their costs as the other clubs did.

Kaye Peacock suggested that fund raising should be a part of the recreation committee.

"I had the impression in the past that if you didn't have enough money the Village would pay. We should be doing more than funnelling money we should be encouraging clubs in their fund raising," she said.

Mr. Osborne suggested there should be separate committees looking at fund raising and looking at available grants.

Returning to the budget issue Mr. Franks said he would have no trouble getting the budget through if it were not for the $17,000 arena deficit that was also hanging over the head of the recreation committee.

Mr. Connerty explained that it was because of the public outcry over the arena deficit that recreation budgets had to be prepared beforehand. The connection is not justifiable, he said, but people are concerned so that is why the money aspect of recreation has been emphasized more than any other aspect.

When the minor hockey issue came to a vote five were in favor and the rest of the committee abstained from voting.

When the minor hockey budget was proportioned according to the number of children playing hockey the costs were divided up as follows: Madoc Township (42 per cent) $2,000; Madoc Village (37 per cent) slightly more than $1,500 and Huntingdon Township (21 per cent) $700.

The total budget when shared will cost Madoc Township $4,567; Madoc $4,900 and Huntingdon $2,100.

No bill has been sent to the townships from last year's recreation committee. There seems to be no record of a bill available. For this reason Mr. Connerty requested that the secretary invite Reeve Tom Deline who was a committee member, to the next meeting to find out whether he has any records of the bills.

Also at the next meeting the committee will be discussing a complete restructuring in order to be more effective. That meeting will take place at the Fire Hall, May 3 at 8 p.m.

The Chamber of Commerce has prepared a preliminary map of the Madoc District which will make up the centre of a tourist brochure that will be prepared in time for distribution at the Outdoor Show in the Quinte Sports Centre, Belleville, April 19-22.

The brochure will include a business directory and church directory as well as an outline of the history of O'Hara Mill.

Home management team makes start

Located in an office on St. Lawrence Street west, below the Council Chambers are two women who are part of a Home Management Team looking after the needs of families with a mentally handicapped member living at home. The team is split between Madoc and Picton. Joette Oliver and Jackie Wallace are working out of Madoc. Damon Deshields is the project manager. The Home Management Team was established by the Ministry of Community and Social Services. The Madoc office has been open since the beginning of January.

"The objective of the program is to assist parents to teach their children to help themselves to develop to their full potential," said Ms. Oliver who is the office director. "In this way it is possible for more children to remain at home rather than be institutionalized."

Ms. Oliver and Ms. Wallace have taken training courses to prepare themselves for their work and continue to attend workshop and seminars.

Basically they help parents to work out a training program for their child. The parents do the training on a daily basis. The home management team member visits the home once a week to give advice and to evaluate the success of the approach. For example, the help work out ways to overcome temper tantrums and toilet training problems.

"Similar programs have shown parents that in almost all cases their child is trainable and can learn to do things on his or her own," said Ms. Oliver. "So often parents say: 'he can't learn anything' and it is not true, they don't realize what they can do."

Anyone directly involved with a handicapped person can request a home management team referral. Doctor

Joette Oliver and Jackie Wallace make up the home management team that covers northern Hastings and Lennox and Addington counties. They help and train parents to obtain a deeper understanding in dealing with the problems created by a mentally handicapped person living at home. They assist parents in identifying these problems and train them in the methods needed to cope with them.

Kinsmen need support

The Madoc Kinsmen Club is in trouble. Its problem, according to President David Brady, is the lack of members. The present membership count is 16, not enough to support the objectives of the club.

The Kinsmen Club is an organization for young men between the ages of 21 and 40. Their main objective is fellowship as well as fund raising for service work in the community.

The Club meets every second and fourth Tuesday of the month for a dinner meeting and fellowship. They are presently involved in a hockey tournament, they play baseball, have picnics, arrange parties and dances.

But in addition to just plain having a good time they organize festivities for the community at large. In the last few years they have been involved in turkey rattles, dances, draws, the Winter Carnival, Summerfest, casino nights, ticket sales, flea markets arranging for attractions such as the Hell Drivers to come to town and have looked after the ball park refreshment booth.

Proceeds from these activities, past president Robert Bancroft pointed out, were put back into the community. The Club put up the fence for the ball park; donated to the Madoc and District Recreation Centre; gave out Christmas baskets; donated funds to: six fire victims, the centennial committee, local sports organizations, the Cystic Fibrosis fund, the Laws of Life, the Centre Hastings Recreation Centre, the 4-H club - Madoc and District, the Medical Centre for a saw to cast, the Public Health Department for a pair of glasses for a local youth, a fireworks display and to charitable organizations such as the Red Cross.

The Kinsmen do not only donate money they also give of their time to work at the gates during the fair; to do work in the park; participate in organizing local action sales; snowmobile races; cross country poker runs; fishing derbies and floats for parades.

This is a worthwhile organization and one the members feel deserves the support and participation of the young men of the community.

Upcoming Kinsmen activities include a barn dance April 28 at the farm of Dr. Dosaj and on July 7 the Annual Summerfest featuring the good Brothers.

The Madoc Chamber of Commerce has reached an agreement with Bell Canada for an additional two telephone booths to be installed in the Village, Chamber president Robert Bancroft announced Thursday.

The telephone booths are to be installed within the next six weeks. One will be located outside Kramp's BP station, the other in front of the Madoc Dairy Bar.

The Kinsmen and their wives, the Kinettes, organized a Fun Day during maple syrup season. Fifty-two adults and children were taken by horse drawn sleigh into Grant Fleming's sugar bush for an

Letters to the Editor

Man takes exception to letter

To the Editor:

Although I am not a native of Madoc and Hastings County, I feel I have been a part of this community for several years. Several times in the past I have taken exception to letters and whatever, published in the local papers, but felt I should let them pass in the wind, where most of them originate.

I cannot let Mr. Schultz-Nielsen's letter of March 28, 1979 pass without some comment. I know Mr. KSN does not have too high of an opinion of me and the feeling is very mutual. I will not stand back and have a person whom I believe has never done anything beneficial to this area take sneaky cracks at people who have and still are working for our community.

I do not belong to any political party but support the person I believe will do the best job for the local area. Clarke Rollins has worked for many years for this area and the benefits he has arranged are numerous and the time he has given of himself should not be slighted by those who give nothing. As for the man Mr. KSN is afraid to mention by name, Kel Kincaid has worked for the benefit of this community for many years in all phases such as; sports and recreation, service clubs, school boards, council and a representative for the political party of his choice. This man should also not be slighted by a person who portrays the caricature of a seagull. I hope Terry does not take too much exception to some of the comments directed at him. He is of a younger generation and has much to offer our community for many years to come.

I hope, Ron and Dave, you do not have too many people like Mr. KSN speaking on your behalf. You fellows are intelligent individuals and are dedicated to your goals in life and working towards a prosperous and enjoyable life for the people of this area, but please on behalf of myself and many other people of the area let the seagulls act as individuals.

P.S. I am not trying to portray the seagull as a bad bird, but will give my interpretation of a seagull to anyone that is interested.

Bob Kirkwood, Madoc.

Attempt to stifle the press foiled

One of the more interesting topics emerging from the Recreation Committee meeting Thursday night was whether the press should be stifled or not.

Perhaps this is not more interesting than the committee wondering what exactly it did last year or should be doing this year or more exciting than watching the budget pursue its yo-yoing pattern, but worthy of note to newspaper fans at least.

The chairman of the committee Ian Connerty moved, for the sake of discussion, that the recreation committee be closed to the press.

Sharon van Dyk said that it would save embarrassment if information could be available to clubs before figures under discussion appeared in the paper.

Does this mean that the committee is embarrassed by their discussions or does this mean their decisions are couched with more grace in their minutes than in the press?

Mr. Connerty said that although the precedent for closed committees has been set by other councils, for example Hastings County Council, he was in favor of open meetings. Even if the reporting is inaccurate he said, at least people get a chance to see what is going on.

Mr. Ash said that he did not think ratepayers would not like to see councils and committees being conducted behind closed doors.

Maurice Goulah added his support saying he would have to quit coming if the meeting ceased to be public.

But Mrs. vanDyk held firm. Perhaps they could be closed to the press but not to the public, she suggested. Or alternatively the reporter should check the facts with her (she's the secretary) before publication.

It makes one pause to think what would be published if all stories were edited by the subjects of these stories.

However, when the matter came to a vote none of the women who spoke in support of some muzzling of the press voted in favour of the motion. It was a narrow defeat.

But as Mr. Connerty said the fact that the matter was raised does make a comment. He also hinted that members of the Village council had thought of closed committee meetings as well.

The readers should be aware of this vote of non-confidence. But is it in the press or is it in their own decision making abilities? Are they afraid to be wrong?

The press cannot hide its blunders they are there for all to see. Any person who wishes a retraction of any incorrect statements has only to request it.

It is not the intention of this paper to stir up trouble, far from it, we see ourselves more as a community service. If the service has been bad it's good to hear about it - then charges can be made.

Vastokas:We must regain self-confidence

"My overriding concern for this area is to help restore our self-confidence." Ron Vastokas, Liberal candidate for Hastings-Frontenac told a luncheon meeting held at the home of Anna Hobson, Wednesday.

"We have to have the confidence that we can do things ourselves and not go begging to Ottawa and to Queen's Park. We in eastern Ontario must get our fair share. We do provide a lot of raw materials and we deserve a share of the National pie. But we must have the self-confidence our forefathers the pioneers had. If we develop it the future looks bright."

Mr. Vastokas pledged to work together with members of other parties for the good of the area. He said this area has been missing out for too long because of lack of co-operation and because representatives have not been vocal enough. His priorities are first to his riding, second to the country as a whole and thirdly to his own party.

Looking at problems with the riding he pointed out that we are constantly living in the shadow of the "big city", that our resources are all going out and coming back as manufactured goods. We have no small scale industry he said.

"There are ways to reverse some of these trends," he said. We could have small scale industries rather than importing chip board from the U.S. and milk and bread from Kingston.

"An illustration of the essential problem in eastern Ontario is that between 1951 and 1971 42 per cent of the farmland in eastern Ontario has gone out of use. There is 1.4 million acres of unused land. Land that could be producing milk and cheddar cheese is in weeds," he said.

A closer look must be taken into farming

Hastings-Frontenac Liberal candidate Ron Vastokas visited with Florence McCoy following a dinner given in his honor Wednesday by Anna Hobson. Mr. Vastokas spoke briefly to the guests outlining his concerns for the area and suggesting solutions for some of the problems experienced by those living in the Hastings-Frontenac riding.

and rural redevelopment. Otherwise younger people will continue to leave and larger chunks of land will continue to fall into fewer hands, he pointed out.

Tourism remains an undeveloped potential although this area is ideally situated between Toronto and Ottawa. Cultural points have been missed. There are people who still have the memories. The artifacts are still here, it needs only someone to bring them together. A museum would be welcomed by people on their way to Algonquin park.

The forests are under utilized. Wood is an alternative, he said, to paying $20 a barrel for Iranian oil. Wood can be converted to methanol and used to run our cars, to maintain our way of life.

Jobs are very important. This region is a depressed sector of the economy if you consider the unemployment statistics. Mr. Vastokas said. Industry, farming, forest industries and tourism could all provide those important jobs.

"In the energy field the country is striving towards self-sufficiency. Whether we will continue to invest in nuclear plants, or wood-burning plants or base our plans on diminishing oil reserves, we are in a position to decide. We have to believe that we can be heard. I intend to see this riding gets its fair shake," he concluded.

Anyone interested in helping out with the Vastokas campaign, in picking up a button or in having coffee and conversation is welcomed to drop in to the Madow campaign office located at 83 Durham Street south. The phone number of the office is 473-4263.

Inside CHSS:Geography offers wide scope of subjects

The Geography Department, like many others, is finding itself riding the pendulum that swung from the rote learning of facts memorized for tests to the emphasis on process which existed under the Roberts Plan to a combination of the two today. "Process" was concerned more with the hows and the whys of, for example, the existence of a mine in a particular area rather than memorizing where that mine was on a map. Now students are expected to have a basic core of facts, such as where the mine is, but they must also know the hows and whys within that framework of fact.

This is a comfortable position for David Sellers, head of the department who said he feels a bit of both is desirable. There are two other full time teachers in the department Don Kerr and Ron Powell as well as one part-time geography teacher Kevin Raghubir.

Mr. Sellers expects students to gain some awareness of their country, its landforms and climate, in grade nine geography. This course is compulsory as part of the Canadian Studies package. In grade 10 the Canadian History course is compulsory and maintains the continuity of the program.

Geography in grade 10 focuses on Europe and Asia.

The grade 11 and 12 courses are varied in their areas. There is an urban geography course which entails field work for CHSS students as they are removed from city life. A life which is an everyday reality for 80 per cent of the population of this country. The excursions are unfortunately becoming more expensive all the time and with cutbacks in provincial funds are requiring more funding by the students.

Another course with a good deal of excursion time is the outdoor education program taught by Ron Powell. However, the difficulty there lies not with the cost in monetary terms but in terms of time. A student must, therefore, have good marks in order to take the course and the time off from his or her classes.

A world regional course and a physical geography are also offered at this level. There are two main parts to the physical course: landforms which looks at glaciation since all land in this area was formed by the movement of ice fields and climatology which looks at how we get the weather we do.

The grade 13 course deals with issues in Canadian Geography such as the location of nuclear waste dumps and various energy sources.

Looking to the future Mr. Sellers said he feels teaching geography will become increasingly difficult as more funding is cut back owing to declining enrolment. This will mean fewer field trips will be available and more emphasis will be placed on academics than has been in the past.

CHRC will open early in May

Foreman Gail Chipczak and staff members Joop VanRyn and Sharleen French of the Centre Hastings Retraining Centre were busy Thursday building tables for their employees to work on when the Centre opens early in May. For the first year the Centre will primarily concentrate on teaching life skills to the mentally handicapped employees.

David Sellers, head of the Centre Hastings Geography department.

The staff of the Centre Hastings Retraining Centre are busy working alongside the contractors to make the Centre ready for its opening early in May. The contractors are installing plumbing and electrical services as well as bathroom and kitchen facilities. The staff are building work tables and shelves which will be used in the operation of the Centre.

The Centre is primarily for mentally handicapped persons. To date there have been between 25 and 30 applications. Centre foreman Gail Chipczak said. A selection committee of five people: Betty Workman, Shirley Harris, Jean Faubert, Marilyn Wells and Ms. Chipczak will choose 10 employees to begin with. More employees will be added as the program progresses.

For the first year training will be given in life skills. The project will be totally funded during that time by the Ministry of Community and Social Services. However, the employees will be being trained in a job-oriented manner so that by the second year of operation the Centre will be able to pay 20 per cent of its costs through its own sales.

The building housing the Centre at the corner of Durham and Elgin streets is an ideal location according to Ms. Chipczak because it will allow for a store front display area which will attract community attention to the project.

Community participation will be encouraged once the program is under way and volunteers will be used to help the staff in their work.

There will be an open house in May when the Centre opens to which the public is invited to attend.

agencies. Health nurses and parents do most of the referring at present.

The team has been in existence for one year but was operating out of the Picton office. The two offices, between them, cover Hastings, Lennox and Addington and Prince Edward counties. They may include Northumberland, as well, in the future.

This project is unique in that it is using para-professional help rather than professionals. There are two other programs of its kind in Newfoundland and Brockville but these both use professional help.

"This project is the only one of its kind in the country," said Ms. Oliver. "It is being studied to determine whether non-professionals can do as good a job as professionals."

When asked if they thought a multi service centre would be of value to them in their case work both Ms. Oliver and Ms. Wallace said they thought it would be.

"Our project manager and the rest of the team were very enthused about the North Frontenac model," said Ms. Oliver. "It would help us to have some other workers to communicate with because we have information to exchange. Our clients often deal with more than one agency; the lack of communication only means more filling out of forms for them."

Huntingdon Council briefs

The Financial Report and Information Return for the 1978 audit were presented to the Huntingdon Council at their regular meeting held April 3. There was a deficit of $4,807 for the year 1978.

Requisitions for funds were received from the two Conservation Authorities. Moira River levied an amount of 1769 for the year 1979. The Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority levy for 1979 is $719.

Maurice Goulah, Madoc Township, spoke with council regarding the Fire Departments in Madoc and Huntingdon Townships. It was suggested by Huntingdon council that their clerk contact Madoc Village, Madoc Township and arrange a meeting of the three councils with their Fire Chiefs on April 23 at 8 p.m.

Sergeant Sid Cain and Corporal Don McNeil, Madoc Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police attended council to discuss any problems or areas of concern that the Township might have. There did not seem to be any problems at this time.

A motion was made and carried that the council approve the expenditures for Road Construction and Maintenance for the year 1979 as set out for Ministry of Transportation and Communications approval in the amount of $165,440.

Mr. Donald Smith, Shoreline Motel, addressed the council regarding his taxes and the fact that the road to his place of business is not passable at this time of year.

Council decided to arrange to look at the portion of the township road in to the Shoreline Motel and see what condition it is in. The council will meet with Mr. Smith on April 6 to go over the road.

Harts Riggs WI

Hart's-Riggs' Women's Institute members gained an insight into the fascinating craft of Macrame at the March meeting held at the home of Mrs. Lamoine Foley last Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Lamona Howard was in charge of the program. She introduced Mrs. Helen McCormick, who gave brief instructions on the preliminary steps in creating objects with cord, after distributing prepared pieces to the members. After trying their hand at macrame, many of the members expressed interest in pursuing the craft for a hobby.

For the roll call, each member displayed a craft. There were several different crafts distributed for all to see.

A macrame hanger, made by Mrs. McCormick, was brought to the meeting for tickets to be sold on in place of the regular collection. This was won by Mrs. Lisa Vierich.

Plans for the annual meeting in April were made. This is to be held on Easter Monday, beginning with a pot luck lunch at noon. All conveners were reminded to have their reports ready for the meeting.

Mrs. Hemiika Howard and Mrs. Keitha Moorcroft were named as the nominating committee. Their report will be given at the annual meeting.

The consumer report was given by Mrs. Elsie Franks. The main item of the magazine this month was about the International Year of the Child, which will be the theme of the District Annual meeting in May.

Lunch was served and a social time enjoyed.

Donald E. Presant,
Agricultural Engineer
OMAF, Stirling

There has been much publicity in the past few years about the production of methane gas from livestock manure. Farmers have been interested because of increasing energy costs and because many livestock farmers have large quantities of manure available on their farms.

At first glance, the combination of large quantities of manure and a rising cost for all types of common energy sources appears to favor farm production of methane gas. Unfortunately, the production of methane from manure is not nearly as simple or economical as some writers suggest. Many examples of methane use on farms come from tropical or semi-tropical countries where labor is cheap, the climate is warm, and there are no other sources of energy. None of these conditions applies in Canada.

Climate has a great effect on the economics of methane production. Methane-producing bacteria require a temperature of 35 degrees C to produce efficiently. This temperature cannot fluctuate more than 1 degree C. Research work in Canada, although not complete, indicates that a minimum of 30 per cent of yearly gas production and as much as 50 per cent or more of winter gas production would be required to keep the mixture in the methane digester at this temperature.

This means that during the winter when Ontario residents need gas for heat, 50 per cent of it may be needed to keep the manure mixture warm.

If it is to be useful on the farm, methane gas must be stored. Unlike propane, methane will only liquify at extremely low pressure and temperature, and is difficult and expensive to compress as a gas. This means methane must be stored in the gaseous form at fairly low pressure. This in turn means a large storage is required for a relatively small amount of energy, which adds to the cost and will usually be impractical.

The capital cost of a methane production unit is another limiting factor at present. It is estimated by staff of the School of Engineering at the University of Guelph that it would cost $30,000 to construct a methane production and storage unit to treat the manure from 500 feeder pigs. This results in an annual operating cost of $5,000 plus an estimated labor cost of Landlords and tenants

The Centre fields, every day, questions from landlords or tenants respecting their rights and obligations under the provisions of the Landlord Tenant Act and the Residential Premises Rent Review Act. There still remains an abysmal ignorance of both on the part of landlords and tenants, not to say anything about lawyers, who seem to feel all that is needed is a "lawyers letter".

Currently new legislation is being considered before the legislative committee and, when passed into law will encompass both acts and set up tribunals to hear and resolve differences of opinion between the disputing parties. However, until that legislation passes into law the old acts still prevail.

Most complaints stem from a total lack of knowledge on the part of landlords and tenants in respect as to what is required to give a proper legal notice as is required under the Act. Both parties are required to give notice by way of writing. In the case of the landlord it has to contain very specific ingredients in order for it to constitute a legal notice. A tenant does not have to react until he or she receives a "legal" notice.

The next most frequent complaint is the rent and the frequency that a landlord may raise it. At this time rent can only be raised by 6 per cent per annum and that means only once in the twelve month period. A landlord cannot raise the rent automatically when a new tenant moves in. A landlord must give the tenant 90 days notice in writing of his intention to raise the rent and the tenant may, within 15 days of receipt of the notification file with the Rent Review office in Kingston if he or she wishes to protest. Also, denial or removal of an agreed service such as laundromat, garbage pickup etc. can be construed as being an increase in rent and can be argued before the Rent Control officer as such.

There are many rights but they are also balanced by obligations. It is this latter category that both parties like to overlook when it suits their purpose. Be fair and be sure that you take both rights and obligations into account whenever you proceed to act.

Mr. Bert Gerling is the current landlord/tenant advisory consultant and is available by tel 962-9218 or 968-3392. He is available at the office by appointment or between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. daily usually.

Do a thorough check on foreign property

By Leon Pape, CA

You're nearing retirement and the thought of coming winter chills you to the bone. Like many other Canadians, you're thinking of buying a place of your own down south, where you can escape the cold for two or three months every year. And while you're not using the place, you can rent it out as a source of extra income in your retirement. Lots of people do it, myself included.

What should you look for in buying a foreign property, either for retirement or as an investment? And, more important, what pitfalls should you guard against?

In the first place, of course, you should carefully inspect the property itself. Then, provided you have satisfied yourself that it's sound, look carefully at the purchasing agreement and financing arrangements, bearing in mind that what is customary or expected in Canada might not be so down there.

If your property is a condominium in Florida, you can expect to face the same ongoing expenses of property taxes and maintenance charges as Canadian condominium owners. These latter charges, levied by the condominium corporation according to need, include costs of security, repairs, common area maintenance and utilities, etc., and they normally run from about $80 to $100 per month. Taxes on a $55,000 condominium will be about $500 per year.

Watch, however, for additional ongoing charges. A common one is a recreation lease, under which you pay the developer as much as $50 to $75 per month for the use of the pool, card room etc. Ostensibly a rental, this is in fact merely a source of guaranteed income for the developer. And while you might not be able to avoid it, you should take it into account when comparing the price of the property with others.

The same applies to land lease clauses, which can also escalate with the U.S. cost of living index -- rising by as much as 10 per cent per year from a base of $50 to $60 per month.

On the question of whether to pay cash or take a U.S. mortgage, my advice is to pay cash if you can -- accepting the lower value of the Canadian dollar. Even though U.S. mortgage interest rates can be lower than ours, that difference in currency values can add an effective two percentage points to your rate. And also, if our government should impose currency restrictions, you may find yourself unable to pay off the mortgage at all.

There are some tax advantages to having a mortgage -- you can deduct a portion of the interest from your rental income from the property. However, if you pay cash, you will never have to pay income tax on the mortgage interest you save.

Mr. Pape is with Nadler Gould & Co., Toronto.

Hastings County JWI held March meeting

The March meeting of the Hastings County Junior Women's Institute was held at the home of Diane Wallbridge with Pat Sherk as convener. A good attendance of twenty-five ladies were present for this meeting with baby Adam Sherk as our visitor. Two mishaps this evening, one lady had her vehicle wallowing in mud and the other woman had lost her directions.

The Meeting opened with the "Institute Ode". President, Ruth McCurdy welcomed all with a poem, "A Friendly Glow". Secretary's and Treasurer's reports were dealt with and roll call "Your most treasured piece of jewellery" was asked of the ladies. Brochures and rings traditional ly passed down from grandmothers and aunts were the favourite pieces of jewellery.

Our St. Patrick's Dance at the Hayloft was a complete success. Results will be shown later as Ruth McCurdy flashed her camera numerous times at our gals.

The Bus Trip to Erland Lee Home and the Cannon (Knit) Mills in Stoney Creek (Burlington area west of Toronto) leaves April 19th, 7:45 a.m. arriving there 11:00 a.m. and returning later in the evening. A shopping spree is to take place in Oshawa before returning home.

Pam Ketcheson made a suggestion to the J.W.I. about sponsoring an overseas Foster Child. The motion was moved by Helen Harry and seconded by Jany Jeffreys that the J.W.I. do Foster a child.

Handicapped
visited rabbitland

Members of the multi-handicapped class of Sir James Whitney School visited Rabbitland Thursday as the guests of Mrs. Garnet Budd and her husband.

The children, ranging in age from seven to 10 years, were fascinated by the 30 different breeds from round the world. They had an opportunity to touch some of the rabbits and were really attracted to the sensation. They also had a chance to see some baby rabbits which had just been born.

Mrs. Budd said she was happy to have had the children visit and that the teacher was very pleased with the response of her students.

Rabbitland is located on Highway 62 north of Eldorado.

Our annual picnic for the summer season is to be held on July 29th, 1979. The area as of yet has not been determined.

Joan Partick who has her own Rock and Stone business along with her husband Steve was our guest speaker for the evening. A fascinating demonstration of making pierced and dropped earrings from ceramic and stones was presented to the gals. They can make thirty to forty pairs in three and one-half hours.

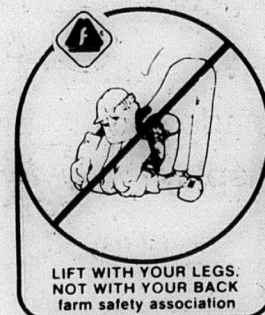

Various stones are collected and shipped to them from all over the globe which they cut, shape and add the chains or backs to the earrings. Quite a process and most original. This couple travels in North America and perhaps beyond to the many shows to exhibit their crafts. A quiz was passed to all to inform our guest of the knowledge we knew about stones. Several prizes were awarded to those with the highest score. Ruth McCurdy thanked Joan Partick and presented her with a gift, also thanking our hostesses for the lovely lunch.

Our next meeting will be April 12th, 1979 at 8:00 p.m., at Mary McKeown's Farm Home in Springbrook.

Directions: Travel Hwy. 14 north from Stirling about 7 miles to Springbrook, turn left or west at McKeown's Garage on the 10th Concession of Rawdon. Driving west for about 2 1/2 miles you will approach a large farm home on the north side of the hwy. The lights will be on and many vehicles parked outside.

Topic: "Child Abuse". Guest speaker: Mrs. Workman.

Roll Call: "What did your child do today that provoked you?"

The gas produced daily by a 500-feeder-pig methane unit would supply about 850,000 BTUs of energy. This could supply the furnace in an average Southern Ontario home for about eight hours. But in cold weather the furnace might run for 16 hours per day. This would require methane production from a 1,000-pig unit or gas storage facilities as part of a smaller methane unit. The furnace could heat the same home by burning 10 gallons of furnace oil for a cost of about 15.50, or 16 gallons of propane for a cost of about $9.00.

The use of methane on the farm is further restricted because the gas is combustible and explosive when mixed with air. It will also asphyxiate humans and animals if it replaces oxygen in closed areas.

Some factors which may make methane production feasible in the future are solution to the storage problem, continued rise of energy prices, simpler and cheaper production equipment, and the ability to vary the rate of gas production to match needs.

As stated in the Agricultural Code of Practice for Ontario, "methane production is technically feasible, but almost all informed authorities are convinced that it is not economical at this time in our climate."

Grain drying conference

Increasing energy costs are forcing farmers to find ways to reduce energy requirements of one of the largest consumers on the farm - the grain dryer.

In response to the demand for information on this topic, a special On-Farm Grain Drying Conference will be held at Guelph, April 12. "The conference is designed to update farmers on the latest developments to reduce the cost and energy requirements of grain drying," says Stan Young, Coordinator of Agricultural Extension, Ontario Agricultural College. The conference will focus on the Innovator Incentive Program for Grain Drying, and individual farmers' experiences.

Howard Nodwell, of the Extension Branch, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, will explain the jointly funded, federal-provincial program to assist farmers in developing better drying systems. Several farmers, working under this program, will discuss their experiences with high-temperature drying, dehydration, and low-temperature drying systems. The use of heat lamps, heat exchangers, and solar-assisted drying will also be discussed.

Lambert Otten, School of Engineering, Ontario Agricultural College, will present a progress report on low-temperature drying research at the University of Guelph. The conference, sponsored by the University of Guelph and the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, is open to farmers, industry and extension personnel, and other interested people. Registration fee for the conference, which will be held at the Royal Canadian Legion, Colonel John McCrae Memorial Branch, is $10.

To preregister, write Dr. W.S. Young, Coordinator of Agricultural Extension, Ontario Agricultural College, University of Guelph, Guelph, Ontario N1G 2W1.

Making maple syrup as a hobby

by Judy Lewis

"I like syrup, and I like making syrup," stated John Richardson, of R.R. 2, Norwood, last Thursday morning, as he began his day at the sugar bush on his property. With the increasing number of people producing maple syrup for profit, Mr. Richardson, a dairy farmer, has become one of the few who make syrup as a hobby. "If this was a business, I'd have gone broke years ago," he explained, referring to his small scale operation.

John Richardson has been making syrup since 1946. Although he knows of operations where over 2000 trees are tapped, Mr. Richardson collects syrup from only 150 to 200 trees each year. The Richardson sugar bush is what is called a "young bush", and will have more sap-producing trees in 25 years. John Richardson, however, is satisfied with the size of his present operation, and has no desire to tap additional trees. "It's a hobby," he stressed.

The syrup produced by Mr. Richardson is not for sale to the public; recipients of the product are relatives and friends of the family. Some of the first families for whom Mr. Richardson made syrup in the 1940's, still receive a regular share of the "crop."

Several steps are involved in the making of maple syrup. In his operation, John Richardson first taps the trees and allows the sap to collect in buckets, which are hung from the tap spouts. The sap from the buckets is emptied into a large storage container by the sugar bush shack. Mr. Richardson explained that this method of sap collection is considered old-fashioned when compared to the gravity-fed pipe line and vacuum pump methods employed by most large-scale syrup making operations. Gravity-fed pipe lines work when the sugar bush is located on a single grade, while vacuum pumps enable the collection of sap from trees over varied terrain.

Prefers buckets

Although John Richardson once purchased pipes for 50 trees, and tried the gravity-fed method, he found that he prefers to use buckets for sap collection. He explained how the pipe line method is fine for the first half of the season; however, half way through the season, only the bucket method can ensure that "good quality" sap is being tapped. With buckets, when the sap flow from a particular tree becomes sluggish, indicating low quality sap, it can be easily detected and eliminated. With the pipeline method, the source of low quality sap cannot be located because the pipe lines converge at several points along the route to the storage container.

When John Richardson is ready to begin the boiling process necessary to turn the sap into syrup, he siphons the sap into one end of the 12 year old evaporator he has used for the past six seasons. The one-piece iron evaporator consists of a series of parallel trays with approximate dimensions of (length) three feet by (width) one foot by (depth) six inches. The evaporator is placed on a slight grade. Small holes on one side of each section connect the trays and allow the sap to flow gradually downwards, from tray to tray. The heat and flames of a fire lit at the lower end of the evaporator travel the length of the underneath "stove" to a chimney pipe at the other end. On April 5, John Richardson drew attention to the special criss-cross method of arranging the fire logs in the stove which allows the flames to reach the bottom of the evaporation trays, and to travel along the underneath shaft.

As the sap boils, it gradually follows a zig-zag course from tray to tray towards the fire source at the lower end of the evaporator. Often, pieces of ice will be in the uppermost, or first tray, while the sap-syrup liquid is boiling steadily in the lower trays. Once the fire is generating considerable heat, a great deal of steam is formed by the boiling process required to turn the sap into syrup. The steam usually escapes through vents in the roof of the shack, but on Thursday, the direction of the wind kept the steam in the three-sided structure, causing somewhat "poor visibility."

During the making of maple syrup, the fire must be constantly tended, and a kind of sediment from the trees should be frequently skimmed off the top of the bubbling liquid. Usually John Richardson, or sometimes a member of his family - wife, Lorraine, or sons, Murray, 24, and Gary, 18, stay at the shack from early morning until suppertime during the syrup season which lasts for approximately one month.

The final tray from where the syrup is removed is not connected to the upper series of trays. A ladle is used to scoop the almost completed product to the final pan. When the syrup is ready, it is removed from the final tray, and strained twice, through clean wool cloths. This filtering process removes any remaining sediment in the syrup after the boiling process.

Throughout the season, the trays are never completely empty of sap or syrup. The presence of the liquid is necessary to protect the bottom of the evaporation trays from overheating.

Before he purchased the connecting-tray evaporator, John Richardson made syrup by the "straight pan" method, where sap is boiled in one very large pan, and considerably more work is required.

Six to eight hours of boiling are required to make two gallons of syrup, and 40 gallons of sap are needed to produce one gallon of syrup. The sap collected from individual trees averages less than one quart per tree.

If there are four "good runs" in a season the season is considered a good one. A run is good when "the sap flows for part of the day, for three to four consecutive days." Temperature plays a vital role in the sap run. In order for the sap to run well, temperatures of minus 5 to minus 10 degrees Celsius are required at night, while temperatures "quite a bit above freezing" are necessary during the day time.

Mr. Richardson began his syrup making operation around the 20th of March this year. The season will end in mid-April, predicted the farmer. While the sap continues to run, however, John Richardson will spend many a quiet hour working at his hobby in the sugar bush: collecting the sap, boiling it, and producing the rich maple syrup which has been appreciated by family and friends for over 30 years.

"Nanu", an eight week old Husky, watched as John Richardson emptied the water and ice which collected in a bucket after the recent snowstorm. After dumping the waste, Mr. Richardson returned the bucket to its place in the hopes that the sap would run that day.

Below: A pleasant scene was created by John Richardson at work in his sugar bush, where he has spent the greater part of the day for the last four weeks. Here, Mr. Richardson added a log to the fire to keep the sap in the evaporator at a steady boil.

Acid rain threatens lakes

by Ron Reid

Last week we explored acid rain, the problem that threatens thousands of Ontario lakes. Already, more than 20 per cent of the lakes in the Sudbury area have been acidified, and lost their fish populations. The problem is worldwide. Sweden is predicted to lose half her 90,000 lakes within 10 years. Over 50 per cent of high-elevation lakes in the Adirondacks are already without fish. Norway, Scotland, Nova Scotia, Maine, and New York State have all documented the symptoms, and more area will undoubtedly show up within the next few years.

The sources of the air pollutants that cause acid rain are reasonably clear. Coal-burning generating stations are a major culprit, but any industries that burn fossil fuels on a large scale also contribute. Smelting operations are often a major source of sulphur dioxide, with the INCO plant in Sudbury being the world's largest single source. Control of these emissions is complicated by their transport within air masses for hundreds of miles. A large part of Ontario's acid rain is imported from the U.S. industrial midwest. As the original pollutants are carried in the clouds, they react chemically to form the acid rainfall. The only effective solution will be an international air pollution control treaty, committing both Canada and U.S. to spending the billions of dollars necessary for abatement. Even though the magnitude of the acid rain problem was discovered only recently, already time is of the essence. Right now, progress is being held up by a lack of recognition of the problem, particularly within the federal government. Strong public demand for pollution controls will be essential.

The provincial government recently repealed a pollution control order that would have forced INCO to dramatically reduce their contribution to the problem. But at the same time, in strange contrast, Minister of Environment Harry Parrott is sounding the alarm bells about acid rain.

If acid rain is to become anything less than a first class disaster, we must have quick, concerted action on both sides of the border. Otherwise, we will all reap a bitter harvest from our continued industrial growth without adequate safeguards.

It's believed the eating of beef was introduced to Japan in 1856 by American diplomat Townsend Harris.

A really BIG tow truck

This is the big Pacific Truck which Jerry Seaboyer has available for heavy jobs in the area. It is powered by a 350 Cummings engine with a rating of 370 h.p.

Phil Seaboyer is shown here in his garage doing some autobody work. He took over the Ottawa Street service outlet last August when his father, Jerry, who originally owned the business, started another outlet for used trucks on the highway. He handles mechanical work on cars and trucks as well as body work.

BY JEANNETTE MOORE

Should you ever be so unfortunate as to overturn a really big truck with a really big load, you will be happy to know there is available in the area for setting it back on its wheels a really big tow truck. Jerry Seaboyer has acquired this huge Pacific Truck, the granddaddy of all tow trucks, powered by a 350 Cummings engine giving it a rating of 370 h.p. a Fuller 15-speed transmission with 1600 front axle 4400 rears. The wrecker unit is a Holmes wrecker body for which Jerry built the frame and bottom himself - he has been custom building wreckers since coming to Havelock and taking over a garage 20 years ago.

Its complete market value new is $100,000.

The Seaboyer truck is one of the largest in North America and indeed there is none larger in Canada. It is meant for very heavy work - for use as a tow truck - and the report of such a big engine being available in the area has been noised abroad. This last week a company in Sault Ste. Marie sought it out for a job of hauling a tractor-trailer to Peterborough. And the week before that it came into excellent service when a tractor-trailer belonging to Merrill Wood Products overturned and was completely wrecked at Codrington. With your usual large tow truck the job of hauling such a wreck out of the ditch and off the highway would take hours whereas the Seaboyer giant completed the job with comparative ease.

Until last August, Jerry Seaboyer ran the garage in Havelock on Ottawa Street, where, besides autobody and mechanical work he sold used trucks. His son Phil worked along with him while attending Norwood District High School but after graduation and a spell in Toronto working at a body shop where he became a licensed automobile painter, Phil decided to set up shop on his own. Jerry decided to start a separate business specializing in truck sales four miles east of Havelock on No. 7 highway and Phil took over the garage on Ottawa Street.

It's a good setup the way the work is divided. Phil does the light towing, the autobody work and he has a licensed mechanic, Roland Naegeli, working on auto and truck repairs. He can get parts from Jerry's yard and Jerry can get Phil to do mechanical repairs and body work on his used trucks. Phil has room for work on 10 vehicles in the Ottawa Street garage. Then, when there is a call for hauling something really big, they've got the Pacific engine.

Quota trading dangerous

concept: OFA

A study recommending open trading among farmers for the transfer of marketing quotas could have serious implications for average family farms and young people wanting to farm, if adopted by marketing boards. The study was done by two University professors.

Joe Casey, NFU Coordinator for Region 3, (Ontario) told members attending a District Annual Meeting in Moncton, April 3rd, that if press reports of the study are correct it means quotas could eventually end up in the hands of those with the money, and that won't necessarily be farmers as we know them today.

"I was disturbed to hear radio interviews when several marketing board officers indicated they favoured easing restrictions on the transfer of quotas. This could mean we would allow the dollar bill to dictate who will produce farm commodities in the future."

Mr. Casey said there should not be a price tag on any quota transfer, and that when a farmer wishes to give up production the quota should revert back to the respective board to be made available for reallocation, preferably to young farmers and those with the lowest amount of quota.

"Let's face it, much of the quota in some

It seems impossible to find the villain in the escalation of food prices in this country.

Farmers are out to prove that they are clean. At the Canadian Federation of Agriculture's annual meeting a year ago, members decided to ask the government statisticians to change the format of the monthly consumer price index to make the effects of food handling and imports more evident.

Ontario's probe into kickbacks to big food suppliers is turning up some interesting facts about what it costs to get food chains to handle certain products. No matter who pays what to whom, you can't tell me that these kickbacks or premiums or whatever you want to call them, are not reflected in the price the consumer pays.

The food chains are saying they have to have more money because shipping costs and labor costs and store costs are increasing.

The intermediaries - the processors, the packing plants, the packagers - say much the same thing.

The consumer becomes the fall guy, the patsy. Consumer organizations are finding it tough to get enough money to keep them solvent and to fight battles with an empty treasury.

The poor consumer is caught in the heat of the battle. The housewife knows, the wage-earner knows, that it is impossible to set a food budget and keep it. Every week, something else goes up in price.

"And not just a cent or two. The increases are as much as 25 and 30 cents," said a neighbor of mine just yesterday. "We used to buy a jar of honey for $1.79. It went to $1.89. Now, it has jumped to $2.39. I try to use honey as a sweetener because it is a natural product. White sugar - even brown sugar - is supposed to be the worst sweetener you can use."

"How can I feed my family in a healthy way with prices like that? My weekly shopping trip for a family of six is now $100. We just can't get by on less."

Now that an election has been called, it seems to me the question is this: Can the economy be controlled? Are we in a price spiral that cannot be stopped?

I keep comparing my way with others and wonder how in hell some people can possibly exist! How can they keep on an even keel when they are making, as many of them must, less than I am?

We have a brilliant daughter with an honors degree in psychology. She is eager to find work. She had her honors thesis published in a prestigious magazine. She is attractive and friendly and willing to do almost anything.

She has spent eight months writing applications for all kinds of jobs from a cocktail waitress to a psychology researcher. But she has not been able to get a permanent job.

It seems to me, sitting here in the back forty, that something is drastically wrong.

I wish I could put my finger on it. Why can't a young person with a good education who is willing - migawd, desperate for - work get a job in this country? She has written more than 200 letters of application.

The unemployment rate is highest in her age group. For those unaffected by it, the statistics are just figures. When you're part of it, the figures strike home.

I don't know how I'm going to vote yet. Traditionally, I have been a Conservative but have voted for all three of the major parties at various times. Never more than once at each election, mind you.

I'm one of the many undecided voters. Somebody is going to have to convince me that they will find gainful employment for the thousands of young people in this country who want to work.

The party that convinces me that it is working to convince consumers that the farmer is not the ultimate villain in the food chain will get my vote. Only 40 cents of every dollar spent on food gets to the farmer and Canadians still spend less on food than any other country in the world. Why, Ontario milk producers, through the milk board, decided to take a maller increase next month than allowed by their price formula, from three cents a quart to two cents. Not much but it's a sign of good intentions.

I'm usually a decisive guy when it comes to voting but this time around, somebody will have to promise something better.

ROLLINS LUMBER'S SELF-HELP HOME PLAN CAN PUT YOU IN YOUR OWN HOME!

THERE ARE MANY GOOD REASONS WHY ROLLINS LUMBER HAS SOLD MORE SELF-HELP HOMES IN THIS AREA THAN ANY OTHER COMPANY. HERE ARE A FEW DETAILS:

NO DOWN PAYMENT — The "Self Help Home Plan", as devised by Rollins Lumber, makes it possible for the average family to own their own home without a down payment. For the plan to operate successfully it is essential that the purchaser realize that there is work involved. If you think that you can get by without a down payment and without contributing a certain amount of labour, we would sooner not get involved.

HOW THE PLAN OPERATES — The "Self Help Home Plan" is very flexible and can be tailored to meet the requirements of the individual. Normally we erect the "Basic Shell" of the house and supply the interior materials for the customer to finish off the house, however, we will also provide the various other mechanical trades. For instance, we often erect the complete basement as well as the "Basic Shell" and in many cases we also do the complete plumbing, wiring, heating, septic system and well drilling.

To put it simply we will do all the work which you feel you are not able or capable of handling. It stands to reason of course that the more we do the more the house will cost. We know from experience that the average customer can save from 6,000.00 to 9,000.00 on a 27,000.00 home.

CHOOSING YOUR SUPPLIER — We realize that the purchase of a new home is a major step in the life of an average family and that you will have many questions to ask. For this reason we suggest that the place to ask is at Rollins, where, our previous experience and solid reputation will insure that you receive straight answers and sound advice.

At Rollins Lumber we will arrange sufficient mortgage money for the complete house and assist you in choosing the floor plan and style of home best suited to your needs. If you do not own an approved building site, we will arrange for or help you locate a suitable building lot.

QUALITY COUNTS — All materials and workmanship in a Rollins "Self Help Home Plan" are covered by warranty and meet the requirements of the Ontario Building Code (1976) and are approved by the major private and Government lending institutions.

Easter eggs

by Mrs. Christine Dukelow, Home Economist, Victoria-Peterborough.

Throughout the centuries Easter has been observed by the peoples of all Christian countries as the most important and oldest festival of the Christian Church. It is the holy day that commemorates the rebirth or resurrection of Jesus Christ. The name "Easter" comes from an old Anglo-Saxon name for the goddess of spring. According to Teutonic mythology, her feast was celebrated for the renewal of life. Thus, the connection with Christ's resurrection as the symbol of future life.

For centuries, the egg has represented the awakening of life. For this reason it has been used during Easter as a symbol to represent the resurrection. In many countries such as Canada, dyed, hard cooked eggs are given to children and friends in recognition of the rebirth. Several countries, including Greece and Italy, celebrate the Easter holy day with special breads, into which the coloured eggs have been baked.

If decorated, hard cooked eggs will be part of your Easter morning breakfast, perhaps the following facts will be helpful. Eggs prepared in the shell are best called hard cooked rather than hard boiled. High temperatures and long cooking cause the egg protein to shrink and become tough and rubbery. It is best to use moderate to low temperatures and exact timing. To prevent cracking during cooking, remove from the refrigerator at least 1/2 hour before cooking. Either a cold or a hot water method may be followed for hard cooked eggs. In the hot water method, begin with a pan of boiling water, of sufficient depth to cover the eggs by at least 1/2 inch. Slip each egg carefully into the boiling water. Cover, and reduce the heat so that the water is barely simmering. There should still be bubbles on the pan bottom. Hard cooked eggs require 25-30 minutes. The dark ring that sometimes forms is caused by a chemical reaction between the iron of the yolk and the sulfur in either the white or yolk. A minimum cooking time and immediate cooling after cooking will usually prevent this.

Eggs that are leftover should be stored in the refrigerator to minimize the possibility of food poisoning. For a longer lasting Easter centerpiece, carefully remove the yolk and white from eggs by means of pin holes poked at either end of the shell. Be sure to break the yolk. Blow gently into one hole to force the contents out the other end. What to do with the scrambled white and yolks? Egg foo yong, crepes and omelets will put these to use quickly and deliciously.

As for the hard cooked eggs, try some variations on "deviled eggs". Add finely grated old cheddar cheese and a dash of cayenne; or finely chopped olives and a small amount of dry mustard. Pressing the yolks through a sieve gives a smooth filling base that can be forced through a decorating tube for easy filling of the whites.

Ideas and recipes, as well as nutritional facts about this high quality source of protein can be obtained in the pamphlet "Eggs". It is available from your local Agricultural Office.

Former CIC chairman at Trent

Bob Page, former chairman of the Committee for an Independent Canada will speak at Trent University on Monday, Apr. 16, on "A Question of Energy: the Berger Commission, the native people and the environment".

The occasion is the April meeting of the Friends of Bata Library, which will be open to the public. It will be held at 8:00 p.m. in the A.J.M. Smith conference room of the library.

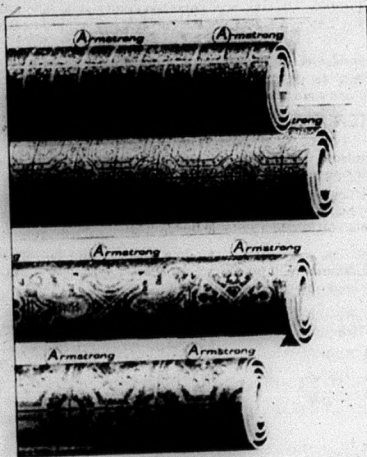

Professor Page, coordinator of Trent's environmental and resource studies program, was deeply involved in hearings both of the Berger Commission and the National Energy Board. He is historical consultant to the Indian Brotherhood of the Northwest Territories and is preparing studies related to public participation and decision-making.

commodities did not cost the present holders anything. Having to purchase quota creates an unnecessary cost of production and is a deterrent to young farmers becoming established.

"Quotas should be available to a wide sector of producers for the purpose of orderly marketing of farm commodities, not to aid a few to be the only producers," Mr. Casey said.

Students receive wildlife kit

More than 30,000 wildlife educational kits with the theme "Endangered Habitat" will be distributed by the Ministry of Natural Resources to public and secondary schools during National Wildlife Week, April 9-15.

Melville's Bookkeeping Service

Income Tax Returns
R.R.1, Havelock, Ont.
Phone 778-2438

The educational package includes a large colour poster for classroom display with a wildlife game on the reverse and a 12-page booklet which contains articles on saltmarshes, rare plants and their habitats, arctic landscape, status and habitat of Canadian fishes, prairie wetlands and national parks.

All material was compiled by federal and provincial wildlife agencies, universities and museums.

As part of National Wildlife Week, the Canadian Wildlife Federation is also sponsoring a wildlife poster contest to promote increased awareness of Canadian wildlife resources and to highlight 1979 - "The International Year of the Child". Winning entries will be exhibited by the National Museum of Natural Sciences.

"We are again most pleased to support the Canadian Wildlife Federation and its National Wildlife Week program," Natural Resources Minister James A.C. Auld said today.

"The material we are sending out to public and secondary students in Ontario will, we hope, accent the need for everyone to recognize the importance of preserving habitat for wildlife, now and in the future."

National Wildlife Week is held annually to commemorate Jack Miner who established the internationally known bird sanctuary at Kingsville, Ontario, southeast of Windsor. After his death in 1944, the Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation, founded in 1931 to administer the Kingsville sanctuary, continued to operate under family direction.

Ohio-born, Jack Miner (1865-1944) came to Kingsville with his family when he was 13. As a young man, he launched the first Ontario game protection association, gradually established a haven for ducks and geese until it became widely known, and was a pioneer in the banding of birds to establish their migration patterns.

National Wildlife Week was established in 1947 by unanimous vote of the Canadian parliament to dedicate a special week as a reminder to Canadians of the infinite value of wildlife. The week always contains April 10, Jack Miner's birthdate.

Planning vegetable gardens

With spring arriving, almost everyone develops or revives their interest in their home surroundings. More and more people are discovering the rewards of growing their own vegetables. As this interest increases, gardeners look beyond the typical backyard plot to growing vegetables in their flower beds and in containers.

When planning for fresh vegetables, don't overlook the attractive appearance these can add to your flower beds. Borders of parsley or lettuce are useful as well as colourful. Brussel sprouts, because of their unique shape when growing provide an interesting background for a dwarf marigold border. Cucumbers can be trained on a trellis for easy harvesting and the lacy foliage of carrots blends well with dainty annual flowers. Experiment with your favourites. Just remember to suit the soil, location and watering of the companion vegetables and flowers. Be careful to ensure sufficient room for growth and adequate sources of nutrients too.

If you have been considering container gardening, the publication no.1653 from your local Agricultural Office could be just what you need to get started. It outlines such considerations as expense, material, soil and the care of various crops in a container. As well it contains a further reference list of books and publications, and instructions for cold frames, hot beds and hydroponics units.

For growing a more conventional garden, the publication Vegetable Garden Requirements discusses choosing vegetable varieties, how much seed to buy and special remarks for various crops. A section on insect control is also included.

There and other publications may be picked up during office hours from the Agricultural Office at 55 George St. N. in Peterborough or 322 Kent St. W. in Lindsay. There is no charge for any of these publications.

Focus on food: unit pricing

One of the most helpful things to come along for shoppers in recent years is unit pricing. By providing the price of products per ounce or gram, pound or kilogram, quart or litre, unit pricing makes it much easier to compare prices and get the most out of your food dollar.

Here's an example of how unit pricing can ease the strain on your food budget. Suppose there are two brands of mayonnaise on the supermarket shelf: brand X costing $1.90 for a ten-ounce jar, and brand Y costing $1.60 for an eight-ounce jar. Although the jars look deceptively similar in size, unit pricing will show that brand X at 19c an ounce is a better buy than brand Y at 20c an ounce.

And by using unit pricing, you'll discover it's not always true that the large economy size is the best buy. By checking the unit price, you'll find that sometimes the larger-sized product can actually be the most expensive.

If you shop in a store that does not provide unit pricing, it's a simple matter to calculate the unit price yourself. All you have to do is divide the price of an item by its quantity. Thus, if a ten-ounce can of Canada choice corn is 40c, the unit price works out to 4c an ounce.

Calculating unit prices yourself may mean you have to spend a little extra time in the grocery store, but that disadvantage is offset by the potential for substantial savings.

It may not be possible for you to comparison shop for some meats using unit prices, as meats don't always yield identical quantities of usable product. For example, you can't compare the unit price of spareribs with the unit price of boneless roast and conclude that spareribs are cheaper. Two-to-three ounces of boneless roast may make a serving, but because of high bone content, two-to-three ounces of spareribs will do no more than whet an appetite. In such cases, you can determine the better value by figuring out the cost per serving, rather than checking the unit price.

However, unit pricing can be applied to the majority of the items on your shopping list, and will ensure that you get top value for your shopping dollars.

So when you shop, look for the unit prices. If your store uses them, they'll be clearly marked on stickers located on the shelves directly below the products to which they refer.

Recreation Committee discussed at council

Harold Bailey attended Madoc Village council Monday, April 9 to discuss the problems he saw in regard to the Madoc and District Recreation Committee. The basic problem, he pointed out, was lack of communication. Lack of communication at all levels, between the three councils that participate in the committee and from the committee down to the (organizational levels of minor sports.

"We have to start at the top," he said. "Why can't the recreation committee be more active, show more interest at the bottom?"

Reeve Tom Deline said that the problem stemmed from the fact that the recreation committee was originally the Madoc recreation committee but since the building of the arena the three municipalities have been involved together. What we need is a director, and the municipalities divide up the costs, he said.

There is no downward flow from the committee at present Mr. Bailey pointed out. That is what makes the system work, having people responsible for seeing that the jobs are done, he said. You can't expect the people who are running the programs and coaching the teams to raise money as well. Can't there be a fund raising organization rather than the municipalities paying he asked. There are 15 people sitting on the committee could they not do something?

Councillor Joe Ash, one of the Madoc representatives on the recreation committee pointed out that the committee has been bogged down for the last three meetings with the budget, once that is out of the way they could do other things, he said.

Mr. Bailey suggested that the committee was in need of some direction from the councils. Spirit has really been missing, he said.

Councillor Ian Connerty, chairman of the recreation committee said that he would have to defend the committee. He pointed out that Mr. Bailey had not come out to the meetings yet minor hockey had received $6,000 from the committee, more than 50 per cent of the entire budget. No one on the committee is against recreation, he said. The position of the councillors is that they are trying to meet the needs of recreation while at the same time protecting the taxpayers dollars.

Mr. Connerty sees the rest of the problem being a change in the mandate of the councillors. In the past it was to foster recreation no matter what the deficit, now they are there to hold the line, to demand budgets before the expenditures.

"My own feeling is that we cannot bridge the gap between budgeting the money and encouraging recreation," he said. "The committee is not working to everyone's advantage. We have to make it more responsive. We must review the organization. The real question is, where from here?"

Deputy Reeve Daryl Kramp suggested that perhaps the committee should be split into two parts. One to administer the fund and look after the budget, the other to look after the operations, be the fund raisers and organizers.

Reeve Deline said that it would help to clear the lack of communication problem if the financial statements for the past three years were presented to the committee. If we have a look back we could then see to go forward. We must work together on this I'm willing to go to the next meeting, he said.

The next meeting of the recreation committee will be May 3 at the Fire Hall.

Well still untested

Councillor Ian Connerty is still worried about the state of Madoc's water. At the last council meeting in March a resolution was passed that J.D. Lee Engineering request the Ministry of the Environment to do a complete chemical analysis of the number two well.

As yet, Mr. Connerty noted at the April meeting, there has been no information received. He suggested that at the next meeting, if no results have been sent, a formal request be sent from the council.

One of the problems with the testing is, according to Deputy Reeve Daryl Kramp, is that the longer the well is pumped the stronger the test. The number two well was pumped 340 to 350 gallons during the time when there was a major break in the water line, however, now it is pumping 110 to 114 gallons.

Mr. Connerty said that he was still worried about the health hazard and suggested that a telegram be sent asking the ministry to send someone to come to Madoc and test the well. The water smelled like petroleum and if it is confirmed then, from what he knows of hydrocarbons, it may have carcinogenic properties.

Briefs from Madoc Council

William Taylor attended the Madoc Council, April 9 to report on two possible sites for a new well for the village which had been located by himself and Mel Caverley. The two sites are north of Duncan street. The first site is east of the senior citizen building, the second is east of the Dafoe house. The first may be contaminated with oil since a quantity of oil had been dumped in the vicinity in the past.

Mr. Taylor said that he was very pleased with the second site which is on high ground and would be in red sandstone which he feels is excellent since it is porous and usually allows a good supply of water.

The clerk was requested by Reeve Tom Deline to contact Geo-Environ to see if the Village was still bound to the same drillers.

Mr. Taylor suggested that a six and a quarter inch test hole be drilled first to check the site. This could not be done until the area has had a chance to dry up, he said.

Reeve Deline suggested that the village obtain a 120 day option to purchase the properties identified as possible well sites. Councillor Pigden advised that he had obtained an opinion of value on these properties.

This matter will receive further discussion at the Committee of the whole meeting with J.D. Lee Engineering on April 17.

Co-op purchase proposed

Reeve Tom Deline made a notice of motion at the April 9 meeting of council which he intends to make at the May Council meeting requesting that council entertain a bid or purchase on the old Co-Op building on the corner of St. Lawrence and Russell Streets.

The reason for the purchase is that the building would be torn down, removed, and the property levelled for use as a parking lot.

"This would eliminate one of the worst corners, from the standpoint of vision, in Madoc," the Reeve said in an interview following the meeting. "It would also create off-street parking within the centre core region of the village for use by commercial workers and general customers."

The Reeve felt the expenditure was justified because of the fact of the large income received from business taxes.

"I feel it is an appropriate move on behalf of council towards the downtown businessmen," he said. "It is also in keeping with the effort to maintain the viability of the downtown core."

This notice of motion is given so that residents in the village may make their feeling known in this matter. Any resident who wishes to attend the next meeting of council, May 7 at 6:30 p.m. may contact the clerk in this regard.

CHRC still needs restructuring

Sharleen French of the Centre Hastings Retraining Centre attended the Village of Madoc council meeting April 9 to inform members as to the progress being made in renovating the CHRC building and to clarify the aims and objectives of the project.

The Centre plans to employ mentally handicapped persons, Miss French explained. In the first stages of the program emphasis will be placed on helping these people to gain self-confidence, to establish some self-concept. They will be instructed in the use of tools, emergency equipment, first aid and safety procedures. As well they will be taught social skills such as the use of the telephone, how to tell time and how to follow instructions. The importance of proper exercise and nutrition will also be stressed.

The employees will also be made aware of the community and what services, such as banking, it offers.

"These people can help Madoc," said Miss French. "They can be contracted to do work at competitive wages. Improvements to the area could be made using their skills which may not have been possible otherwise for financial reasons. These people want to work. They are honest and trustworthy. The only limitations they have are those we place on them. I would ask for your support of this project whether it be moral or financial."

The Village has donated $100 towards the CHRC cause. However, as Miss French pointed out 20 per cent of the capital costs of the centre must be raised. To date

Deer Creek project may proceed

It is possible that the Deer Creek clean-up project may get off the ground this summer after all. Deputy Reeve Daryl Kramp reported to the Madoc Council last Monday night that in conversation with the Moira River Conservation Authority representative Tom Burnside and that Mr. Burnside had said that the actual damage that would be done to the banks by dredging the creek would not jeopardize the project. Mr. Kramp suggested that the council go ahead with plans for the project. It had previously been thought that the dredging would have to precede the landscaping.

Councillor Terry Pigden reported that he had discussed the Conservation budget with Mr. Burnside who advised him that some landscaping was planned for the conservation area. There would, however, be some funds remaining that would be available for other work.

Two suggestions were presented: one that the Kinsmen be assisted in their proposed fitness trail and that the heating system in the Whytock house be updated.

Madoc Council Briefs

At the regular meeting of the Village of Madoc, Council held April 9, Reeve Tom Deline informed Councillor Joe Ash that two requests had been received regarding streets. One was a request for paving on the north side of Prince Albert and the other was to improve the drainage ditch on the west side of Russell Street, in front of the dairy. Council discussed the need to provide additional services, such as this, in return for the business taxes received by the Village. This matter will be looked into April 17 when the council will be holding a committee of the whole meeting. The clerk was requested to have the amount of business tax paid by these businesses available for this meeting.

A request by Wayne Hagerman that council check over the subdivider's agreement pertaining to his proposed subdivision with Mr. Wade of J.D. Lee Engineering will also be done at the committee of the whole meeting April 17. Mr. Hagerman attended council to discuss matters concerning the subdivision. The clerk was requested to contact Niall Carney about the previously discussed matter of having road allowances and lot widths changed to the 50 foot requirements in the Official Plan from 60 foot widths.

A by-law was passed that will enforce the draining, cleaning or clearing of vacant lots in the village. This by-law will give the Fire Chief the right to inspect a lot, upon complaint, and should it be found hazardous the right to request the owner to clean it up or have the Village employees clean it up at the owner's expense.

Deputy Reeve Daryl Kramp advised council that the pipes and meters at the schools would require insulation. Two estimates have been received to date. Reeve Deline suggested this work should be put out for tender in the local paper.

A request from Madoc and District Chamber of Commerce for a grant of $500 towards the cost of producing a tourist brochure was tabled until more information can be received about the brochure. The Chamber is planning to produce 10,000 brochures. Councillor Terry Pigden questioned whether this printing had been put out for tenders and whether or not advertisers in the brochure would be charged. Chamber President Robert Bancroft will be invited to attend the next council meeting to explain these matters.

A letter was presented to council from Daryl Kramp requesting permission to establish a self-serve gas retail outlet on the lots on south Durham street known as L.E. Kramp and Son Ltd. Permission was granted with Mr. Kramp abstaining from voting. Mr. Kramp said he had no definite plans to follow up this option but wished it to remain open for the duration of the present council.

An application from a Gilmour resident for a taxi licence in Madoc was presented to council. Council felt it would be preferable for this service to be operated by a resident of Madoc. Councillor Pigden was requested to look into this possibility as well as check the matter of people operating taxi services in the village without a licence.

Council studied the fire alarm agreement with the City of Belleville. Councillor Pigden was not in agreement with sections of this agreement due to the condition of the Belleville equipment. The Village solicitor will be requested to examine the proposed agreement.

Deputy Reeve Kramp mentioned problems occurring with the waste disposal site. Refuse is not being placed in the proper areas possibly resulting in higher bulldozing costs, he said. He will be looking into this matter and further discussion will take place at the joint meeting of the three councils involved, Madoc, Madoc Township and Huntingdon Township on April 23.

The council concurred with a resolution of the Town of Tecumseh requesting legislation to require a 48 hour "cooling-off" period during which individuals who have signed an agreement of purchase and sale in the real estate field be allowed to cancel the said agreement.

Approval was given to a request by Robert Bancroft to construct a canopy over the entrance of the Madoc Hotel and extending across the sidewalk.

Canada Packers' Award

Garnet Pigden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Pigden, received a $500 scholarship for outstanding achievement in Business Administration at Sir Wilfred Laurier University. Phil Renouf of Canada Packers, presented the award with Dr. Max Stewart, Dean of the School of Business and Economics looking on.

CHRC still needs $1,800

$1,800 has been raised, half of the required $2,900.

Some discussion followed Miss French's presentation as to how the contractors for the project were hired. She explained that three bids were asked for in Marmora, Tweed and Madoc. One bid was $2,000 less than the other two and on that basis the contract was awarded. The contractor was given the right to subcontract work.

Councillor Ian Connerty said that as there are nine municipalities involved in the Centre which will include employees living within the Centre Hastings Secondary School bus route. If the $1,800 was split nine ways the cost would not be too difficult for the municipality to bear. He did not think that splitting it three ways between the three villages included in the area would be fair. Alternatively, he suggested that municipalities pay according to the number of employees from their area.

Deputy Reeve Kramp said that despite the criticism of the method of contracting the council wished the Centre all the best in its program.

"It is an important service to the community," Reeve Deline added. Councillor Pigden said the council should not give up on the project just as soon as it has begun. He will be attending the next meeting of the CHRC in his capacity as the community liaison representative of the village.

TOPS news

The events and happenings at the local club for March are as follows: March 7 the high loser was Shirley Holmes; March 14 Connie Armstrong was high loser; March 21 Shirley Holmes and on March 28 Irene Martin.

The high loser for the month was Arlene Tracey.

The meetings are every Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. in the Madoc Fire Hall.

Robert Kirkwood, Fire Chief, reported on several Fire Department matters. Mr. Kirkwood will be attending the Fire Chiefs' Convention on May 6 to 9. The joint meeting on April 23 with Huntingdon and Madoc Townships was discussed, several fire department matters will be handled at this meeting.

Mr. Kirkwood advised that the "Jaws of Life" fund had now reached the $4,000 mark. The firemen will be looking for money from outside the area in the future, he said. Bus companies and trucking firms which pass through the area will be approached as well as the Federal Government for a grant to assist in the payment of this valuable piece of equipment.

Residential lot of dispute

Council received two letters regarding the property owned by Tom Deline on the north side of Elgin Street between that owned by Robert O'Riordan and that of Lindsay Empey.

The first was from the law firm of Tenpleman and Kort, Belleville that represented Mr. Empey and Mr. O'Riordan at the Ontario Municipal Board meeting in Madoc Tuesday, March 26. It notified the village of the fact that, pursuant to the order of the OMB approving the residential zoning of lot mentioned the owner, Mr. Deline, should cease all commercial operations on that lot, remove all cars and restore the property to its former residential use. If this is not done within five days legal proceedings would follow.

The second letter from Mr. Deline's legal representative Bailey and Blair indicated that Mr. Deline had a legal defence with respect to the use of the back of the property, however, that this defence possibly would not extend to the use beyond the back portion of the lot.

Mr. Deline told members of council that he had taken the advice of his lawyer and removed the vehicles only from the front lot. Then since he was in conflict of interest he left the room.

The council decided that since the OMB decision that the Deline property was correctly zoned residential 1 had not yet been received in writing there was no action the Village could take on the matter, at this time.

Hockey pool winners

Congratulations to Mike Genereaux and Brian Hyde. Both were $25 winners in the Madoc Juvenile Hockey Pool. The pool was for the televised game on April 7, and the score was Toronto 6, Buffalo 2. Watch for your chance to play the pool and win.

For Ross Baker this election, like others he has contested, puts "the little guy, small business and small growth areas such as our riding of Hastings-Frontenac against big government, big political parties and monopolies...such as Farm Marketing Boards, Conservation Boards, Provincial and Federal Parks Boards, Subdivision Control Boards, large corporations..."

Mr. Baker is running in his third election, although this is his first federal Loyalist employees receive Venezuelan award

Four years ago Cora Munn and Pearl Vani of Loyalist College had never met a Venezuelan. Yet they were faced with the task of setting up an English program for 25 Venezuelan students - to prepare them for post-secondary education in an 11-month course.

The success of the Project Venezuela program is now history and two weeks ago the two women were honored for their achievements by the Venezuelan government. Munn and Vani were awarded plaques at a reception in Ottawa March 30.

Munn, coordinator of the program and Vani, student liaison officer, were among six Canadians who were honored for their "valuable contribution in the struggle to develop human resources in Venezuela."

It was the first time a foreign government has presented such an award to any Loyalist College staff members.

The awards, which came as a complete surprise to Munn and Vani, topped off four years of a challenging and successful program. For Munn, who has taught in the College's language department for 10 years, the task was to set up two courses to teach twenty-five 17 and 18 year-old Spanish-speaking students the same amount of English in 11 months that Canadians get in 12 years of school. Vani had a different challenge. She had to help the students, most of whom had never seen snow before, adapt to a new country and a different culture. She had to arrange everything for the students, from health care to immigration procedures. She also had to place them in Canadian homes, hoping it would improve their English.

Both Munn and Vani credit the hard-working Venezuelan students for making the program successful. A number of the students have gone on to post-secondary education (18 at Loyalist) and the program continues to run smoothly.

The Venezuelan scholarship program sponsors 18,000 students worldwide, 450 across Canada. There are currently 28 students at Loyalist. All of the students' costs, including room and board, are paid by the scholarship program. After they complete their education the students must work for their government for five years.

Munn says the oil-rich OPEC country started the program so it could develop its own technology and take the control of its economy away from the multinational businesses.

Hastings' children's services

Children's services in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties is being restructured as part of Ontario Ministry of Community and Social Services decentralization program.

The ministry wants to put more responsibility and control over children's services into the hands of the local government and to this end has established four pilot projects to test out the concept - one of these is in Hastings and Prince Edward.

As a first step they have established a Children's Services Committee with municipal and service provider and consumer representatives and will be holding informational meetings throughout the counties over the next two weeks.

According to a press release from Committee Chairman John Clemens of Tweed, "the task during the next four months of operation is to organize, collect effort, having contested provincial elections in 1975 and 1977 in Frontenac-Addington. He is 41 and a fourth generation resident of the original Baker homestead near Arden, Ontario; the homestead is now the site of the Baker's Valley Cross-Country Ski area which Mr. Baker operates. He is a graduate in economics from the University of Western Ontario.

Mr. Baker feels that the most difficult thing he has to fight as an independent candidate is the "conspiracy" of the three established parties. He feels that the parties are "controlled from the same source". As one example he points to a law "from the beginning of Confederation" that says no party can have a name which too closely resembles that of an existing party. "Since NDP and independent sound a lot alike and the Liberal and Conservative parties were in power at this time and did not object, then the NDP must have been formed by the Liberal and Conservative chiefs to erode independent support which they could not control."

Mr. Baker feels that independents are also at a distinct disadvantage financially.

although this has been rectified somewhat by the fact that he has been accredited as an "official" independent candidate. This means that donations given to his campaign, like to those to candidates from the established parties, are 75 per cent refundable with income tax. Mr. Baker feels however that the established parties have more clout with the media, giving them the "hidden advantage" of free news coverage during the early part of the campaign when no paid advertising is allowed.

Rollins:

Hastings County has always been considered part of new DREE area

According to Peterborough Hastings MLA Clarke Rollins, Hastings County is indeed part of the new "DREE" agreement being negotiated between the federal and provincial governments.

Responding to statement, a by Hastings-Frontenac Liberal candidate Ron Vastokas that the program would stop at the eastern boundary of Hastings County, Rollins said that "it has never been a question of whether or not Hastings would be included in the plan, but whether Peterborough, Haliburton and Muskoka would be. Hastings has always been included."

The agreement, which is actually a $50 million extension of DREE (federal Department of Regional Economic Expansion) would be aimed at the resource sector and tourism, it might also be used for agricultural programs since the federal government has dropped its agricultural development programs.

Some of the money has already been allocated there is a hybrid poplar plantation near Kemptonville that is funded under DREE but the exact details of the program, such as the boundaries, have not been completely negotiated between the two governments.

In his statement of the subject, Mr. Rollins stated that, while Mr. Vastokas was misinformed, he did not feel that he had intentionally misled the public. For his part, Mr. Vastokas said he was pleased that Hastings was included. "This is an excellent example of what can happen when politicians work together" he said.

Inside CHSS:

French students need self-confidence

Savoir faire may not be everywhere but at least one-third of the school population knows what it is. The French program encompasses grades nine through 13 with an extra course in grade 13 for those who enjoy working on an individual program.

David Brazeau is the head of the French Department. His approach to the subject is that it is fun to learn a second language. He tries to use everyday expressions and proverbs to convey the language and at the same time make it interesting for the students. Common questions are spoken in French, but in a predominantly English-speaking area it is difficult to put a great deal of emphasis on oral French since there are so few places to actually hear it spoken.

However, now that funds are becoming harder to find at the University level some institutions of higher learning are raising their standards and requiring French as one of their prerequisites for admission to some courses. This may help to keep the enrolment figures in French up in the future.

The 75 minute periods keep Mr. Brazeau busy and desk work must be left for the student to do at home. The idea of homework is not popular with today's students so he must test frequently to keep them on their toes.

Each year 40 students travel to Quebec for four days to visit the Carnival. This is when a student can have an opportunity to put what he has been learning into practice.

But many people lack the self-confidence to try to speak another language. They seem to be afraid that others will laugh at them. This fear is unfounded, Mr. Brazeau claims.

"If you hear a French person speaking English, he may not pronounce every sound correctly but that doesn't bother you. A person should not be afraid of someone laughing at him, it doesn't happen," he said.

Centre Hastings offers Spanish as well as French in grades 10 through 12. In two years German will be reintroduced.

David Brazeau is head of the French department at Centre Hastings Secondary School. One-third of the student population are taking French.

Around the village

by Jean Asselstine

Mrs. Aletha Bobier, from Scarboro spent the April 1 weekend with her cousin Mrs. Annie Alt.

Saturday, April 7 Conway Twitty and his group, stopped at the Windmill Restaurant on their way to their opening at the Civic Auditorium in Ottawa on Sunday April 8. They spoke with the proprietor, Mr. Bill Willemssen telling him how much they enjoyed our country and our hospitality.

Wayne Willemssen, Bud Lloyd and Shane Mason have left Canada for a five month tour of Several European countries.

Jennifer Sprague has been spending two weeks with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sprague and sisters before starting a three year course at Niagra Park Commission School of Horticulture in Niagara.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sprague and Jennifer spent the weekend recently in Pembroke visiting Mrs. Sprague's sister and her husband.

A dog's food should never be served hot or chilled.

Bannockburn News

by Jo-Anne Lake

Very shortly Bannockburn will be in glorious colour. It appears that everyone worked feverishly last fall and planted an abundance of tulips. It's nice to know that everyone takes pride in living in Bannockburn.

H.P. Auto Service, formerly Warrens Garage, is getting a complete face lifting done. It's amazing what a little paint and imagination will do. We are eagerly awaiting the grand opening.

The Pentecostal W.M.C. ladies group met at the home of Julie Anderson on Tuesday evening. There was a good attendance at the meeting. Everyone was given quilt blocks to work on for the next month. Everyone is welcomed to attend the meetings held the first Tuesday of every month.

Ewart and Irene Lake visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bonter in Marmora on Tuesday. They were happy to see and visit with Steve Bonter who was home visiting from Toronto.

It certainly is good to have my feet back on Canadian soil again. We enjoyed our trip but it seems there have been quite a lot of hurricanes down in Texas this last week. I'm glad they waited until we left to hit.

The Bannockburn Angels are very excited about getting back at baseball this year. We are in the process of trying to help organize a new league, with Cooper Eldorado, Madoc and Millbridge. This will be a purely fun league one night a week with no broken bones, I hope. We hope to have our first car wash Saturday, May 5, to raise money to buy baseball pants for the team. If your car needs a spring cleaning bring it to the park north of Bannockburn, left hand side at the date mentioned for an expert job.

Church will celebrate anniversary

The Madoc Wesleyan and Free Methodist Church will be celebrating its anniversary April 21-22 with special services on Saturday evening beginning at 7:30, and Sunday morning and evening.

This church is one of the newer congregations in Madoc having its beginning in 1957. In August of 1971 the Free Methodist and Wesleyan Methodist congregations joined together to form one church family for the service of God in the Madoc community. They have been continuing in this fellowship ever since.

To help celebrate this anniversary the Youth In One Accord Revival Team from Houghton College will be ministering in the scheduled services. This team will present a challenge to reality through conservative, contemporary music with a message, personal testimony to the relevance of Jesus Christ today, and a message from the Bible.

Teaching school has its funny side.

Here are some gems that have been collected. Content and spelling are unchanged.

"Mary Ann was absent 11/15 because she had a fever, sore throat, headache - and upset stomach, her sister was also sick - fever, sore throat, her brother had a low grade temp and a gall over. I wasn't feeling the best either, sore throat, fever. There must be the flu going around. Even her father got hot last night."

Chrysler Canada announces the new 5/80 Protection Plan.

5 YEARS OR 80,000km

This Chrysler option protects you for 5 years or 80,000 km on the power train.
Two years longer than any other North American car maker's Plan.

You begin to appreciate what Chrysler engineering means when you compare how long we're willing to stand behind the most complex, and costly, engineering system in the entire car or truck: the power train. The Chrysler Canada 5/80 Protection Plan for 5 years or 80,000 km, whichever comes first, gives you longer coverage than GM or Ford by two full years.

Protection covers all major power train components.

When you buy the Chrysler 5/80 Protection Plan, you get coverage that includes both the cost of parts and labour for repair of major components in your vehicle's engine, transmission or transaxle, drive axle, and drive shaft. You pay only the first $50 of the total cost of repairs made to these power train components during a repair visit.

The only other requirement adds up to just plain good sense: use your car or truck in a normal way and give it the routine maintenance called for in your Owner's Manual. Do this, and the major components of the entire power train are protected from expensive repair bills for 5 years or 80,000 km from the time you take original delivery of your vehicle.

Available to buyers of new 1979 Chrysler Canada cars and trucks.

The Chrysler 5/80 Protection Plan is available to original individual retail buyers of most new 1979 Chrysler, Dodge and Plymouth vehicles purchased for personal use starting April 10, 1979. And the same low suggested retail price applies whether you lease or buy your car or truck. You can pay in a lump sum, charge it, or as with any other option, you can include it in your monthly payments.

You have up to 60 days to make up your mind.

You can buy your Chrysler 5/80 Protection Plan at the same time as you buy your vehicle, or up to 60 days after. However, if you wish, you can cancel within 60 days of purchase and you'll still get a full refund from Chrysler Canada.

Your protection includes coverage for towing, car rental, even a toll free number to call for help.

If you have a problem with a component covered by the Plan causing your vehicle to be out of use overnight while being repaired, you get a car rental allowance that starts when you purchase the Plan: up to $15 a day for up to 5 days per repair visit.

CHRYSLER PROTECTION PLAN

Should your vehicle need to be towed because of a problem with a covered power train component, you'll be reimbursed up to $25 per tow starting after your new vehicle warranty period expires.

And if power train trouble occurs while you're on the road, you can call a Chrysler Canada operator for assistance, toll free, seven days a week. Toll free numbers for Canada and the U.S. are listed on the back of the Ownercard which you will receive with the Plan.

It's Chrysler Canada's contract with you. You can call over 5,000 Dodge and Plymouth dealers all over Canada and the U.S.

Because this is a manufacturer-backed Plan, you have over 5,000 Dodge and Plymouth dealerships to call for assistance. If you are travelling and are unable to let your selling dealer service your vehicle, just take it to any Dodge or Plymouth dealer, show him your special Ownercard with your Vehicle Identification Number, and you'll be taken care of.

Today, with inflation and the costs of repairs almost constantly on the rise, the price you pay for Chrysler 5/80 Protection could very well be recovered by only one visit to your dealer! That's an indication of Chrysler Canada's confidence in the engineering of our products, and of the quality you can expect in the new Chrysler, Dodge or Plymouth you buy.

Here are the Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Prices for the Chrysler 5/80 Protection Plan

Passenger Cars and Station Wagons	Suggested Retail Price
Colt, Arrow	$196
Challenger, Sapporo, Omni, Omni 024, Horizon, Horizon TC3	$210
Aspen, Volare	$232
Diplomat, Caravelle, LeBaron, Cordoba, Magnum XE	$257
Newport, New Yorker, Fifth Avenue	$281
Light Trucks and Vans
Dodge D50	$226
Dodge Pickup (2-wheel drive)	$257
Compact Vans and Wagons, Sport Utility (2-wheel drive)	$289
Cut-Off Van ("MB" Model)	$398
All 4-wheel Drive Trucks	$459

NOTE: DEALERS MAY SELL FOR LESS

Chrysler Canada protection gets stronger and stronger.

1. You're protected by the Chrysler 12-month 20,000 km warranty that applies to every new car or truck.
2. You're protected by the Chrysler 36-month Anti-Corrosion Warranty for perforation caused by corrosion, with no limit on the distance you drive.
3. And now you can be protected by the Chrysler 5/80 Protection Plan, the longest offered in North America.

SPECIAL NO-CHARGE INTRODUCTORY OFFER

From now until May 10, 1979, the optional Chrysler 5/80 Protection Plan will be yours at no extra cost when you buy or lease a new 1979 Dodge Aspen or Diplomat, Plymouth Volare or Caravelle, Chrysler LeBaron, Dodge Van or 2-Wheel Drive Domestic Pickup.

Attorney General launches attack on drinking and driving

By the Honourable R. Roy McMurtry
Attorney General for Ontario

Last year 95,644 persons, including pedestrians, passengers and drivers, were injured on Ontario roads and highways, and 1,420 were killed.

Drinking drivers were involved in 28% of all motor vehicle accidents that resulted in fatalities. Of the total number of drivers killed, 58% were found to have been impaired or drinking. Tragically, young people between the ages of 16 and 20 accounted for a large proportion of the fatalities.

If everyone does his part, a lot can be done to lower these alarming statistics. But first, we need a clear understanding of how alcohol affects us. Our bodies burn up alcohol very slowly. It takes at least an hour, and longer in some persons, for the liver to burn up one standard drink (12 ounces of beer, 5 ounces of wine or 1½ ounces of distilled spirits).

Alcohol attacks the central nervous system, a fact that is especially critical for drivers. The nerve impulses to the legs and feet are up affected first and respond slowly to stimuli which tell the driver to brake or accelerate. The outcome in terms of human suffering can be disastrous.

Why then do people drink and drive? In a test survey conducted in Etobicoke, this question was posed to last year's convicted drivers. Some of them simply thought they'd take a chance on not getting caught. Others felt they had a legal right to drink and drive, forgetting that to drive is a privilege that entails substantial responsibilities to fellow citizens.

CHALK UP ANOTHER ONE TO DRINKING. This recent Metropolitan Toronto Police photo is used to illustrate posters for the "Don't Drink and Drive" campaign now underway in Ontario.

St. Peter's Women's Club held meeting

The April meeting of St. Peter's Women's Club, Madoc, was held in the Sunday School rooms on the afternoon of April 2 as a combined meeting with the Women's Missionary Society.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Jeanette Raynsford, who welcomed all who came in spite of the rainy afternoon. She gave a reading "The Other Side" in keeping with the theme of "Easter".

The hymn "Hallelujah, Hallelujah" was sung with Mrs. Edith Aylsworth at the piano. Miss Lamoine West read the Scripture lesson John 20, verses 11-21. The Easter Story was read from "Meditations" by Mrs. Mary Trotter and Mrs. Reta Pitts, followed by the hymn "The Day of Resurrection".

Mrs. Janice Nelson, accompanied by Mrs. Aylsworth, sang a beautiful solo "Beside Still Waters."

The guest speaker, Mrs. Margaret Taylor, of St. Columba's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, was introduced by Mrs. Irene Stout, of Belleville, a former member of St. Peter's in Madoc. Mrs. Stout, in her introduction, told that Mrs. Taylor, a former Presbyterian minister's daughter, has held many positions on various boards of the Presbyterian Church and has travelled throughout Canada in this work.

Mrs. Taylor gave an inspiring address in which she emphasized the need for Bible Study and prayer as well as the need for funds for expansion. She cited many special cases where money was needed.

In closing she stressed that each one of us is unique, and has a special gift and you should "Use Your Gift and become what you are".

She was thanked by Mrs. Ivah Woods. The offering was dedicated by Mrs. Pearl Blakely.

Several announcements were made, one being that our annual Lilac Tea and Bake Sale is to be held Thursday, May 31 in the Church basement.

The meeting was closed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer and the Benediction.

Mrs. Raynsford thanked all who helped with the program and lunch.

Consumer Casebook

If the number of complaints being received at the Centre regarding mistakes by checkout clerks is anywhere near correct, either supermarkets are indifferent or they employ a lot of clerks whose mathematical ability is questionable.

We are told by our clients that every time they shop, they find, upon checking their groceries with their bill that there are errors - always on the side of the supermarket. Now, we don't believe that supermarkets have to indulge in this sort of practice, nor that they know that it is going on. However, we feel that there has to be more accountability at the check outs.

What to do? Well, most of us are intimidated by long lines of other customers wanting to be processed so we are inclined to swallow our pride and say nothing. On the other hand, if we wait until we get home most of us feel that it is too late or don't want to be bothered to take all our groceries back for re-checking, so we do nothing.

Our suggestion is that before you shop, make a full list and jot down the prices. Purchase one of those little pocket calculators and record every purchase. You may make the occasional error but your total will be near enough to allow you to estimate if you are in the ballpark.

It's embarrassing we know to hold up a long line of other customers but we are saying if you feel your bill is incorrect make a fuss.

Ask, politely, to have the items put through the register again. If you are refused, call the manager, if he refuses, abandon them at the checkout and take your business elsewhere. Then write to head office, if they don't satisfy you, take your complaint to the Customer Services Officer of the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations. He is located in Peterborough at 139 George Street North.

information about children's services in the two counties and communicate with the public as to the role of the committee.

"Eventually the committee is to assume the responsibility for allocating funds to ensure that children have access to the full range of services in the community. After initial planning the committee is to examine the needs of children in the area, finding gaps and duplication of service and assistance for hard to place children. That is expected to take about one year and will be followed by an eighteen month to two year period of budget reviewing and priority setting and planning."

Subcommittees on personnel, property and finance, constitution have been struck. An executive director will be hired and office established in the near future.

Local representatives on the committee are the Clemens, Marmora and Lake Townships' Reeve Graham Bell and Marilyn Brooks of Stirling. The public meeting for the Centre Hastings area will be held in the Madoc Public School on Wednesday, April 25 at 8:00 p.m. People wanting more information should contact Marilyn Brooks at 395-3447.

course. The provincial grant is decreased by $110,000 which is an average increase of about $3 in taxes instead of $46.

The other $43 average increase is caused by the $2.1 million increase in the budget of the Hastings Board of Education. The $2.1 million mentioned in the same article is called slightly over two million. The word slightly accounts for the $100,000 or .1 million, which is the same amount as the cut by the ministry. Amazing how different it looks when you try to deceive the people.

The article then goes on to tell us that 2.1 million presents 4.7 per cent. Simple arithmetic tells us that an increase of 2.1 over an original 41.8 is 5.024 per cent not 4.7.

Let us wonder whether Mr. Fraser Rose, the chairman of the Board, made the mistake or the Intelligencer. Mr. Rose is also a teacher....Let us hope that mathematics is not his field!

May I ask you here, Mr. Rose, why there should be an increase in day school instruction costs? The reason I ask, Mr. Rose, is that teachers salaries per teacher are expected to increase by 5 per cent and the enrolment to be down by an equal percentage or 5 per cent. The cost therefore should remain constant....unless 32,000,000 plus 1,600,000 minus 1,600,000 equals 34,000,000 instead of 32,000,000. I assure you that no matter how low educational standards have been kept in some areas there will be not one person in Hastings County disagreeing with me.

Your statement therefore that in view of the inflation rate of 9 per cent a 4.7 per cent (actually 5.024 per cent) increase is a good and justifiable performance is illogical and the taxpayers of Hastings County will not swallow this any longer.

THE HASTINGS COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

Auditors' Report

TO THE SUPPORTERS OF THE HASTINGS COUNTY OF BOARD OF EDUCATION

We have examined the Consolidated Balance Sheet of The Hastings County Board of Education as at December 31, 1978, and the Revenue Fund and the Capital Fund Statements of Operations for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests and other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Board as at December 31, 1978, and the results of its operations and the changes in its financial position for the year then ended in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles for Ontario school boards applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
FOR THE YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 1978

1. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Those accounting policies deemed to be significant are as follows:

- Consolidated Balance Sheet
The Consolidated Balance Sheet reflects the combined assets and liabilities of the Revenue Fund, Capital Fund and the Reserve for Future Capital Expenditures. The Balance Sheet combines the figures of the elementary and secondary schools.
- Accrual Accounting
The accrual method for reporting revenue and expenditure has been used with the exception of reporting of charges for net long-term liabilities. Principal and interest charges on debentures outstanding are not accrued from the due date of the last payment to the end of the fiscal year.
Expenditure is reported in the period in which goods were received or the services rendered. Goods received during the period are charged directly to the appropriate expense accounts and no inventories of goods and supplies remaining on hand at the end of the period are reflected.
- Expenditure - Trainable Retarded
All data with respect to the operations of schools for the trainable retarded are incorporated in the financial statements for secondary schools.
- Fixed Assets
Fixed assets are charged to current expenditure unless financed by long-term debt. Principal and interest charges on net long-term liabilities are included in expenditure in the period due.
Fixed assets, described as capital outlay to be recovered in future years, are included on the Capital Fund Balance Sheet only to the extent of the balances of the related net long-term liabilities outstanding and of the related temporary financing at the end of the fiscal year.
Proceeds on the sale of land and buildings is recorded when title passes on closing.
- Net Long-Term Liabilities
Debentures are recorded as unamortized debenture debt in the year of sale.
(1) Employees Sick Leave Credit Plans - Retirement Gratuities
Under the Employees Sick Leave Credit Plan presently in existence, an academic employee, or any employee who is in a designated capacity of employment under Regulation 810 Section 20 (The Teachers' Superannuation Act), having not less than five consecutive years of full-time service with The Hastings County Board of Education and who ceases to be employed by the Board because of age or who, for reasons of ill health acceptable to the Board and who, upon retirement, is entitled to a pension under the Teachers' Superannuation Act shall be eligible to receive a retirement gratuity equal to one-half of the number of cumulative sick leave days accumulated with the Board to a maximum of 200 days multiplied by the employee's salary at the time of retirement and prorated as to the number of consecutive years of full-time service with the board to a maximum of 20 years. This basis and formula is also applicable to non-teaching employees of the Board except that the maximum accumulated days is 240.
The Education Act 1974, Section 155 (1) limits the amount of gratuity to a maximum of one-half year's earnings at the rate received by the employee immediately prior to termination of employment.
The estimated cost of these accumulated days as at December 31, 1978, to the extent that they may be used to determine the retirement gratuity to an employee on retirement, amounts to approximately $2,185,000 for elementary and $2,719,000 for secondary at the end of the year. No provision has been made on account of the Employees Sick Leave Credit Plan in these financial statements. Payments to retiring employees are recorded in the year an employee retires and these payments amounted to $69,386 in 1978 and $101,599 in 1977.

2. DEBT CHARGES AND CAPITAL LOAN INTEREST

The expenditure for debt charges and capital loan interest reported in the Revenue Fund Statement of Operations includes principal and interest payments as follows:

Incredible Bulk opens in Havelock Plaza

By Jeannette Moore

With the opening last Tuesday of the Incredible Bulk in the Havelock Plaza, something new in the way of food outlets for this area was introduced - a bulk food store. New for these times, that is, but perhaps reverting to the way things were originally sold from Havelock's early grocery stores where the bins of sugar and other staples provided the shopper with quantities as large or small as wished with none of the present-day pre-packaging.

The store has been started by Pat Vatta with assistance from her husband Dario. The young couple, who live on a farm on the 5th line of Asphodel west of Norwood have patterned the Incredible Bulk food store after some of the health food outlets that have sprung up in recent years, but unlike these health stores they are not outlawing some of the foods people buy in bulk such as sugar, noodles, etc. Pat first was impressed by the bulk food store idea when she saw a shop that opened in Stouffville and she has transferred some of the ideas as well as obtaining some of her stock from the Stouffville outlet. She finds it such a good idea - to bring your own containers to the store, help yourself to the quantity you want and pay for it by the pound or ounce. One in effect buys wholesale with the addition of only the Vatta's profit, eliminating the middleman packaging, advertising and consequent costs. For anything of a liquid or viscous nature such as soya oil, molasses, peanut butter and pie filling which the store supplies in huge drums, the customer should take jars or bottles, and weigh the container before and after filling. One customer brought in an empty cinnamon jar for which she had originally paid $1.25 filled, and refilled it for only 25 cents - a saving of 500 per cent. At present Pat has in stock to which she will be adding items shelled nuts and nuts in the shell, seeds (sunflower, sesame) coconut, raisins, popcorn, milk powder, rolled oats, pot barley, lentils, cornmeal, whole wheat and unbleached white flour, tea, dates, honey and spices, to name a few things a hasty

Pat Vatta stands dispensing staples at some of the pails in which bulk food is stored at the new Incredible Bulk headquarters in Havelock Plaza. She claims savings can be made by eliminating assessment tallied up. And from their farm, they will supply "healthy eggs" from hens that are allowed to roam. Pat has this theory which is expounded by some the packaging, and allowing the customer to buy by weight in the amounts required. Prospective customers should take along bags and jars to hold the dry and liquid foodstuffs.

health enthusiasts that the cholesterol in an egg is only harmful when the hens are under stress. If they are allowed to walk about and scratch for their food they develop lecithin which aids in dispersing the cholesterol. There are still some rows of empty bins in the store soon to be filled with macaroni, spaghetti and noodles.

Store hours are Tuesday through Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Fridays 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays are closed days at present, but plans are for summer openings.

Last week the coffee percolator was dispensing a steaming brew for store visitors along with goodies made from store products and the recipes for the goodies. "New recipes will be available each month" says Pat.

To herald their opening the Vattas are giving out 100 cards to fill in with name and address. The 100th visitor will signal time to draw for three prizes - $10 in merchandise, a needlecraft kit and a bottle of bath essence.

Pat and Dario Vatta with their three young sons moved from Sutton to the farm near Norwood last year and began raising just about everything a farm should raise from good old-fashioned barred rock chickens to kittens. Pat is a teacher and has been working part-time when a spare teacher is required but wanted something at which she can put in a full day's work. She has, in her first year in the area, proven a dynamo in getting various enterprises started. She worked last year with the LaLeche group in Peterborough (a movement dedicated to providing breastfeeding information to mothers) and this year she heads a new group in Campbellford. In addition she is a community liaison officer for adult extension courses out of Sir Sandford Fleming College besides, in her free time, arranging parties for a needlecraft and personal toiletry club.

She is glad to be opening in Havelock, she says, as the village is central and gives her another station from which to carry on all these extracurricular activities. During weekdays then, she can now be contacted at 778-7011.

Canadore offers Artsperience in outdoors

A unique vacation experience combining the beauty of Northern Ontario outdoor life with the opportunity to work with professional artists is offered by Canadore College in North Bay this summer.

Expeditions by canoe to wilderness areas near Temagami will be a feature of the Canadore Summer Artsperience during July, 1979. Two expeditions in "Photography" and "Painting and Sketching" will be offered in cooperation with the Grey Owl Festival, which has been inaugurated this year by the Temagami Historical Society. Participants will travel by land or canoe to a base camp for their workshops in the areas which Archie Belaney, better known as "Grey Owl", travelled while living in the Temagami wilderness area.

The noted Canadian photographer, Robert R. Taylor, will lead the photography expedition. Mr. Taylor, a resident of Winnipeg, is one of Canada's foremost nature photographers. His work is published in the current issue of Wilderness Canada magazine. He has received major exposure in Nature Canada and The Beaver, a publication of the Hudson's Bay Company. He was recently awarded the designation "Craftsman of Photographic Art" by the Canadian Professional Photographers Association. Mr. Taylor's expedition will be of interest to fans of black and white photography as well as colour photography. "The Workshop will concentrate on having the participants learning to see in new ways, as well as looking at aspects of light in the environment" Mr. Taylor said. The photography expedition is scheduled for July 23 to 27.

Dennis Geden will lead the Wilderness Expedition in Sketching and Painting, to run from July 16 to July 20. Mr. Geden, a native of North Bay, has received increasing international recognition for his paintings, watercolour compositions and lithography. He was a member of the 1978 Artsperience faculty, and led a highly successful workshop in Watercolour Techniques.

Hap Wilson, author of Temagami Canoe Routes, and well-known guide in the area will accompany the expeditions. The fee for the week is $200.00 inclusive.

The second annual Canadore Summer Artsperience also offers one-, two- and three-week workshops in the areas of visual arts, crafts, theatre, music, dance and writing.

It is attracting instructors of national and international repute. In 1978, its first summer, it attracted participants from across Ontario and many other provinces.

A special feature is the Junior Program designed for children of adult participants providing experiences in the arts for those under 16 years.

Special social events have also been arranged to enable participants to get together with other participants and the various artists. These include barbecues, concerts and information discussion groups with the artists.

Economical, modern townhouse accommodation is available at the College Centre Campus which contains 710 acres of forest and over 14 kilometers of hiking trails.

For an Artsperience brochure listing all workshops, dates, residence accommodation, Junior Programs and special activities write: Artsperience, Canadore College, P.O. Box 5001, North Bay, Ontario P1B 8K9 or phone (705)476-2111.

Municipalities receive energy assistance from province

Municipalities in Ontario are receiving assistance in their efforts to save energy and tax dollars.

A newly created Provincial-Municipal Joint Steering Committee on Energy Conservation last week contacted the 837 municipalities in the province to encourage them to undertake voluntary energy conservation programs, and to offer guidance.

The committee was formed following an appeal last fall by Ontario Energy Minister James Auld to the Provincial Municipal Liaison Committee (PMLC). The Municipal Liaison Committee (MLC), the municipal arm of the organization, designated the Association of Counties and Regions of Ontario (ACRO) as its representative on the joint steering committee.

"More and more municipalities are starting to examine their operations to identify ways in which they can reduce energy consumption to save tax dollars," Mr. Auld said. "Through this new committee the Ontario Government can share with them our several years of experience in reducing energy consumption in provincial government operations."

Most Ontario municipalities are spending an estimated 8 to 12 per cent of their property tax revenue on energy. In 1977, municipalities with a population of 70,000 spent roughly $1 million - about 10 per cent of their property taxes - on energy bills.

The committee urged all municipalities to undertake programs which would include:

the approval of a resolution by Council to participate in a voluntary energy conservation program the appointment of an energy co-ordinator to serve as a contact between the municipal council and the joint steering committee the participation of the appointed co-ordinator in energy conservation seminars the development of an internal reporting system to verify energy savings.

The committee stressed that such a program would not involve the hiring of additional staff at the municipal level or the need to increase municipal budgets. On the contrary, with even the most elementary steps, tax dollars can be saved.

"Our aim is to increase energy awareness at the municipal level. This involves the introduction of straightforward, housekeeping, measures rather than capital spending."

Co-chairmen of the committee are Walter Beath, chairman of the Regional Municipality of Durham and chairman of the Municipal Liaison Committee, and Dr. Ian Rowe, executive co-ordinator of the conservation and renewable energy group of the Ministry of Energy.

Earlier this year, the Ministry of Energy issued to municipalities a guide to energy conservation in public buildings and made available a booklet and film identifying opportunities for municipalities to save money through the conservation of energy.

Small game season opens late September

Ontario's seasons for small game, such as game birds, rabbits and squirrels, will open in 1979 on the last Saturday in September to coincide with the opening date for waterfowl hunting in many southern parts of the province.

The hunting zones are the same as those described in the 1978 hunting summary, with the exception of zones 11 and 12 which have been changed and he addition of number 13 as a new zone. Zone 13 encompasses a 10-mile strip along the Hudson Bay shoreline from the Manitoba border to the Brant River.

Zones 12 and 13 correspond to areas with an extended season for sharp-tailed grouse and ptarmigan. The grouse and ptarmigan season in Zone 13 will open on September 11, four days earlier than last year, and will coincide with the opening of the waterfowl season to provide additional hunting opportunities.

Ducks, ducks, ducks

April is one of the best months of the year to see waterfowl, according to the Federation of Ontario Naturalists. As they wing their way northward towards breeding grounds in the Arctic or the prairies, many ducks make use of Ontario's fields and rivers for rest and refreshment. While about 20 species of ducks can be seen in Ontario over the course of spring migration, some are much more common than others. Biologists have grouped ducks into two categories - dabblers and divers. At this time of year, dabblers are often found on flooded fields or shallow marshes, where their trip-up method of feeding allows them to reach the small plants and invertebrates along the bottom. Divers, on the other hand, actually swim under water to capture their prey, and are often conspicuous on large rivers or lakes.

Migratory ducks are congenial fellows, usually flocking together to show off their fine spring plumage and squabble politely over future mates. A closer look at a flooded marsh will often reveal Mallards, with males sporting flashy green headgear and a rich chestnut waistcoat. Sometimes alongside will be Pintails, their elegant necks with distinctive white stripe and long spikey tails presenting one of the most graceful waterfowl profiles. Smaller, less colourful ducks are probably Blue-winged Teal, who show a distinctive white crescent in front of their eyes.

One of the most frequent divers on flood-swollen rivers is the Common Goldeneye. These "whistlers", which produce an audible whistling sound from the wings while flying, show snowy white undersides and a dime-sized white spot just below the eye. Another river duck, the Bufflehead, has similar markings but is smaller with a prominent white crest behind the eye. These rotund little "butterballs" always seem to be in good spirits, splashing and chasing each other in rapid, twisting flight.

If you are just beginning to take an interest in watching birds, ducks are one of the easiest groups to get started on. During April, they are easily seen and relatively tame, and their large size and distinctive markings helps make identification easy. On your way to work, or on trips across the countryside, keep an eye on those flooded fields and swollen rivers - you may be surprised how quickly you can learn our common spring ducks.

CA's tax advice on TV covers new child credit

More than a million people will be filing income tax returns this year for the first time in their lives.

They are mostly mothers, who receive family allowance and must file a return in order to get the new child tax credit.

The child credit amounts to $200 for each child born after 1960 to families whose combined net income does not exceed $18,000. Families whose net income is more than $18,000 can also qualify, but the amount of the credit is reduced by five per cent of the income over $18,000.

For example, a family with one child would have to have a total income of $22,000 before it became ineligible for any credit. A family with two children would have to make $26,000 to be ineligible.

The credit is claimed by the person who receives the family allowance - usually the mother. She should have received a copy of the tax form Schedule 10 with her January 1979 family allowance cheque. The form is also available at all Revenue Canada offices and at the post offices - but it does not come with the other schedules attached to the income tax returns.

Schedule 10 is very straightforward. You fill in the number of eligible children, your net income for the year and your spouse's net income. Based on the combined family incomes, you calculate what your credit will be. Both spouses must sign the form.

The person filing for the tax credit - the person who receives the family allowance cheques - must also fill out a 1978 personal income tax return. If you did not have any income in 1978, just complete the top part of page 1 of your return - your name, address and social insurance number. Enter zero as your taxable income at line 60. Then turn to page 4 and complete the section at the bottom of the page that shows you have a refund coming. If you had income, you must complete the other areas that apply to you.

If you do not have a social insurance number, apply for one immediately. Application forms are available at any post office, unemployment insurance office or Canada employment centre. You can file the return without having a social insurance number, but it will be much easier for you in future if you obtain the number before you file.

The child tax credit does not affect your spouse's eligibility to claim tax exemptions and the federal tax reduction for your children. These provisions still apply.

It is a lot of filling in of forms - but take the time to do it. Do not pass up the opportunity of receiving a much as $200 per child.

That is the kind of advice you will get if you watch You and Your Income Tax - a television show produced by The Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario to answer questions about personal income tax.

TV personality Tom Cherrington asks the questions, chartered accountants Lyman MacInnis and Ed Stewart give the answers. They talk about tax credits, exemptions and deductions. They give advice on what to do if you owe tax and cannot pay it all and they tell you what types of income are taxable.

Tune in - especially if you are doing your own tax return this year. You might as well benefit from the advice of a chartered accountant.

Chartered accountants Ed Stewart and Lyman MacInnis discuss income tax with host Tom Cherrington (middle) on the set of You and Your Income Tax.

One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

The headlines in last week's daily papers looked great: Amusement park near Toronto to provide 2,000 student jobs. Great news, huh?

An agreement signed to build a $105-million amusement park in Maple, 32 kilometres north of Toronto, scheduled to open in early 1981. Canada's Wonderland, it will be called. Owned and operated by Family Leisure Centres of Canada Ltd. Family Leisure owned 75 per cent by Taft Broadcasting Co., a yankee firm in Cincinnati, and 25 per cent by Great West Life Assurance Co. of Winnipeg.

Total equity of about $58 million. Balance of funds in long-term loans from Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, Prudential Insurance Co. of America, Standard Life Assurance Co., Toronto Dominion Bank and Lumberman's Mutual Casualty Co.

Permanent staff of 250. More than 2,000 high school and college students will find seasonal employment at the site.

Two million visitors a year.

Great stuff for Ontario, right?

Right, if you're only looking at figures and jobs.

Wrong if you're trying to save farm land in Ontario.

It is another classic example of selling farming short. It is proof that this province is paying only lip service to the idea of preserving farm land.

Because that amusement park will gobble up 320 acres of land. It will also gobble up a few hundred more acres in peripheral building such as fast food outlets, motels, roads, gas stations and everything else that surrounds a metal-and-tinsel, phony fairyland which will probably have an over-abundance of yankee bullroar attractions.

In ten years' time, the entire area will be transformed into a summer-time mess, a blot on the landscape, a sore on the side of progress.

It's only 320 acres now. Double that for auxiliary services. Triple it for farm land because no farmer will be able to work within 10 miles of the place because the land will be too damned expensive.

I think it's a shame. A downright, rotten, lowdown shame that so many acres of land will be buried under ticky-tacky buildings, stores, pavement and asphalt, circus rides, boutiques, games and cartoon characters.

Land sharks, I understand, moved into the area a year ago offering fantastic prices for land surrounding the proposed park. I still maintain the project, if needed, could have been located on poor land instead of good land.

But no. The bucks talk.

Listen to the words of Charles S. Mechem, chairman of Taft Broadcasting. "In total, within 150 miles of the park location are 9.5 million people."

It matters not that less than one-fifth of the total land mass that is Canada is viable agricultural land. It matters not that, in 10 years time, more than 1,000 acres of that land will be lost to farmers forever. It matters not to the money boys that someday, Canadians will be weeping because there is not enough good land left within 100 miles of Toronto to support a decent dairy herd.

Aw, shucks.

I wrote about this latest desecration almost a year ago when the Ontario Cabinet gave consent to Family Leisure Centres for the development.

I said then that nobody seems to care any more about green growing things in this province.

It's like banging your head against the wall. Nobody pays any attention to you until you stop.

Are there only a handful of people left who are concerned about disappearing farm land?

Rabbits covered in the open seasons include cottontail, varying (snowshoe) hare and European hare. Squirrels (black or grey, and fox) and game birds (ruffed grouse, spruce-grouse, sharp-tailed grouse, ptarmigan, Hungarian partridge, bob-white quail and pheasant) are also included. Southern Ontario's cottontail population rises and falls periodically and 1978 was one of the low years. It's still too early to predict the status of cottontails for 1979-1980 but ruffed grouse and snowshoe hare numbers are expected to remain at moderate population levels.

Hunt success is expected to remain about the same for most species as in the previous hunting season.

Conserving energy

Probably one of the most popular subjects these days is energy. With the increased cost of fuel, and even higher costs staring at us in the face for the future, everyone is looking to conserve.

The first step is to set the temperature a little lower and keep the lights off when you are not using them.

The next step is installation of storm windows and adequate insulation.

Lastly, let's start using our old fireplace or get a hand-fired stove. Let's go back to cutting our own wood or shoveling coal.

Chopping wood and carrying a piece of tree trunk puts muscles to work that probably haven't been used for a long time. With increased physical activity which involves lifting and chopping, there is going to be an increased possibility of injuring muscles and ligaments. But the real significance is not so much the exposure to injury as the fact that most people are not in physical condition to do the job to begin with.

So what can you do about conserving energy? Well first of all, think about conserving your own - by using good judgment in approaching the work situation.

1. If you're going to chop wood don't try to do too much at one time.

2. "Warm up" for the task, just as an athlete would do before entering strenuous game. Walk, jog, do calisthenics.

3. Don't rush yourself and don't overdo it - no matter how important it is to get the job done "right away".

4. When chopping, try to use smooth even swings instead of jerky-jerky straining strokes.

5. Take frequent breaks.

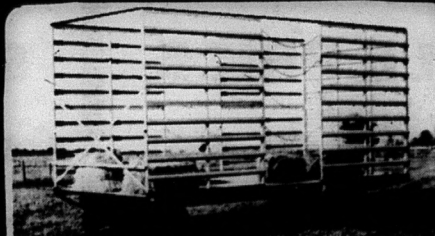

6. When picking up a log, use the safe rules of lifting; keep your feet comfortably apart, bend your knees, lift with your thighs and legs and not with your back.

7. Don't try to lift and at the same time stack a big load of logs in your arms. Get help if necessary. Even better, use a wheelbarrow.

The last rule applies to everyone, but it is extremely important to those who put their bodies into physical stress activities: make certain you maintain the structural integrity of your body with periodic spinal examinations. It's a good preventive measure. If you suspect a back problem, stop your activity at once and see a doctor of chiropractic for immediate treatment.

OYEP offers $1.25/hr. subsidy to youth employers

Reintroduction of the Ontario Youth Employment Program for the third year, to run from April 30 to October 21, was announced in the Legislature today by Treasurer Frank Miller.

Designed to help young people gain work experience, the program offers employers in the private sector a wage subsidy of $1.25 an hour.

According to Mr. Miller, this year's program will allow more flexibility in hiring. Businesses and farms may apply for a grant for up to 150 weeks of employment at each business location, regardless of the number of positions created.

"This will provide greater flexibility for the employer and allow him to maximize the benefits of the program since, in previous years, he was restricted to 6 positions at each business location, even if the positions lasted only 6 or 7 weeks. The practical effect of the new rule is that if employers can create new work for as little as 6 weeks, which is the minimum, they may apply for up to 25 employees for this period," Mr. Miller said.

To qualify for OYEP a young person must reside in Ontario and be at least 15 years of age, but not yet 25 on or before May 1. Those who turn 15 after May 1, 1979 are not eligible. Nor are those who are related to the employer.

In his statement to the House the Treasurer said he expects that OYEP, budgeted at $26 million, will produce 10,000 jobs. Last year's figures were 34,000 jobs produced, at a cost to the Province of $20 million.

The 1979 Ontario Youth Employment Program will be operated within the Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs under the direction of Minister Tom Wells.

Employers who participated in 1978 will automatically receive 1979 application forms by mail. Employers wishing to participate for the first time may write to: Subsidies Branch, Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs, Queen's Park, Toronto M7A 2R8.

Prospective OYEP employers may phone 1-800-268-7592 (toll free) or, in Metro Toronto 965-0570.

Geraniums

The versatile geranium can play a part in any garden, and will flower all season long with little attention.

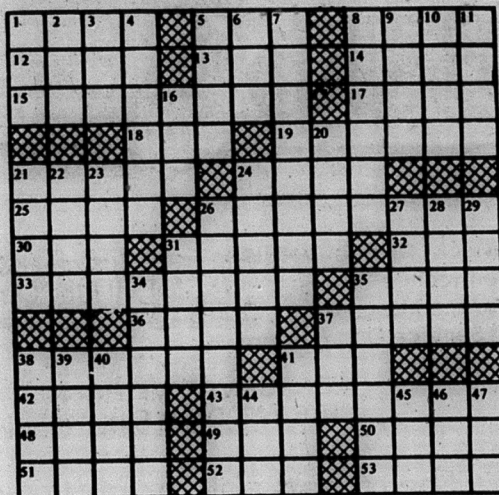

One way to ensure a good supply of geraniums for this year's garden is to take cuttings from overwintered plants, says Russ Gomme, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist. The traditional method of overwintering geraniums is to hang plants in a cool, dark place in the fall. In early spring, the plants are potted, watered, and cut back. After new growth begins, plants are replanted into the garden.

However, Mr. Gomme says a more vigorous plant can be produced by taking cuttings from these overwintered plants. Water the old plants, and when new shoots grow, take cuttings about 15 cm. long. Remove the lower leaves from the cutting, and dip the end in a fungicide such as Captan. Plant cuttings about 5 cm deep and 5 cm apart in a 15 cm flower pot.

Mr. Gomme recommends using a soil mixture of coarse sand, mixed with peat moss or vermiculite. Water the soil mixture thoroughly, and place the container in a clear plastic bag under a lighting unit or in a window protected from direct sunlight. "Once the cuttings have rooted, apply a weak fertilizer," says Mr. Gomme. "Cuttings should be ready for transplanting in about one month."

PONTIACS AND BUICKS LIKE NEVER BEFORE.

The remarkable front-wheel-drive 1980 Pontiacs and Buicks are here!

Pontiac's 1980 Phoenix and Buick's 1980 Skylark are new. Totally new! Neat and handsome to look at. Smooth and quiet to ride in. With lots of room for five people.

Part of this spaciousness is accounted for by mounting the engine transversely, requiring less space...and by front-wheel drive, minimizing the need for a large floor hump or tunnel in the passenger area.

Front-wheel drive pays off in other ways. With the heaviest part of the car, the engine, right over the driving wheels, and with the driving wheels also doing the steering, a car is well-equipped to handle the hazards of wet roads, muddy shoulders and snowy driveways.

Front-wheel drive is a grabber.

MacPherson strut front suspension helps give the car the feel of a big-car ride, while rack-and-pinion steering offers the driver quick, decisive control when nipping through traffic or slipping into a parking spot.

WHAT ABOUT FUEL ECONOMY?

It is excellent! A new 4-cylinder Phoenix or Skylark with optional automatic transmission has fuel consumption/economy estimates of 9.1 litres per 100 km (comparative rating)*. This means much better fuel economy than a comparably equipped 6-cylinder 1979 model... and better power-to-weight ratio. For example, a new 4-cylinder Phoenix/Skylark, with automatic transmission, will accelerate from 0 to 100 KPH as quickly as its comparably equipped '79 6-cylinder predecessor.

They all share a standard 2.5 litre 4-cylinder engine with floor-mounted 4-speed manual transmission. Optional are a 2.8 litre V6 and automatic transmission.

PONTIAC PHOENIX offers four models: a Phoenix 2-door Coupe and a 5-door Hatchback Sedan, both with luxury LJ versions. A sporty SJ package is available on the Phoenix Coupe and Hatchback Sedan.

1980's Grand Opening

The 5-door Hatchback Sedan's optional "security panel" covers the trunk area and lifts out easily so the rear seat can be folded down (standard on the LJ Hatchback).

BUICK SKYLARK offers distinctive 2-door Coupes and 4-door Sedans in three series: Skylark, Skylark Sport and Skylark Limited.

Whether buying or leasing, see your Pontiac-Buick dealer for a test drive. The 1980's are here!

*Based on Transport Canada approved test methods. These fuel consumption/economy figures are estimates which may be subject to revision. The actual results you get will vary depending on the type of driving you do, your driving habits, your car's condition and optional equipment.

Some of the equipment shown or mentioned is optional at extra cost.

Careful auto shoppers get free gas for year

By Alan Gunn, CA

The next time you buy a new car, how would you like to get your first year's gasoline thrown in, free?

Or, how would you feel if you found out someone else got that deal, but you did not -- even though you bought an identical car from the same dealer on the same day? Wouldn't that put a small dent in your pride of ownership?

Buying a new car is one of the few situations in which you can haggle over price. The dealer will have a price range within which he is willing to negotiate, and you should try to make him come as close to the bottom figure as possible.

This calls for a cool, tactical approach. Shop around several dealerships before you buy, and do not be swayed just because you really like a particular car. Think of price first. If it is a new car, it can always be duplicated by ordering through another dealer.

You must be prepared to walk out of the showroom at any time -- and you should. Never buy on the first day. Even if you think the price is right, go home and come back the next day. This might seem like a waste of time, but if you are clearly serious about buying, the salesman will not let you go without giving you his lowest offer.

Always buy quality, not frills. In every case, it is better to buy a well-made car than one that is expensive just because it is loaded with gimmicks and non-essential options.

While you are shopping, you will be offered a variety of special deals. Here are some to watch for:

A demonstrator -- this is not a new car, but a used car with the remainder of the new-car warranty. It may be a good buy, but not just because the price is a bit lower than a brand-new model.

End-of-year model -- a new car, but one that has already depreciated in value, by as much as 25 per cent. Dealers often get a past-model discount from the factory to help move them off the lot. It should be cheaper than it was earlier in the year, and up to 25 per cent cheaper than the new-year model.

Remember, too, that some top-of-the-line models have the same basic power train and suspension system as less expensive cars from the same manufacturer. The difference often consists of luxury fittings which may not be worth the price to you.

Chamber of Commerce.

Promotion of tourism current major concern

The promotion of tourism in the area was the major theme at the April 19 executive meeting of the Madoc and District Chamber of Commerce. Through the attraction of more visitors to the area and the general growth of the tourist industry, the Chamber feels that all area businessmen will profit. The approaching summer season stimulated the discussions on a variety of matters in which the Chamber has an interest.

A progress report was presented on the brochure under preparation by the Chamber. The Chamber learned that its request for partial funding from the Ministry of Culture and Recreation for historical content in the pamphlet cannot be honoured because of the fact that the brochure will serve as a form of advertisement for various business enterprises. For a strictly historical brochure, however, funds are available, the Ministry explained.

Because tourist brochures of area services are usually locally funded, the Chamber of Commerce has approached the Village of Madoc with a request for financial assistance. Council is expected to make a decision on the application at its next meeting which is scheduled for May 7. Subject to support from Council, the Chamber decided to proceed with the printing of 10,000 pamphlets by the Madoc Review Printing Company at a cost of $800.

The Chamber of Commerce brochure will include a directory of emergency telephone numbers, churches, available services in the area, and various retail outlets. In addition, a map of services and points of interest prepared by Bill Hawthorne will be contained in the pamphlet. The map has gained the support of the area tourist industry. President Bancroft told the executive at Thursday's meeting.

At a meeting to discuss the possibility of holding a sportsman's show in Madoc held recently in the village, area businessmen agreed that it was too late to seriously consider the idea for this year. The rental of a booth at the annual Sportsmen's Show in Toronto next year, to be manned by Madoc people, was suggested as an alternative to a show in Madoc. The idea behind the suggestion was that a successfully-run booth could attract people to the Madoc area. Marie Hyde pointed out that if a booth rental became an annual project, it would help the Chamber's efforts to "put Madoc on the map." Under the sponsorship of the Chamber, any member would be able to man the booth.

pass out brochures, and provide information to visitors to the show. Bob Wilson suggested that the promotion of a specific event as well as the area in general might be particularly effective. Further ideas included a map back-drop for the booth and a display of locally-made arts and crafts. The Chamber plans to inquire about booth

Cooper wins invitational hockey tournament

The team from Cooper could not be defeated in the Madoc Invitational Hockey Tournament held at the Madoc and District Recreation Centre April 21 and 22. The final game which pitted Cooper against Trenton was a closely-fought battle; however, with two minutes left in the third period, Cooper player Russell Gray scored, winning the championship for his team. For story, see page 14.

Chamber complains:

Decrease in LCBO store hours is detrimental

An attempt on the Madoc and District Chamber of Commerce's part to have a decision of the Provincial Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations to decrease the business hours at the L.C.B.O. store in Madoc, reversed, has failed to result in any change in the situation.

The Chamber sent a letter to Consumer and Commercial Relations Minister, Frank Drea on March 8, 1979, stating its position. The letter read: "We have recently initiated a new Chamber of Commerce in Madoc and promotion of tourism is a major concern of this Chamber. Decreasing hours at our local L.C.B.O., we feel, would be detrimental." The Chamber finds it difficult to understand why restrictions are being placed on the Madoc tourist area when the government is trying to promote tourism.

In Mr. Drea's April 4 reply to the Chamber, it was explained that store hours in all of the L.C.B.O. "low volume" stores across the province have been adjusted in line with restraint policy. Sales figures over the past two years have shown a decrease in the volume of business, the Minister added.

The Chamber believes that since the Madoc L.C.B.O. store opened at its new location near the junction of Hwys. 7 and 62, the situation has been reversed. There are unconfirmed reports that the volume of business has increased by 30 percent since the move which occurred late in 1978.

The Madoc and District Chamber of Commerce is also concerned with the resulting decrease in hours for the part-time staff, and the situation where, on Friday nights, one employee is left alone at the store which is somewhat isolated from the rest of the town.

Copies of the letter sent to Mr. Drea were also mailed to the L.L.B.O., Clarke T. Rollins, M.P.P., Jack Ellis, M.P. the Village of Madoc, and Ron Vastokas, Federal Liberal Candidate.

Jack Ellis supports the Chamber's position in principle, but because the matter is provincial, he informed the Chamber that he is unable to offer much assistance. Mr. Ellis did add, however that, if necessary, he would be happy to make a number of phone calls on the Chamber's behalf.

Clarke Rollins provided the following

O.P.P. informed patrons that party was over

A total of four convictions were registered against the Madoc Kiwanis Centre, and Kiwanis Centre Manager, Ron Powell, at county court in Madoc on April 10, 1979. Charges of failing to clear signs and service of consumption of alcohol in a licensed premises, and failing to clear patrons from a licensed premises were laid against the Club and its manager after Madoc O.P.P. Constables, Bruce and Eadie, discovered six persons in the Kiwanis Centre at 6:15 a.m., January 1, 1979, following the New Year's Eve Dance held on the premises.

The Liquor Licence Act of Ontario requires that the closing time of licensed premises be 1 a.m., and that a 30 minute period to clear out the and remove signs of alcoholic consumption from the premises be allowed.

On each of the two counts with which the parties were charged, fines of $25 were imposed by the court. The maximum fine possible on each count, for the Club itself, is $25,000, and for the Kiwanis manager, $2000.

Whelan visit shows support for Vastokas

Shaking hands with a Madoc resident is Ron Vastokas, Federal Liberal candidate for Hastings-Frontenac. Mr. Vastokas and Federal Minister of Agriculture, Eugene

Letters to the editor

Reeve "bewildered" by news publications

On reading with interest the Madoc Review from the election in November until the April 11th edition, I have sometimes been angered, sometimes been frustrated, and sometimes been humoured, but after reading this edition, it seems to me that a lot of people, including some of our respected members of council, seem to be bewildered. Bewilderment, to me, may be caused by some of the following listening to people who give you misleading information because they do not know the facts; people passing the buck because of their own lack of interest in taking the time to find out the facts; and what seems to me to be a little municipal political undermining.

News publications of Council Committee meetings from November until now seem to have done very little to enhance our Committees' public images. They have only caused a lot of disturbances and given some people the opportunity to take short jabs at other people and committees. Perhaps they sell newspapers!

The April 11th front page action on the Recreation Committee report is only one in mention. The headline says "Approved". Please be advised that anything discussed in committee must be ratified at a public Council meeting.

From the editor on page 2, "Attempt to stifle the press", I quote "But as Mr. Connerty said, the fact that the matter was raised does make a comment. He also mentioned that members of the village council had thought of closed committee meetings as well". Statements like this could be interpreted to mean that your Council is doing things underhandedly and could also be interpreted to mean that a member or members of our Council are trying to disrupt and undermine other members of Council. I do not believe the above possible interpretations, however, I do feel that if less time was taken prophesizing, and actual work input made, it would be better for all.

The following excerpt from the Municipal Act may enlighten everyone's thoughts and improve our knowledge of municipal affairs:

Section 190(1) of the Act provides: (a) regular meetings of council are open to the public and may not be closed. (b) committee of the whole meetings are closed meetings. (c) committee meetings are closed meetings. (Attendance of non-members to a closed meeting is a privilege - not a right.)

Section 192(2) of the Act provides: Special meetings of council may be either open or closed as the public interest requires.

Most of our discord seems to stem from misinterpretation and lack of communication between Council members and the press.

The newspaper or any media when attending a Council meeting has no greater rights than the public; and has no less rights than the public, but, in addition, has the important responsibility of accurately informing the public. We need accurate communication. The public needs to know what the elected representatives are doing and the elected representatives need to know what the public input is. A public office is a public trust and does not belong to the office holder. Also, newspapers are privately owned, but the freedom of the press belongs to the people and not to the newspaper.

In order to accomplish anything during our two year term in office I sincerely encourage all members of Council, all members of committees, and members of the press to engage our brains before putting our mouths in gear.

Over the next short while I'll try to give you my interpretation of committees, their duties, and what I feel your Council is working for on your behalf.

Tom Deline, Jr.

What counts in this town?

In answer to the letter of April 11th: I have known Mr. Nielsen since he came to Madoc and have always found him very accommodating and friendly. He is one can stop and pass the time of day with you.

More power to Mr. Nielsen: He at least had the brains and the backbone to buck the system and establish a business in town and also to expand to Bancroft. I personally know of his donation to the church and his employment of six people - or does that not count in this town?

My interpretation of a seagull is a very thrifty bird who cleans up the carrion off of his share of the beach.

Furthermore my grandfather always told me to ignore the bubbling brooks as they all run off at the mouth.

An honest taxpaying citizen of this town

Liberal candidates sincere, but naive

Once again during an election we are witness to our Liberal candidates suggesting a moratorium on nuclear power. This is especially odd since their party has had eleven years to implement such a policy. Not only has the Liberal Government failed to slow down its nuclear programme until it can prove solutions to the many problems surrounding nuclear power, it has, on the contrary, continued to sell these problems (at a loss to the taxpayer) to overseas military governments in South Korea, Pakistan, and Argentina, who may follow the example of India in producing bombs from Candus' spent fuel.

I have to believe Ron Vastokas and Dave Hobson are sincere, but I also believe, very naive, if they think that they can change the posture of their party. The N.D.P. is the only party at both the Provincial and Federal levels of Government which calls for a moratorium on nuclear power and perennially asks for a freedom of information law so that the Canadian public may learn all the facts concerning nuclear safety as well as Government mismanagement.

information to the Chamber: In addition to the Madoc Store, the one day a week closing has taken effect in Tweed, Marmora, Stirling, and Deseronto.

The only encouraging word on the situation came from Frank Drea, who gave notification that, during the summer tourist season, starting June 25, the Madoc L.C.B.O. outlet will operate on a six days a week basis.

Although not satisfied with the outcome of their endeavors, Chamber members agreed that at least they have registered their complaint.

Hospitality training course to be held in Madoc

A hospitality training course as part of the province-wide "We Treat You Royally" tourism awareness campaign will be held in Madoc on May 31, 1979. The seminar, which was booked by Chamber of Commerce President, Bob Bancroft, is a free one day course sponsored by the Ministry of Industry and Tourism. Enrollment is limited to 35, and participants must be employees of area business connected with the tourist industry. Interested businessmen are encouraged to send their employees to the course where instruction will be provided in hospitality skills which will then be reflected in an increase in the quality of service provided to tourists visiting the area. If tourists are treated well, they will want to come back year after year, Mr. Bancroft emphasized.

Larry Grossman, the Provincial Minister of Industry and Tourism, in a letter, expressed his optimism in the future of Ontario's "number 2 industry," tourism. The Minister expects that tourist related revenues will continue to rise. "The overall enthusiasm and response by Ontarians and the positive reaction to the campaign by visitors have convinced me to expand the We Treat You Royally campaign for the 1979 tourist season," wrote Mr. Grossman. The minister believes that Ontario's reputation will be enhanced by the campaign's reminder of the importance of simple hospitality to the tourist industry.

Bob Bancroft received a favourable reaction from the Chamber executive members last week when they were informed of the course being offered in the village.

The Chamber will be seeking a hall in which to hold the seminar, as well as a projector screen, the only facilities the community must furnish for the programme.

The possibility of a rally shortly after the one day course was discussed at the April 19 meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Bancroft has already approached a Ministry spokesman with the idea, and has received a positive response. At the rally, the importance of displaying hospitality towards visitors to the Madoc area would be stressed, and enthusiasm would be generated among local employees and citizens.

Promotion of tourism

rental at the Toronto Sportsmen Show.

Bob Wilson expressed interest in starting a special event open-air arts and craft festival held every summer. Government grants are available for such promotional activities, and the Madoc and District Chamber would like to hear from any person interested in the holding of such a market.

On the subject of new developments, interest in the founding of a local museum was voiced by several executive members of the Chamber. Jim Watson felt that a local historical society should start the promotion of a museum. The Chamber decided to support the establishment of a historical society, and granted permission to Marie Hyde to place an ad in the paper to be sponsored by the Madoc and District Chamber of Commerce. A suggestion that the Whytock house would be an appropriate location for a museum was expressed at the meeting.

Another method of promoting tourism, the establishment of bus tours or even a bus service for visitors, was brought up by President Bancroft. Jim Watson believes that a regular summer bus service for the people at campsites, resorts, and cottages in the surrounding area would benefit the area. Mr. Bancroft intends to approach Burrell Bateman, owner of the local bus company, with the idea.

The new symbolized fluorescent resort signs currently being promoted by the Ministry of Tourism came under discussion by the chamber executive. The signs, which would promote the area through advertisement of services, would be placed on Hwy. 7, 2000 feet and 1000 feet from the turn-offs to the village, and at the turn-offs themselves. Available services would appear on the first two signs, and the names of participating resorts would be included on the signs positioned at the turn-offs to the village. The cost to each private resort to have its name included on the sign is $100 for the first year, and $50 for each year thereafter.

The Chamber executive members agreed that the signs would be advantageous to the area in attracting tourists. Although Bob Bancroft suggested that the Chamber could possibly subsidize the cost to resort owners for the first year, other executive members felt that such action of assisting directly with advertising costs would perhaps set on undesirable precedent. Mr. Bancroft explained that he felt that offering an incentive was warranted because area tourist resorts are, in addition to businesses, "facilities" to the village, and all businesses would benefit from the signs.

It was announced that the Chamber of Commerce sign at the north end of the village would be completed by April 23, 1979, and the south end counterpart would be finished before the 24th of May. The Chamber is looking into the reparation of the Madoc signs located east and west of the village along Hwy. 7.

At Thursday's meeting, Debbie Wiggings was appointed as "retail chairperson." As chairperson, Ms. Wiggings will coordinate the activities and policies of the retail operators in the village. In the near future, the downtown merchants will be approached regarding dates for two sidewalk sales this summer. Due to the great success of last summer's sale, the Chamber feels that two sales should be planned for this season.

Merchant's responses toward the setting up of a craft market at some location near the downtown sector this summer will also be sought by Debbie Wiggings.

The next executive meeting for the Madoc and District Chamber of Commerce is scheduled for May 10. A general meeting for all Chamber of Commerce members will be held May 17. An agenda for the general meeting will be distributed at a prior date.

Whelan says Liberals will take Hastings

"I know he (Ron Vastokas) will change history for this area," declared Eugene Whelan, the Federal Minister of Agriculture, at a public meeting in Madoc on April 17, 1979. Mr. Whelan and Ron Vastokas, Liberal candidate for Hastings-Frontenac, were at the Madoc Kiwanis Centre from 3 to 4 p.m. last Tuesday to meet area residents and solicit support for the Liberal campaign. The appearance was part of the Minister's attempt to assist his party candidates in the election.

Although the Centre Hastings area has almost always elected a Conservative candidate, Eugene Whelan told those present that "it should be easy to elect Ron." Look at me, and then look at Ron," he said. In order for Ron Vastokas to to as "Canada's envied position in the world," and the state of the country's farming community.

Working with someone like Ron, who is so dedicated, gives a person a better appreciation of Canada, Mr. Whelan began. The name "Vastokas" is a reminder to the Minister of the many cultural groups that make up this large country. "We've learned to live together," said Mr. Whelan. The non-violent way in which Canada was settled is rare in the history of the world, he added. In the War of 1812, the "Canadian" spirit was already in evidence, explained the Minister, for although there were several language groups who could not understand one another, the people "shared a common understanding of what they were fighting for."

Eugene Whelan feels that Canada today is envied by many of the world's countries. Today, stated Mr. Whelan, no where are people fed better, no where is there greater freedom, no where is there a better educational system, and no where is there a better way of life than in Canada.

The Minister believes that Canada's prosperity and healthy economic structure, to a large degree, have resulted from a healthy agricultural system. Mr. Whelan proclaimed, "Canada's farming community is one of the best in the world." For example, in world markets, Canadian dairy cattle are considered to be of the highest quality. Eugene Whelan feels that the Milk Marketing Board has not bred inefficiency, but has led to better breeding technique programmes and economic prosperity among Canadian dairy farmers.

The Egg Marketing Board as well has developed into an efficiently run business. Mr. Whelan told the group on Tuesday. Since he became Minister of Agriculture, very little of taxpayers' dollars has been spent to start or maintain the marketing boards. The farmers have been given the authority to run their own businesses, and the Minister believes they have made economic gains in the process. The success of the programmes is also evident by the fact that egg and milk prices have not skyrocketed in comparison to other commodities on the market today. Presently farmers are "making a good buck" because they are being productive and continually making improvements, stated the Minister.

Due to the marketing boards and a number of government agricultural programmes, such as stabilization and crop insurance programmes, Mr. Whelan believes that the farming community in Canada, and particularly the family-operated farm, is the healthiest it has ever been.

Concerning the present job situation in Canada, the Minister noted that two million jobs have been created since 1971. "There has never been such a high percentage of our population working as now," declared Eugene Whelan. In comparison to other countries, Canada's employment situation is encouraging.

"It's our right to complain about our country," Mr. Whelan believes that it is natural to complain. He pointed out that farmers complain about the sun and the rain as well as the economic situation of the country. As the Federal Minister of Agriculture, Eugene Whelan feels that it is his job to complain on behalf of Canada's farmers. Although the current agricultural budget is only 1.6 percent of the total federal budget, Mr. Whelan stated that, as long as his farmers are happy, he would not care if his agricultural budget was made lower than the present figure.

Bay of Quinte UCW Annual Conference

Three hundred and forty ladies met at Cambridge St. United Church for the 17th Annual Meeting of the Bay of Quinte United Church Women, led by president Mrs. Evelyn Redpath of Oshawa, April 3 and 4. The theme of the conference was, "The Year of the Child." The Right Reverend George Tuttle, Moderator of the United Church, was present throughout the conference. He spoke to an open meeting on Tuesday evening on the theme, "The Church Now." He especially emphasized the work of women in the church, saying that now, as moderator, he is seeing work that his mother has begun. He also spoke of the great part children have in our church life. He ended his evening message with a very helpful "Question and Answer" period.

Reports for the year have shown a most successful program of activities. Three inspiring worship services were given on "The Year of the Child," by Oshawa, Renfrew and Belleville Presbyterians. Over $800. worth of books were sold at the conference. The offerings at the conference were designated for support for the newly formed, northern pastoral region of the conference area.

Mrs. Marjorie Levan was the theme leader on "Come as a Child". She presented the report for the work of "Alcohol and Drug Concerns Inc." in Eastern Ontario. Mrs. Levan was present for the entire conference, making herself available with films and a great fund of information. Each member of the U.C.W.

succeed, however, a lot of work and support is required, Mr. Whelan added. The Minister reflected on his own campaigns in the early 1960s when, despite skepticism, Mr. Whelan gained sufficient votes to win office again and again. A national poll conducted a few years ago showed that Eugene Whelan was the most well known Minister in Canada. In other words, from small beginnings, Mr. Whelan has come a long way. His success proves that victory for Ron Vastokas is also possible in this election.

In his welcome to Mr. Whelan, Ron Vastokas expressed the respect he feels towards the Minister's deep concern for the Canadian farming community and great vigilance he has shown on its behalf throughout his seven years of office. Mr. Vastokas particularly admires Mr. Whelan's "independence of spirit," and views the Minister "as a model for an aspiring politician."

Madoc Reeve Tom Deline, Jr., was present at the function to welcome Mr. Whelan on behalf of the village. Also, on behalf of the Council, Mr. Deline wished Ron Vastokas "the best of luck" in his campaign.

In Eugene Whelan's speech in support of Mr. Vastokas and the Liberal party in Canada, areas touched upon included Canada's multicultural background and ethnic diversity, what Mr. Whelan referred

Vankoughnet in Marmora

Mr. Vankoughnet expressed confidence in the outcome of the campaign; "it's not winning but by how much we win that I'm concerned about."

Arsenault: hard job ahead

NDP candidate Kevin Arsenault has a busy schedule ahead of him, since he must not only run for federal election in Hastings-Frontenac, but also help to negotiate a UAW master contract to cover all of Ontario and part of the east coast. In spite of this double workload, Mr. Arsenault credits the NDP with a strong chance in the race. "We're due for some major changes. We can't continue the way we're going."

NDP candidate Kevin Arsenault

Mr. Arsenault argues that the major issues in this campaign are economic: the high unemployment rate and the government's lack of ability to encourage business, particularly in "forgotten areas" such as the north end of the riding.

"We have as many unemployed now as we did in the depression. Its costing the average working taxpayer $1,000 a year to support those who are unemployed." He points to the seasonal industries of the north - logging, tourism. "Its seasonal employment and it hasn't changed in 20 years. Nothing the government's been doing is alleviating the problem." He adds that he believes that "most people want to work" and would, if the jobs were there.

Mr. Arsenault feels that small employers in secondary industry-farming tourism, small business - should be encouraged with certain "concessions." "There should be government loans to small business so that they could function in an area like this." Mr. Arsenault says he has experienced the frustration of running a business in this area - he operated a resort in Maberly, near Sharbot lake for twenty years. "The government wouldn't advertise for us in the U.S.; I think it has an obligation to support its small business that sort of way."

He points too to the fact that the government is willing to involve itself in "huge giveaways" such as the money paid to bring the Ford plant into Windsor, but it won't do the same thing for small business. As well he points out, Ford closed another plant shortly after it opened in Windsor, making the government look pretty silly. He says that 90 per cent of Canadian companies employ less than 20 people. "It's the other 10 per cent that cause most of the problems. They come into a town, take what they want and leave. We have to put some controls on them."

Mr. Arsenault then points to what he feels are "excessive profits" on the part of the large companies. "Profits of the pulp and paper industry were up 150 per cent, lumber and plywood were up 80 per cent. The people working for them didn't receive any of those benefits, the average raise across the province was 6.4 per cent which is well below the rate of inflation."

As well as getting tougher with the large companies, Mr. Arsenault feels that the government should expand on the idea of Petrocan. "We have to go into direct competition with the large corporations. We need more ideas like Petrocan, not less."

Although Mr. Arsenault admits that government control has not always worked to the best, he thinks that it can with a proper approach. The Post Office he admits, "has a lot of problems. But the

Safety hazard

Recessed lighting fixtures covered with insulation may have been the source of a number of recent fires according to the Canadian Standards Association (CSA). Homeowners that have recessed fixtures projecting into insulated ceilings or attics should check to make sure that the insulation is not covering the fixture.

Recessed fixtures covered with insulation could create sufficient heat to start a fire. Recessed lighting is any lighting fixture that projects into an attic space or space above a ceiling. British Columbia has legislated that recessed fixtures are not allowed to be installed in any type of occupancy where there is thermal insulation.

CSA is urging people to check their attics and other ceiling spaces to make sure that insulation is at least six inches away from any recessed lighting fixture. Even fixtures that have been enclosed in boxes may cause overheating if the box and fixture have not been authorized by the provincial electrical inspection authority.

So far over a dozen recent fires across Canada have been attributed to insulation covering lighting fixtures according to the International Association of Electrical Inspectors who held a seminar in Toronto last weekend and requested that con-

Local girl guide receives award

Madoc Girl Guide, Kristi Bjorndahl, 12, recently received the second highest guiding award, the "all around cord" for outstanding achievement as a girl guide. In order to qualify for the award, it was necessary for Miss Bjorndahl to pass several tests, meet many challenges, and earn numerous badges for guiding skills.

Senior citizens

The Senior Citizens Club held its meeting April 11th at 2 o'clock in the church hall with 58 members present. Mr. Tom Deline, Sr. presided in Mrs. Alma Blackburn's absence. The meeting was opened by singing "O Canada" followed by repeating "The Lord's Prayer" in unison. Miss Mary Taylor read the minutes and Mrs. Keitha Moorcroft gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. Irene Lake read the correspondence. Thank you cards were received from Burrell and Arlie Bateman, and Mrs. Annie Allt thanked the Club for her card. A few minutes silence was given in memory of Kenneth Bateman. A bus trip to the Quinte Mall, April 17, was discussed.

The Programme was conducted by Mrs. Irene Gordon. Mrs. Grace Ororke read "Help yourself to happiness." Mrs. Forbes read "Who can save Canada?" Mrs. Jose Phine McCoy read "The Fisherman." Mrs. Florence Love read "A friend." Mrs. Mary Whiteman read "Birthdays are a gift from God." Mrs. Viola Wannamaker read "So was I" and "The little black moustache." Mrs. Irene Huffman had the lucky number and so received a gift. The meeting closed with "God save the Queen."

The hostesses for the April 25th meeting are Keitha Moorcroft, Gertie Invelt, Goldie Holmes, Mary Moorcroft, Lily Miller, Ogle Devolin, Grace and Frank O'Rourke, Alice Alexander, and Frances Cassidy. Lunch was served and a social half hour was enjoyed by all.

Only four other Madoc guides have received their all around cords. Three of those girls have gone on to earn their "Canada cords," the highest possible award a girl guide may attain.

Kristi Bjorndahl earned an "all around cord" through her accomplishments as a girl guide.

Kristi's parents, Don and Dorothy Bjorndahl, were among a number of guests present to witness the special ceremony held on Tuesday, April 17, 1979, at the Kiwanis Centre. Following the ceremony, which involved the participation of Kristi's fellow guides and a candle-lighting ritual, Guide leader Sheila Matchett presented Miss Bjorndahl with a small gift in honour of her achievement.

"Holidays on Ice" performances well received

"Holidays on Ice," a figure skating extravaganza, featuring over 100 skaters, was presented Sunday night, April 22, at the Madoc and District Recreation Centre. During the evening's programme, which was sponsored by the Madoc and District Figure Skating Club, performances were given by members of the Madoc and District Club as well as visitors from the Bancroft Figure Skating Club.

Several special solo numbers were provided by talented female figure skaters from both clubs, and the programme included renditions of popular annual holidays and activities performed by the Madoc area skaters.

First on the programme were the New Years Eve skaters. Then, in between various solo performances and special presentations by the Bancroft Figure Skating Club, came skating groups representing Valentine's Day, Easter bunnies, April showers, the Maypole, a June wedding, summertime, the recreations of fishing and hunting, Hallowe'en, and last, but not least, Christmas and Santa Claus. Soloists from the Madoc Figure Skating Club included Jill Taylor, Debbie Campbell, Shelly Nolan, and Arlene Brown. Wendy Comrie, from the Bancroft Figure Skating Club, was featured as a Junior Pro.

A lot of work was involved in the organization of "Holidays on Ice." The following people deserve special acknowledgement: Pro-Coach, Kim Comrie from Bancroft; Assistant, Valerie Armstrong from Bancroft; the Group Mothers; the Costume Mothers; the coaches, Debbie Campbell, Jill Taylor, and Arlene Brown; Mr. Hickey and the senior girls for the posters; the arena management; and the Carnival Chairperson, Karen Bailey. The master of ceremonies for the evening, Harold Bailey, as well, deserves recognition for his efforts. Perhaps, most of all, however, the participating skaters themselves are worthy of recognition for their preparation and performances. The colourful entertainment provided and the talent displayed were very much appreciated by the large turn-out for this well-planned community event.

In gymnastics, the concentration so necessary for performers, is seen to be exhibited by spectators as well. The intently watching children, above, were

On the evening of April 17, 1979, a gymnastics demonstration by Madoc Public School students was provided for the public in the school's gymnasium. The experience of demonstrating the learned skills in front of an audience was offered to the children through their participation in the presentation.

Significant progress in gymnastic ability was made this year by Madoc Public School students under the instruction of Kim Gaebel, who was hired through the school especially for the programme. Gymnastics was taught in the regular physical education classes, and, in addition, several students voluntarily participated in additional gymnastics instruction given after school.

Madoc Public School gymnasts attended a county-wide Junior Gymnastics Meet on April 19 in Belleville. A Senior meet, scheduled for April 26, will be held at Sir James Whitney School in Belleville.

Use shadows to

So you're lost in the outdoors, have no compass and don't know east from west. Don't panic. If the sun is out, you can use the "shadow tip" method of direction finding. It's simple and reasonably accurate.

First, find an open space. Drive a stick at least one metre long into the ground. Immediately mark the exact spot where the tip of the shadow falls and drive in another stake at that point. Wait at least 10 minutes, then mark the shadow tip again with a stake. Draw a line between the second and third stakes. That line is your west-east axis. Now draw the shortest line between your original stake and the east-west line. This line will point north.

Above all, keep a cool head and don't panic. Man's brain is still his best survival tool.

County Gymnastics meet: Madoc area schools well represented

Approximately 50 students from Madoc Public School and Madoc Township Public School participated in a county-wide Junior Gymnastics Meet at Sir James Whitney School in Belleville on Thursday, April 19, 1979. A number of the children did especially well, and, among the 18 schools involved in the competition, the overall standings of both Madoc Public and Madoc Township Public schools were impressive. Madoc Public School girls finished overall in second place, while both boys' and girls' teams from Madoc Township Public School took fourth place at the meet. Nama Walther, gymnastics teacher at the Madoc Township Public School, feels that it is significant that her students finished so well because the children were unable to compete in all events due to a lack of certain gymnastic equipment at the school. Lara Devolin, an eleven year old grade four student at Madoc Township Public School, won the medal for the Top Female Gymnast in the county and the medal for the Top Female vaulter in the county, and received the third highest score in the Square Floor Mat Routine as well as the third highest score in the Beam Routine.

Debbie Pack, an eleven year old grade six Madoc Township Public School student, placed third in the Long Mat Routine, and Shirley Ann Chapman, 11, grade five, performed particularly well at the meet.

A first place medal for Compulsory Floor was received by Leanne Johnson a grade six Madoc Public School Student, while teammates Becky Marr and Nancy Bernier, two other grade six students, both attained high scores in the Optional Beam, Optional Floor, and Optional Vault competitions.

Mrs. Walther wanted to thank Madoc Public School principal, John Murphy, for allowing Lara Devolin to practice on the beam at the school, and Diane Campbell, a CHSS student, for all the assistance she gave in the gymnastics programme.

The programme at Madoc Public School was taught this year by Kim Gaebel.

Madoc Township Public School Student, Lara Devolin, was chosen as Top Female Gymnast in the county at a recent Junior Gymnastics Meet held at Sir James Whitney School in Belleville.

Debbie Pack, Madoc Township Public School, was awarded a third place ribbon for her Long Mat Routine last week at the Junior Gymnastics Meet in Belleville.

Last week, Leanne Johnson, a student at Madoc Public School, won a gold medal for Compulsory Floor at the Junior County Gymnastics Meet in which 18 schools participated.

Bannockburn news

Welcome home, Mrs. Colleen Kennedy, from your week's vacation out west. We missed you and are glad you are home.

The Pentecostal Church held special Easter services with guest speaker Miss Ellis. We were sorry to hear that Miss Rodger was not well and unable to make it to Bannockburn for Easter. Miss Ellis will soon be leaving for Africa on missionary work. We wish her the best of luck in her new venture.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Reid, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Andrews and family, were the guests of Larry and Eleanor Reid of Little Britain over the Easter weekend.

Logan Ray has recently arrived home from the east coast. We were glad to hear his family is doing well down there.

Anyone wishing to go to T.O.P.S. Club in Madoc are welcome to ride with Jo-Anne Lake. The club meets every Wednesday night at 7:00 p.m.

It is good to have Alex Hamilton home again after two weeks holiday in Bradford. It seems he had a hard time leaving as the garden kept getting in the way. Oh well, a little mud never did hurt a car anyway.

Motor vehicles claims fund

Ever been bashed in the rear by another motorist and, while waiting for a police officer to arrive, talked over with the other driver the matter of insurance, only to find he has none?

Sure the police officer will most likely lay charges if it is a direct case of no insurance but that won't make you feel any better.

Often you may find the other driver will say he is "insured" under the Motor Vehicle Claims Fund. He isn't. The fund is just that. It does not protect the owner or driver from claims or provide him with insurance.

The fund is a protection for the innocent party against drivers who do not carry insurance. It is mandatory and is used as a contribution to The Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund.

What to do if you are the victim

Make a claim directly to the Motor Vehicle Claims Accident Claims Fund for payment of damages. The Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations which administers the fund will then advise the driver of the fact that a claim has been lodged against him.

If court action occurs and a judgement or claim is paid from the fund on the motorist's behalf, the licences of both owner and driver will be suspended until the full amount of the payment has been repaid to the fund, or an undertaking entered into to discharge the debt by instalment.

The government has announced that the scheme will come to an end next year and all motorists will be required to carry proper insurance if they wish to drive.

Victims can expect a certain amount of delay and harassment in trying to collect, at least that has been the experience of the Centre. This does not result from the Ministry but from the complications that result often from trying to trace or corner the driver.

The best and most responsible course of action is to carry full insurance at all times. This way, the driver and any possible victims are protected.

Jersey tour of N.Y. State

On Saturday March 31, forty-six members and guests travelled to New York State to view Silver Spring Farm, Syracuse and Sycamore Hill Farm, Marcellus.

Arriving at Silver Spring Farm, the group was met by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Luchsinger, son Chuck and his wife Susan and Barbara. The other member of the family partnership, Betsy was away in Iowa.

Silver Spring was founded in 1914 by John Luchsinger and was purchased by his son Fred in 1951.

The farm is 450 acres and provides their own feed. The 100-200 milk cows are housed in conventional barns and the feeding program consists of all the hay the cows will eat, corn silage and a grain ration.

"Golden Faithful" is the main herd sire and ninety-nine percent of the herd is home-bred. The Luchsinger Family were Premier Breeders at the 1978 All American show in Louisville, Kentucky.

The Luchsingers have a great group of cows and they are certainly a power to reckon with in the Jersey breed.

On behalf of the group, Club President, Bob Jarrell thanked the Luchsingers for their hospitality and presented them with an assortment of Hastings County cheddar cheese.

The group then travelled to Sycamore Hill Farm at Marcellus, owned by George and Karen Hanford. This farm is named after a giant Sycamore tree on the front lawn. The tree is huge and well worth the stop at Sycamore Hill to see it.

This small herd of 17 cows was founded in 1974. The present herd average is 14,080 lbs. of milk, 800 lbs. of fat with a type average of 87.8 points. In 1975 they exhibited the All American 4 year old.

Generators Beauty Clara, Excellent, who has records up to 21,960 pounds of milk and 1104 pounds of fat. Her latest calf, a "Quicksilver" son is going into artificial insemination service with the Quebec unit.

The group felt this was a fine young herd and one that would be heard from in the future in production and the showing. Bob Jarrell thanked the Hanford family and presented them with cheddar cheese also. After a stop at a shopping plaza for supper and browsing, the group headed home.

Hastings Holstein Club will hold auction Friday

The Hastings County Holstein Club are sponsoring an auction sale of purebred Holstein calves on Friday, April 26, 1979 at 7:30 p.m. The sale will take place at the farm of Andy Jongenotter, R.R. 1, Foxboro. The Sale entries have been individually selected for type and production and many popular sires are represented. Further information can be obtained from the sale manager, Doug Jarrell, R.R. 6, Belleville at 962-3721.

The conference closed with the moderator installing the officers for 1979. This was followed by a communion service administered by the Rev. Bessie Lan, assisted by the moderator. Thanks were expressed to the officials of Cambridge St. Church for their hospitality, and to the ladies of the Church who so ably took care of the needs of their guests.

Between twenty and twenty-five ladies from the Belleville Presbyterian attended this two day event.

Cooper take "A", Marmora "B" in Madoc tourney

With only 2:10 minutes remaining in the final period, Cooper scored against Trenton and took the "A" Championship at the invitational hockey tournament held April 21 and 22 at the Madoc and District Recreation Centre. In the tournament hosted by Madoc, Intermediate "D" calibre teams from Marmora, Actinolite, Belleville, Cooper, Trenton, Hastings, Bancroft, and Madoc competed for prize money and trophies.

The battle between Cooper and Trenton for the "A" Championship was a very exciting contest and offered the spectators a superb display of hockey skills and team work. Trenton led by a score of 3-2 until Al Stitt of Cooper scored, assisted by Don Martin and Rick Brown, when six minutes were left in the game. In the final minutes of the contest, an unassisted Russell Gray scored the goal that put Cooper ahead of its opposition. Cooper was able to hold its lead and capture the "A" Championship.

Other Cooper goal credits in the final game of the tournament went to Russell Gray with assists from Eldon Gray and Rick Brown, and to Bill Walker with assists from Russell Gray and Eldon Gray. Trenton goals were scored by Dave Stott, Brad Ferguson, and Brian Ferguson. Assists were credited to Brian Trent, Mike Willman, Brian Ferguson, and Bill Glover. The winning Cooper team received $250 and a trophy donated by Frank Downey Insurance, Madoc. The runner-up team of

The winner of the "B" Championship was the team from Marmora. In a tense overtime period against Madoc, Wayne Lajoie, assisted by Tom Lawrence, managed to get the puck past the Madoc goal tender at approximately the 10 minute mark and win the game by making the final score 2-1. The first Marmora goal was scored by Fred Stewart from Terry Terrien, while Robert Nickle scored the only goal from Madoc. Harold Bailey, who is closely associated with the Madoc team, stated that, for many of the Madoc players, it was the first game they had played since their Junior D Club folded in January due to a shortage of players and difficulties with the OMHA. Thus, Madoc's performance over the weekend was meritorious.

A trophy donated by Madoc Cash and Carry was awarded to the "B" Championship winners, Marmora, along with $150 in prize money. Madoc received the runner-up trophy donated by the Madoc Sports Centre.

Larry Rollins of Cooper was chosen as the Most Valuable Skater of the tournament, and received a trophy from Glen Nickle Electric, Madoc. Rick Lynch of the Marmora team was awarded the trophy for Most Valuable Goal Tender, which was also donated by Glen Nickle Electric.

A Cooper defenceman reaches to prevent Trenton from scoring in the third period of the final game played during the Madoc Invitational Hockey Tournament held over the weekend. Cooper won the game by a score of 4 - 3, and captured the "A" Championship trophy.

Ron Vastokas thanked the Minister for his encouraging words, particularly concerning multiculturalism. Without forgetting that there are many problems in Canada which require attention, Mr. Vastokas declared that the Minister's message about optimism and confidence in Canada and the Hastings-Frontenac riding will also be his message in the next few weeks.

In honour of his visit, Eugene Whelan received a number of gifts from community representatives. Don McKinnon, on behalf of the farming community, presented the Minister with a block of aged cheddar cheese from the Eldorado Cheese and Butter Company; on behalf of small industry and manufacturing, Monte Dennis presented the Minister with a hand carved wooden bowl and wooden eggs, which he explained combine forest industry and agricultural themes; and Ken Schultz-Nielsen presented Mr. Whelan with a sodalite clock from the Princess Sodalite Mine in Bancroft. From Ron Vastokas, Mr. Whelan received a coon skin hat, some maple syrup from Bill Robinson of Eldorado, sauerkraut from Godfrey Growers, and honey from Lil'mo Apiaries.

Immediately following his appearance in Madoc, Eugene Whelan travelled to Belleville where he attended a campaign function for Kay Manderville, Federal Liberal candidate for Prince Edward-Hastings. On Tuesday evening, the Minister was present at the Northumberland riding's Liberal nomination meeting in Trenton.

main problems lie in the management within the postal system. What they need in the Post Office is a change of attitude. "The CNR has had some problems but it is ironing them out; we have no alternative, we have to go in that direction. We can't allow the large corporations to take the wealth of the country. We need some insurance for the Canadian people.

Mr. Arsenault lives with his wife and five children in Kingston Mills, a community in Kingston township outside of the city. He is employed as a production co-ordinator for Northern Telecom, and is a UAW rep for that company (hence his involvement with the contract negotiation). He is a member of the Kingston and District Labour Council, and is active in sports in the community.

Mr. Arsenault says that, in his movement around the riding, "basic economic questions" are people's main concerns. "Prices of food, unemployment, the fact that, even when working wages are marginal," this, he feels gives the NDP an edge. "We're looking for a change, a big change - I think we've got the chance."

Safety hazard

sumers be warned of a potential hazard. Many do-it-yourselfers or new people of the insulation installation trade may be unaware of a Canadian Electrical code clause that stipulated "recessed fixtures shall not be used when blanketed with thermal insulation." The Canadian Electrical Code is a CSA standard and has been generally adopted by the provinces.

Woods, water and wildlife

by Ron Reid

Landscape to attract wildlife

These days, warm spring weather turns a young man's fancy to ... gardening. The revival of home gardening as both a relaxing hobby and a source of inexpensive food has transformed many back yards. But did you realize that you can also use your gardening skills to create an attractive haven for wildlife?

Wildlife responds to an adequate supply of food and cover, and knowledge of a few simple principles can considerably increase the attractiveness of your yard to wild birds and animals.

One of the most important principles is diversity. A mixture of trees, shrubs, and other plants provides habitat for a variety of wildlife. Dense clumps of shrubs, or loose stone piles provide cover for shy species. If your yard does not have water, a bird bath with shallow sloping sides can prove attractive.

Variety in food plants is important too. Many birds find evergreen cones to be a valuable food source. Evening grosbeaks are particularly fond of Manitoba maple keys. Other seed-eating birds prefer alders and birches.

Many shrubs have rich berries that act as a food source well into the winter. Look for a combination of beauty and berries. Elderberry, wild grape, virginia creeper and autumn olive are all favourites of common songbirds. Clump plantings of a mixture of species usually help to extend the period of use.

Annual garden plants and flowers can also be planted for birds. Clumps of sunflowers, cosmos, asters, and zinnias produce an abundance of seed, and can be left standing for winter food in a corner of your garden. If you are fascinated by hummingbirds, a specialized planting of morning glories, honey suckles, hollyhocks, and trumpet creeper makes a colourful hummingbird garden.

An informative brochure, with suggestions for planning your yard for wildlife, is available free of charge from the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, 355 Lesmill Road, Don Mills, Ontario. With a little forethought and patience, your barren yard can become an oasis of flower and fruit, and the flashing colours and melodious song of feeding birds can be your reward.

It is this time of year when the rare phenomenon of "black ice" is experienced. As the ice breaks up on the lakes, some sections in the bays remain trapped longer than others and absorb the warm spring sun. After the clear icefields have headed downstream these patches of ice become more and more porous, the spaces between the ice crystals fill with water and the whole surface darkens until, in bright sunlight, it appears black.

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, Eldale Rd. Elmira, Ont. N3B 2C7

The big blow across southern Ontario, 10 days ago left many people scratching their heads about dependence on hydro power.

Some rural sections in our area were without power for as long as 20 hours. Urban people suffer, too, when hydro is out. They are forced to sit wrapped in blankets until they get heat although most modern homes today have a fireplace. At least one room can be kept reasonably comfortable.

In most cases, too, urban people at least have a water supply because emergency generators take over.

In the country, it is a different story. Not even water is available because individual pumps are used to supply water to homes and barns.

Most farmers, of course, have an emergency generator available. Those that do not can be left in a terrible mess. On the Saturday after the storm, I went into town for rolled oats. At the co-op, one farmer was talking about a farrow-to-finish hog operation housing more than 50 sows.

"We build these modern barns and never really think about being without electric power," he said, shaking his head. "I went to the barn after the hydro had been off for five hours and the temperature in that barn had worked its way up to 105 degrees. The ventilating fans weren't working, of course, and the heat inside was getting unbearable. If we couldn't have arranged for a couple of portable units to keep those fans going, we would have lost about $20,000. Those pigs would have died from the heat."

Now, that is just the opposite of what city dwellers went through. The hog barn had too much heat. The homes didn't have enough.

Out on the street, a dairy farmer laughingly told his story.

"Sure, I used to milk a dozen cows by hand twice a day, but I never tried milking 40 cows. My wife helped me and I even taught the two older children how to milk. It took us all morning. By the time the afternoon milking was underway, I had the portable generator hooked up."

Imagine that. Milking 40 cows by hand. At least they'd get stripped properly. Milking parlors never have done that.

The next day I met a broiler grower. He came very close to losing $38,900, he said. Another hour without power and he would have had pneumonia throughout his four barns. Fortunately, he too, got a portable generator operating in time to prevent such a misfortune.

He was also ordering his own stand-by unit to have ready for the next disaster.

I didn't get talking to any beef producers. I imagine they didn't suffer too much although a longer period of time without water could have caused them serious problems as well.

Can you imagine melting or even carrying water to quench the thirst of a couple of hundred beef cattle?

My neighbor owns a chick hatchery in town. When the power cut-off came, his son hosed the hatchery down with water and then tried to get the auxiliary power unit working.

"We hadn't used the thing for two years," he said. "We start it up every six or eight months just to see if it is still working. Unfortunately, this time - just when we needed it - it wasn't working. It took us two hours to get it going but no damage was done. We're just a day late in our shipment of chicks, that's all."

Which goes to illustrate how dependent we all are on this one commodity.

Remember, though, you city dwellers. You might be cold and uncomfortable wrapped in your blankets waiting for heat but a great many farmers - food producers - have a lot more to worry about than you do.

In addition, this writer has chastised Ontario Hydro many times for its high-handedness in dealing with farmers. But I said a lot of prayers for those poor guys working for hydro who had to brave that storm. They had to work in it to restore service and they did one helluva fine job in our area.

I only had to go outside twice to feed our horses. Those brave souls had to work long hours in that raging storm. Thanks, guys. You did a great service.

Postal contest award winners announced

A posthorn, the symbol of mail service throughout the world, and the Centre Block of the Parliament Buildings, are the basic design features of the prize-winning cancellation design in the contest sponsored by the National Postal Museum. Frank Alusio, 46, an airport planner with Transport Canada in Toronto, Ontario, and an avid philatelist since the age of six, was the designer of the cancellation. Richard Allen of Ottawa, Ontario, was the artist of the second place award, three stylized maple leaves within a post office counter shaped frame. Both of the award-winning designs will be used when the museum moves later this year to a permanent location opposite the Parliament Buildings on Wellington Street in Ottawa.

Jim Kraemer, manager of the museum, commented on both the competition and the awards. "We were overwhelmed by the number of submissions. We received more than 500, some individuals sending in as many as 25. In one instance, nine separate proposals were submitted on the back of a restaurant placemat. It was difficult to sort them out, but one of these ranked in the top eight designs."

"We were looking for ideas, not professional looking artwork," said Kraemer, "but in many instances we got both." He said popular subjects included beavers, maple leaves, flags, and the Parliament Buildings.

After the contest closed, a committee of Canada Post employees from Public Affairs, Postage Design, and the Postal Museum reviewed the submissions and selected 16. This short list was then presented to the members of the Postage Stamp Design Advisory Committee and the Postal Museum Advisory Committee who independently selected the top eight. The committee members were unanimous in their choice of Alusio's design.

Postal Museum artists will prepare the final renderings of the artwork and the cancelling dies will be made. The dies will be used in two newly developed cancelling machines and will be in use for the first time in Canada at the new museum. The machine is unique in that it uses a light circle projection system that allows a light reproduction of the cancellation on the cover at the cancelling point and proper alignment by using crosshairs within the circle.

Seminar on children's vision risks

BY JEANNETTE MOORE

Dr. Edward Robock, a Peterborough optometrist who has been commuting to Norwood for the past month for a one-day-a-week practice in the village called a seminar April 11th of doctors, ophthalmologists, optometrists and chiropractors in the area to work on a project to educate the public to the importance of early examination of children's eyes, especially those visually at risk who are predisposed by heredity, environment, prenatal or physical handicap to visual problems.

The purpose of the conference was to get together people from different fields who

Children suffering from Environmental influences on the mother and prenatal disease or trauma-

2. Children whose mother had other viral disease in the first or second trimester of pregnancy.

Dr. Edward Robock, optometrist, is trying to alert the medical profession as well as ophthalmologists and optometrists to the need to educate the public to the importance of early examination of children's eyes. Especially he is concerned about children "visually at risk".

Up to the age of five the nerve pathway between the eye and brain develops and early examination is therefore imperative.

work with children with problems and to discuss ideas as to how best to educate the public. Dr. Robock points out that children visually at risk should have their eyes tested twice during the first year of life and annually thereafter. The recommendation is made because the history of eye defects indicates a higher percentage of problems among children in the various delineated categories and because it is in the early years of a child that any defect is established.

Examinations are made for efficiency and acuity. Visual defects can be treated by glasses, contact lens and in low vision patients by telescopic or magnifying lens. As far as coordination of the eyes goes, treatment can be done by an optometrist and for surgery by an ophthalmologist.

The children at risk are listed as follows: Those with genetically derived ocular problems-

1. Children of parents or grandparents who have strabismus, amblyopia or refractive error of large amounts.
2. Siblings of children with strabismus, amblyopia or refractive errors of large amounts.
3. Children with mental retardation, genetically derived.
4. Children of high birth weight born to diabetic mothers.
5. Children of parents or grandparents with the possibility of known or expressed genetic ocular defects. e.g. sickle cell anemia in blacks.

ELLIOTT MOTORS (70) LIMITED

DOLLAR SENSE

Today's slaves do not eat, and work harder than ever

By Donald Shaughnessy, CA

The days of slavery and serfdom are gone, of course, but the average Canadian home probably is better supplied with cheap labor than any baron's castle or plantation manor.

Today's slaves are electric motors and when one considers that the wealthy of bygone years once measured their riches and happiness by the number of servants available to perform their tasks, it is easy to understand why millions of Canadians enjoy a standard of living unrivalled 100 years ago.

Who, for example, could afford to employ, house and supervise the work of 73 people in 1879. Well, that turn up 1.6 horsepower. It does the work of eight people, and more efficiently, too. An electric beater does the work of 2.5 people, the vacuum cleaner, of four. Not only that, but these machines can work for prolonged periods, while the average human is only capable of turning out his 0.2 horsepower for short bursts.

One horsepower is indeed somewhat related to a horse's strength -- the ability to lift 550 pounds one foot in one second. Humans are assumed to be able to lift 110 pounds one foot in one second. Now I guess I could do that -- but sixty times a minute all day long?

Apparently our electric slaves are very special -- but our generation may rely on them too much. As the costs of electricity go up in the years ahead, we are likely to find that some of the borderline, inefficient motor-driven appliances -- electric carving knives and frost-free refrigerators, for example -- will disappear.

New generations of smart slaves -- food processors with half a dozen functions, and electric tools with one motor that adapts to two drills, three saws and a router -- are being developed as both cost and energy-saving devices. Like their counterparts today, the electric slaves of tomorrow will not take up much room. And unlike the slaves of bygone eras, they will not eat much -- and their loyalty will never be in doubt.

General financial advice by members of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario.

is about what is available to the modern householder today. A new home generally has a 100-amp, 110-volt electrical service. Its potential output is 11,000 watts. Now 750 watts will produce one horsepower -- while a person is generally considered to be equal to a fifth of one horsepower. Household slave power adds up quickly.

For a starter, count the number of electric motors in your home -- power tools, refrigerators, washer, dryer, dishwasher, freezer, shaver, blender, fans, vacuum cleaners, etc. You can see how the total mounts and how most of us can easily find 25 motors -- modern slaves -- ready to do our bidding.

Take a blender, for example. It is powered by a 1,200-watt motor and can

Head start gardening with cold frames

Home gardeners who want a head start on the garden can capture the warm spring sunshine, and put it to work in cold frames.

These large boxes, 45 to 60 cm high, are set on top of the garden soil, and covered with sheets of glass or plastic. The cold frame acts as a greenhouse for the seedlings planted inside, says Burke McNeill, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food extension horticulturist.

If the cold frame is used before the danger of severe frost is past, some source of heating is necessary, he says. A small portable heater provides sufficient heat, but for permanent cold frames, electrical soil heating cables are more practical.

For cold frames located in areas without access to power manure can be used to warm the soil. Start by digging a pit 30 to 38 cm deep, and add 15 to 20 cm of fresh manure. Cover the manure with 20 cm or more topsoil.

"Make sure there is sufficient topsoil so that the plant roots won't penetrate into the manure," says Mr. McNeill.

The actual cold frame can be constructed from old boards or cement blocks. The sides are low and sloped slightly, so the glass top will shed water. For best results, Mr. McNeill recommends a slope of about 10 cm facing south.

"Storm windows make ideal tops for cold frames," says Mr. McNeill. "On warm, bright spring days, the top can be opened slightly to let some cool air inside the frame."

Vegetables, such as tomatoes, peppers and cabbages, can be seeded directly into the topsoil of the cold frame, and later transplanted to the garden.

Most common causes of tax return mistakes

Canadians should check their calculations before they file their tax returns this month. Last year, over two million errors in arithmetic caught and adjusted by Revenue Canada, Taxation's computers.

The second most common cause of adjustments to income tax returns in 1978 was the interest, dividends and capital gains deduction. Over 400,000 changes were made to returns because taxpayers either forgot to claim the deduction or claimed less than they were entitled to.

Another claim many taxpayers forgot last year was the employment expense deduction. Approximately 275,000 taxpayers either neglected the deduction or miscalculated it.

Similarly the standard medical and charitable deduction was either overlooked or miscalculated by approximately 175,000 taxpayers whose returns were adjusted by tax assessors.

Another 110,000 tax returns had to be adjusted so that the income reported by taxpayers would agree with the income reported on their T4 information slips.

Of 150,000 corrections to claims for the federal tax reduction for children, 83,000 resulted from taxpayers neglecting to take advantage of the tax reduction.

In the area of personal exemptions, 70,000 taxpayers claiming 'other dependants', that is nieces, parents, grandparents or dependants other than children, had their returns adjusted to agree with the proof of support submitted with their returns. In most cases the claims were adjusted to the maximum allowable.

Although many errors on income tax returns can be detected by Revenue Canada's computers, taxpayers who fail to claim certain deductions to which they are entitled could miss out on the tax savings entirely. For example, neither computers nor assessors at the Taxation Centre's would know whether a taxpayer was entitled to claim child expenses or the equivalent-to-married exemption.

Processing of tax returns at the Taxation centres usually takes about eight weeks. Delays are caused when returns are filed without proper receipts, information slips or other necessary information. Each year approximately 500,000 returns are filed without such information as the name of the taxpayer's spouse, children's ages, receipts for charitable donations, Registered Retirement Savings Plans or tuition fees. Missing information or documentation delays the processing of income tax returns until taxpayers have been contacted by mail.

One automatic adjustment to all tax returns is general averaging which can reduce the tax impact of any sudden increase in income by averaging taxable income over the previous four years. Last year, approximately two million taxpayers saved an average of $100 each as a result of general averaging.

Toll free telephoning to find OHIP opter-outs

In accordance with an agreement between the Ontario Medical Association and the Ontario Ministry of Health, the O.M.A. is providing a toll-free telephone number for residents of the Province of Ontario who may wish to know the names of opted-in or opted-out physicians in their municipality or region.

The patient information numbers for this service are: 1. Metropolitan Toronto: 925-3264 2. Outside Metro Toronto: 1-800-261-7215

The numbers went into effect on Friday, March 30, 1979, the day after the agreement was announced by Health Minister Dennis Timbrell, and will stay permanently in place, according to Dr. E.J. Moran, General Secretary of the Association.

Dr. Moran said that, since most specialists accept patients through referral by a family physician, it is not expected the Association will receive many calls regarding specialists.

He also urged that, in the case of a medical emergency, patients should use the most accessible doctor, or the facilities of the closest Emergency Department of a hospital and not call the O.M.A.

"Our staff has been directed to find the names of three or four physicians in a specific area upon request. Most people will have no difficulty solving this problem for themselves or through the local medical society or academy. However, if they do we will attempt to accommodate them as best we can," Dr. Moran said. Dr. Moran pointed out that the distinction between a physician who is opted-in and one who is opted-out is that the opted-out physician will bill the patient directly for medical services and the patient will receive payment of the O.H.I.P. benefit from the Plan directly. Opted-out physicians may charge a fee greater than the established O.H.I.P. benefit for their services. Opted-out physicians are allowed to do this under the Health Insurance Act of Ontario. Dr. Moran also said that opted-out physicians generally waive any additional fee if that fee will cause the patient any financial hardship.

The Ontario Medical Association is a voluntary organization of more than 14,000 physicians in Ontario.

MEMORIALS

ALTHOUSE, ANNIE - In loving memory of a dear mother who passed away on April 28, 1978:
From our happy home and circle,
God has taken away one we loved.
She is borne from sin and sorrow
To a nobler rest above.
No one knows how much we miss her,
None but aching hearts can tell.
Lost on earth, but found in Heaven,
Jesus doeth all things well.
Sadly missed by Osborne and daughter-in-law
Audrey. 11

MEMORIALS

ALTHOUSE, ANNIE - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother:
Her smiling way and pleasant face.
Are a pleasure to recall.
She had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet her.
Some day we know not when,
To clasp her hand in a better land.
Never to part again.
Lovingly remembered by son Donald, and daughter-in-law Elda and family. 11

DOPKING - In loving memory of my dear and wonderful husband, Harold, who passed away April 28, 1976.
Time may heal the broken hearted
Years may make the wound less sore,
But it cannot fill the longing,
For the loved one gone before.
Who shall say the grief is lessened
Though the smile may hide the tears.
Memories keep the wound still open
Despite the passing of the years.
Always remembered and sadly missed by your wife Gerl. 11

DOPKING - In loving memory of our dear and wonderful father, Harold, who passed away April 28, 1976.
A million times we've needed you,
A million times we've cried,
If love could have saved you dad,
You never would have died.
Things we feel most deeply,
Are the hardest things to say.
Our dearest dad we love you dear,
In a very special way,
If we could have one lifetime wish,
One dream that could come true,
We'd pray to God with all my heart
For yesterday with you.
Always remembered and sadly missed by son Ron and daughter Diana. 11

GRAY - In loving memory of a dear father Frank who passed away April 26, 1969.
Memories are like threads of gold,
Never tarnish or grow old,
And when old times I do recall,
That's when I miss you most of all.
Sadly missed by wife May and family. 11

QUINLAN, Frank - In memory of a dear friend and neighbour, who passed away April 30th, 1978.
What we would give if we could say "Hello, Frank" in the same old way.
To hear your voice and see your smile
To sit with you and chat awhile
Gone are the days we used to share
But in our hearts you still are there
Always thoughtful, loving and kind
What a beautiful memory you left behind.
Remembered and sadly missed by Mildred and Elymer Rollins. 11

ALTHOUSE ANNIE - In loving memory of a dear grandmother and great-grandmother who passed away April 28, 1978.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps her near.
Always loved and missed by Bill, Judy, Mark and Laurie. 11

KETCHUM William & Mary - In loving memory of a dear father who passed away April 29, 1967, and a dear mother July 6, 1966:
Beautiful memories tenderly kept.
Of the ones we loved and will never forget.
Lovingly remembered by Everett and Jean Toms and family. 11

MEMORIALS

ALTHOUSE-Ann In loving memory of my dear sister who was called home April 28, 1978. -11
Asleep in Gods beautiful garden
Away from all sorrow and pain.
But I know some day I shall meet her
Up home in Heaven again.

Oh if I could only call her back.
But I know she could not come.
She has made the long hard journey once
She is safe, secure at home.

I will cherish her memory fondly.
Till Jesus breaks the blue.
We'll rise together in the clouds
Then parting days all through.

Sadly missed and ever remembered by her sister Hannah Quackenbush. -11

ALTHOUSE-In loving memory of Aunt Annie who was called away April 28, 1978.

Only a memory of bygone days
And a sigh for a face unseen;
A constant feeling that God alone Knows best what should have been.

Always remembered by Keith and Debbie Quackenbush. -11

KEATING Arnold - In loving memory of a dear husband who passed away April 29, 1977.

Sadly missed along life's way
Quietly remembered every day
No longer in my life to share.
But in my heart he is always there.
Lovingly remembered by his wife Elsie. -11

ALTHOUSE ANNIE - In loving memory of a dear mom and grandma who passed away April 28, 1978.
Mom's life is a beautiful memory,
Her death is a silent grief;
She sleeps in God's beautiful garden
In sunshine of perfect peace.
We miss her, oh, how well,
But realize God knew best,
He let us have her many years,
Then gently bade her rest.
Sadly missed and always remembered Alfred, Edith, Bob, Tom, Jim, Marg & Teddy. -11

LE MOIRE, ALBERT A. (BERT) - In loving memory of our dear dad, who passed away two years ago, April 29, 1977.
Nothing can ever take away,
The love our hearts hold dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his sons and daughters, Doreen, Barbara, Paul, Donald and LaVerne. 11

Higher beef cost is at retail end

The recent budget proves the Government of Ontario does not take agriculture seriously, Ralph Barrie, First Vice-President, Ontario Federation of Agriculture (OFA), said today.

He explained that the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food budget has only gone up 1.5 percent, while total government expenditures increased 7.4 percent. "When inflation is taken into account, this means agriculture's budget has been cut by at least 7 percent. Once again, farmers got the short end of the stick", he said.

Barrie pointed out, previous budget cuts have already hurt the services provided for farmers. "Last year, OMAF reduced its staff by 3.6 percent and we can expect still further cuts this year", he said.

Consumers and the economy would eventually have to pay for this short-sightedness, he said. Each of Ontario's 77,000 farmers can not be expected to do his own research and development. As a result, governments are necessary to provide the means for farmers to continue to improve their productivity.

"The government's cutbacks will hurt production potential and that can only add to higher food prices and more pressure on farmers' incomes", Barrie said.

He added that the reason for the government's neglect of agriculture are beyond him. The government obviously wants to create jobs and stimulate the economy, but it is ignoring a major opportunity in farming. Ontario is far from self-sufficient in food and increased production would yield tens of thousands of new jobs.

"We have the land, the talent and the capacity to produce nearly all our own food," Barrie said. "Now all we need is government policy which will let us do the job."

Barrie concluded that Bill Newman, the agriculture minister, must feel very disappointed at being so let down by his cabinet colleagues.

St. John's Ambulance trains to help

Alf Wayne says he doesn't believe the people who gather at accident scenes are ghouls. He thinks most of them would like to help but don't really know what to do. It happened to Alf. He saw a couple of traffic accidents in which people died.

He says, "I thought, this isn't going to happen again. So I decided to take a St. John Ambulance First Aid Course. Now I think that with the knowledge I have now, I might have saved those people."

This was in 1969. Since then Alf Wayne has worked as one of the 7,500 concerned citizens who are members of St. John Ambulance across Ontario to put his training to good use. He works full-time for the Department of National Defence and adds many hours more working with the Brigade in Metro Toronto. Like many of his fellow Brigade members, he's put in 500 hours or more of volunteer, unpaid public duty at all kinds of community events each year, and he's helped a lot of people.

The most spectacular accident he was involved in happened when he was driving the first aid vehicle accompanying a parade. A car went out of control injuring 11 people and killing two, and Alf was praised in news accounts for his skill in helping the victims.

"One day someone had a heart attack at the Canadian National Exhibition, and stopped breathing. I worked on him for what seemed like hours, though it was only a few minutes. I was scared to death because I didn't think it was working, but all of a sudden he sat up and said, 'Where's my pipe?'"

Most problems are less serious, bruises, sunburn, fainting spells, falls. During the hockey season, Alf says, it's mostly cuts. At rock concerts there are bouts of hysteria and reactions to drugs.

Alf teaches first aid too, as an instructor with the St. John Metro Toronto Branch.

Inevitably, when he is teaching, someone in the class will ask him about how people react the first time they're faced with one of these situations. He says most people, buoyed by their training, respond better than they think they will.

"I tell them the First Aid is 30 per cent, and the rest is common sense. They assess the situation and do what they've been trained to do."

Alf has been instructing for seven or eight years. He says people take St. John First Aid training for a variety of reasons. They come, as he did, because they've been involved with an accident or because they've a young family and feel safer when they have first aid training.

"A lot of people who have families and have cottages in remote areas find the first aid training is a great asset."

Alf's favourite students are young people, Boy Scouts, and his St. John Ambulance Cadets. He says they are eager, hard working students and when he's through with them, he'll back their first aid skills against those of most adults.

Alf says he gets great satisfaction from teaching first aid, that every time a student is able to come to the aid of an accident victim, he feels he's helped, too.

The Rideau Canal and the Trent-Severn Waterway will open on May 18th this year. The opening date is always contingent on high water flows which could delay safe navigation on either waterway and present water levels indicate no problems this spring.

The hours of operation the canals for the 1979 season will be:

Rideau Canal
 Friday, May 18th to Friday, June 22nd: Monday - Thursday 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. (Extended weekend hours Friday Sunday, will be 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.)
 Saturday, June 23rd to Monday, September 3rd - 8:30 a.m. - 7:30 p.m.
 Tuesday, September 4th to Wednesday, October 19th - 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
 Boaters are reminded of an important change on the Rideau this year. The Pretoria Avenue Bridge in Ottawa will be re-constructed during the 1979 navigation season and passage will be limited to vessels with a vertical clearance of less than 4.9 metres (16 feet). The channel width will be reduced to 15.3 (50 feet) during the construction. Normal traffic will resume again next year.

Trent-Severn Waterway
 Friday, May 18th to Friday, June 22nd - Monday-Thursday 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. (Extended weekend hours Friday - Sunday will be 8:30 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.)
 Saturday, June 23rd to Monday, September 3rd - 8:30 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.
 Tuesday, September 4th to Wednesday, October 10 - 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
 The operating hours of the Trenton Swing bridge are available from any Trent-Severn Waterway lock station or office and boaters are advised to check.
 The Atherly Narrows Bridge hours of operation for navigation will be extended to 10:00 p.m. May 18th to June 22nd on weekends only, but will operate on that schedule daily during the summer season, June 23rd to September 3rd.

In confirming the official openings of the canals Mr. Christakos also reminded boaters that Senior Citizens operating a vessel of less than 8 metres (24 feet) in length are eligible at no cost for a 6-day lock permit upon presentation of their old age security cards.

The single lock permit introduced last year allow vessels to pass one-way through an individual lock on the day of validation and return one-way through the same lock at any future date during the season. This will accommodate boaters wishing to use only one lock to reach their cruising area. The same permit will allow for the return passage at a later date as opposed to having to purchase 2 single-day permits," Mr. Christakos said.

The canal fee structure for the Rideau and Trent-Severn Waterways remains unchanged this year.

One day passes range from the $3.00 to $4.00, six day passes $9.00 to $15.00 and all season passes $30.00 to $80.00, depending on length of craft.

Success in garden

The success of your garden doesn't depend on the number of tools you own, says Burke McNeill, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food extension horticulturist. Before you spend a lot of money on tools, consider the total cost, and the size of your garden.

"If your garden is under 90 square metres, all you really need is a spade or digging fork, a rake and a hoe," he says. "You can turn over the soil and make the beds with a spade or digging fork. Use the rake to level the beds, and the hoe to open seed furrows and to control weeds."

If there is still money in your garden budget, consider buying a trowel for transplanting bedding plants, and a pair of pruning shears for shrubs.

Many home gardeners find their gardens require some spraying during the growing season. Hose-on sprayers are ideal for the average garden, says Mr. McNeill. Squirt bottles are adequate for the small plot.

"Ambitious gardeners with large garden plots may find they require a rototiller," says Mr. McNeill. But before you invest in this piece of equipment, consider how many times you will use it each year.

Unless the rows in your garden are wide enough to use the machine for weed control, you will probably use it only once a year," he says. "In this case it may be more practical to rent a rototiller or hire someone to prepare the land."

National Forest Week focus s on public education

THIS COULD BE
SOMETHING BIG

Canada's forest community is celebrating National Forest Week, May 6 - 12, 1979.

Sponsored nationally by the Canadian Forestry Association and locally by the Ontario Forestry Association, the Week focuses on public recognition of forest values. Hopefully it will also encourage commitment to improved forest management practices.

As owners of 90 percent of Ontario's forest lands the public has a tremendous stake in its forests. Unfortunately these forests form such a major part of the landscape that we tend to take them for granted.

The values of forests in terms of watershed protection, recreation, wildlife habitat, and raw material are fairly broadly known today. Not so well recognized is the need for a major investment by us in forest regeneration. Forests are renewable all right but they need help to provide the right benefits in the right amounts at the right time in the right place. What can public do to assist? Quite a lot.

Read about forests, forestry and forest research. Find out what the critical issues are and how they can best be resolved. Visit forestry centres, display your forestry interest at work and at home with posters, books and exhibits. Encourage schools to expand their forestry lessons. Have forestry people speak to service church groups and school meetings. Join your local Forestry Association. Ask local politicians to outline their understanding of our forest management needs. Support legislation which will assure a healthy economy and a healthy forest. And prevent wildfires.

We can all help our forests serve us better. We must. That's what National Forest Week is all about.

Buying beef in bulk

"If I weren't a law-abiding citizen," said the joker at the meat counter, "I'd be tempted to go out and rustle a few head of cattle."

The average Canadian eats more than 100 pounds of beef a year, and the cost of it is no joke to most shoppers. But there is an alternative to those high prices -- and it isn't criminal.

The idea is to buy a whole side or quarter of beef and store it in your home freezer. If you don't have a freezer, it's worth investigating the cost of renting freezer space or sharing it with another family. You'll have to balance the cost of storage against the savings you make on the purchase to determine whether you'll save money in the long run.

There are several advantages to buying beef in quantity. Beef prices rise and fall according to the amount available.

Although beef prices are much higher now than a year ago, they are expected to go even higher over the next year or so. So if you buy at the right time, you can make a substantial saving.

If you buy beef in quantity, you'll also be getting consistent quality throughout. And you'll be getting meat that is tailored to your family's needs because it's up to you how thick the steaks are cut, how large the roasts will be, and how much stew meat and ground beef you will have.

You can buy a front quarter, a hind quarter or a whole side. The front quarter contains some good roasts but a higher proportion of less tender cuts. A hind quarter has more of those tender cuts but costs a few cents more per pound. Buying a side provides the most variety, but remember that all cuts cost you the same price -- whether it's Porterhouse or ground beef.

Your first consideration, of course, is price. You'll be paying for the weight of the meat before it's cut and the fat and bone are trimmed. This means that when you buy a 280-pound side of beef about 210 pounds of it will actually go into your freezer. You should receive at least 72 per cent of the original weight. It's quite acceptable to ask the butcher what per cent saleable beef he's prepared to guarantee. If it's less than 72 per cent, you should try another butcher.

Check to see if the price of cutting and wrapping is included in the cost per pound you were quoted. If it's not, you can expect an additional charge of seven to 15 cents per pound.

Make sure, too, that you get all the cuts from your purchase. Ask your butcher to label each package with the name of the cut and the weight.

Care should be taken with the freezing process. If possible, have your butcher flash or instant-freeze the meat. If not, freeze it quickly at or below -18 degrees Celsius, and don't pile large amounts in the freezer at one time. Spread it through the freezer, allowing 24 hours to freeze about two to three pounds of beef per cubic foot of freezer space.

OFA blasts Ontario budget :

"Forty percent of the higher cost of beef in Ontario is due to increased retail margins", Ron White, Second Vice-President, Ontario Federation of Agriculture (OFA), said today.

White was commenting on figures contained in the March Farmer Price Index (FPI), produced monthly by the OFA.

He explained that since 1977 the price farmers receive for beef has increased 91 per cent. Wholesale or packers' prices have increased by 76 per cent, while retail prices are up 103 per cent.

The difference in the rates of increase, he said, are due to different mark-ups taken by the various sectors in the food chain. In 1977, wholesale margins were around nine cents a pound. In March 1979, they were ten cents a pound.

Retail margins, however, have jumped from 21 cents a pound, in early 1977, to 68 cents a pound, in the period January to March 1979.

The OFA figures are based on the weighted average of 19 cuts of beef sold in the Toronto area. White said, however, large increases in retail margins appear to have taken place in the rest of Canada as well.

White concluded that he felt the retail mark-ups are extreme. He said he can well understand how the retail chains can afford the 20 cent a pound price reduction recently announced in Ontario.
